SYDNEY INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.

The attendance at the Garden Palace yesterday was large, and the various courts and the Art Gallery and the Agricultural Hall were thronged with visitors. In the Agricultural Hall the show is improving rapidly in appearance as additional exhibits arrive and are placed in the different sections. The atmosphere of the hall is cool, and as the ferns and other greenery give the place a very pleasing appearance, it affords an agreeable promenade. The work of judging the cereals will probably be proceeded with early next week. Some splendid collections of fruit of all kinds have been received from South Australia in excellent condition, considering the length of the trip, and they are displayed with considerable taste and effect near the other South Australian exhibits in the hall. Mr. W. B. Campbell, of Flushcombe, Blacktown, has, in the Agricultural Hall, a fine collection of pumpkins, maize, and forty samples of fine garden seeds (his own saving), with a variety of fine quality garden produce, including rhubarb, quinces, oranges, lemons, grapes, &c.; also rich blossoms of the beautiful clianthus or desert pea, which very many people have heard of, but probably have never had an opportunity of seeing. Mr. Campbell has received no award from the judges (although his exhibit is interesting and attractive), possibly because it comes under no specific heading in the classes of exhibits.

We learn that Captain R. Espinasse, superintendent of admissions to the Garden Palace, is recovering from his late severe illness. His complete restoration to health will, however, be slow.

Messrs. Mander, Brothers, the varnishmakers, of Wolverhampton, show a fine case of their manufactures in the basement floors, which are evidently receiving a great deal of notice from interested tradesmen. They show good large bottles filled with their various varnishes and japans, and the application of those varnishes upon wood panels, meat and biscuit tins, trays, a coal scuttle, piece of landau, &c., is displayed. The latter article is intended for the inspection of coach-painters, the finish and lustre presented being complete. The whole of the varnishes seem of rare purity. Some are very pale, and one is quite white, and is, we are informed, used on the panels, already mentioned, as their surface is as transparent and smooth as the finest plate-glass. Mander, Brothers' varnishes are extensively used all over the world by railway companies, carriage builders, house decorators, japanners and other trades employing varnishes; and the manufacturers have depots in London, Dublin, Paris, Vienna, and Melbourne. Age is a great factor in a varnish, hence one of the great reasons for the excellence of Mander, Brothers' goods. Their enormous stock is said to be the largest in the world, and they are thus enabled to fully mature the varnish before it passes from their hands, the various kinds proving true to their character, and the use for which they are recommended and intended, being suitable for all climates, durable, and free from "cracking," "blooming," or "rivelling." Japanners also know that Manders' japan will stand a great heat with the best results, and the long maturing referred to, and consequent clarifying of the varnishes, ensures perfect brightness and even surface. These varnishes have been awarded medals at all the International Exhibitions, and they are well and favourably known in the colonies. The firm in recent years have added the manufacture of colours to their operations, and the few shown in their case at the Palace are of very superior quality, and apparently pure.

The attendance of visitors at the Garden Palace on Thursday and Friday was as follows:—Thursday: Season ticketholders, 320; general public, 2141; children, 267; exhibitors and attendants, 670; Kopff's band, 10; Bismarck sailors, 17: total, 3425. Friday: Season ticketholders, 310; general public, 2055; children, 281; exhibitors and attendants, 635; Kopff's band, 10; Bismarck ditto, 14; ditto sailors, 64; aboriginals, 16: total, 3385.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS IN THE EXHIBITION.

In the German Court, near to the orchestral organ, hangs a large case filled with a varied assortment of musical instruments from the great house of Schuster, Brothers, Marken Kirchen, Saxony. In stringed instruments the makers do not pretend to originality, but they devote themselves to imitations of the great masters—Stradivarius, Amati, the Guarnerius. One violin exhibited is called a "Paganini Model," another "Steiner Hoff." In their work Messrs. Schuster carefully attend to the quality of materials used in woods, varnish, &c. They follow the distinctive curves in nature and direction; the height of the ribs, model, and incisions of the bridge and the shape and proportion of the two f openings. Immense numbers of holes, of all shapes and sizes were tried and every possible description of bridge, before "Stradivarius fixed the pattern, which no good violin maker has since ventured to alter or modify in the least degree." Messrs. Schuster have an extensive trade all over the Continent, and many of their violins are highly valued. The strings of all instruments of the violin tribe vibrate by friction with the hair of the bow. The bow, like the violin, went through many progressive stages, until, at the end of the last century, it assumed its present shape, which seems incapable of further improvement. Originally the rebek (the oldest stringed instrument played with a bow), of which there is a drawing in the 9th century, although it was probably known as early as the 6th, was played with a bow in the form of the weapon from which it derived its name; the stick was much bent, and a cord or string was tied from one end to the other. The rebek was essentially the instrument of the people, and was rasped at every fair and tournament in the 13th century. Next comes something like a head and nut, and gradually the bow loses more and more the actual bow-shape. Hair is used in place of cord in the early part of the 17th century; and the nut is no longer a portion of the stick, but is attached to it by a wire, the wire being hooked on to a piece of indented iron. Corelli's bow was a great step; it substituted a screw for the wire and indented iron, by which the tension of the hair could be perfectly regulated. It was of light wood, a straight stick, hardly if at all elastic, and very short. Tartini was the next advancer; his bow was longer, the wood thinner and more elastic. Towards the end of the 18th century, Francois Tourte brought the art of bow-making to perfection; his model combines all the qualities required to enable the player to express any shade of tone and movement, lightness, firmness, and elasticity. The modern violin-bow is made of Brazilian lancewood (Duquetia quitarensis) or of snakewood (Brosimum aubletii). It is cut straight, following the grain of the wood, and afterwards slightly bent by exposure to heat. Although many trials have been made, no wood has been found to possess the necessary qualities in the same degree as those mentioned. Tourte fixed the length of a violin bow at 29 to 29½ inches, of a viola bow to 29 inches, and of a violoncello bow to 28¼ to 28¾ inches; for these white horsehair is used, and from 175 to 250 hairs are put into a violin bow. They are inserted in the head and nut of the bow. The latter is made of ebony and tortoiseshell, and can be made tighter or looser by turning the screw. Double-bass bows are made of beechwood, and black hair is used. Tourte's bows command a high price. Several modern makers have turned out very good ones on his model, which are frequently sold under his name. As we have recently been familiarised with exceptionally fine exhibitions on two instruments we may be pardoned for a somewhat lengthy account of the bow, the medium through which the player realises his ideas and feelings. With the tones of Mme. Urso and Mr. De Munck fresh in our ears, we cannot forget how wonderful an exponent the bow has been in their hands.

Besides violins, bows, and strings, Messrs. Schuster exhibit flutes of various kinds—the direct flute, Flute a bec or flageolet, and the Flute traversiere or German flute, which about 1720 superseded the direct flute. The flute is a very ancient instrument, used all over the world, but within the last half century it has undergone very many changes and improvements. The bore instead of being conical has been made cylindrical; the fingering and disposition of the keys have been entirely altered according to the system named after Theodore Boehm, who in 1832 constructed a new flute, introducing the principles invented by Captain Gordon of Charles X. Swiss Guards. The compass of the Boehm flute is from C first ledger line below the treble stave to C three octaves higher; occasionally players are found who obtain the C sharp, and even more acute sounds. A variety of flutes, modified from the old eight-keyed tube, on the Boehm system, are to be met with, Siccama, Clinton, and Carte are the most known. The differences are chiefly mechanical. The importance of the flute as a musical instrument may be gathered from the abundance of flute literature. Bach uses it freely as an obligato instrument, and in concerted music Haydn makes it prominent in his symphonies and oratorios, e.g., trio for 3 flutes in "Creation." Handel also, e.g., "Dead March in Saul," uses two flutes with magnificent effect. Mozart named one of his operas the "Magic Flute" (Zauberflöte), and wrote freely for the flute as a solo and orchestral instrument. Beethoven, Mendelssohn, and all later writers give it the leading part of the wind. One Quantz wrote 200 solos and 300 concertos for the flute for Frederick the Great alone, and Kuhlan, an eminent contrapuntist, devoted himself to special composition, manifesting its power and beauty. Kuhlan has been styled the "Beethoven of the Flute," and the singular fact of his producing so many inestimable models of construction and originality for this instrument, has been explained by a statement that a wealthy amateur flutist employed him constantly, and paid him liberally for the work. Messrs. Montefiore, Joseph, and Co. are the agents for Schuster Brothers.

George Tiefenbrunner, of Munich, exhibits two specimens of the Zither, a very ancient instrument, which was popular in England and on the Continent in the 16th and 17th centuries: the Zither is a lute-shaped instrument, formerly having only wire strings, and being played with a pectrum of quill. The Italian cither was used by improvisatori, and many specimens highly ornamented are extant. The modern Zither, which is well known in South Germany, has recently become a favourite in London: it is placed upon a table and played with the fingers as well as the pectrum. The two exhibited have all modern improvements, the stand or frame over which the wires are strung is beautifully inlaid with mother-of-pearl. Beside the strings, some of wire and some of catgut, there is an ebony keyboard, over which five strings are strung; these are touched by the left hand, and beyond those for accompaniment and bass, 27 or 28 in number are played with the right hand. The exhibitor has sent books of instruction in the art of playing the Zither; the technical difficulties seem few; the tone is sweet, and the instrument of sufficient power and variety to well repay the student. Mr. Garrick, of Pitt-street, is the agent.

Strathenann and Joachim, of Leipsig, have sent twelve Concertinas on the "English system." The English Concertina, is a portable instrument, patented by the late Sir Charles Wheatstone in 1829. It is of the Seraphine family, hexagonal in shape, and has a keyboard at each end with expansible bellows between the two. The sound is produced by the pressure of air on free metallic reeds. The compass of the treble concertina is four octaves, through which it has a complete chromatic scale. The instrument is double action, and produces the same note both on drawing and pressing the bellows. It can be played with great expression, and complete sostenuto and staccato. There are also tenor, bass, and double bass concertinas. Signor Regondi was the first to make the concertina known, to him succeeded Mr. George Case, and Mr. Richard Blagrove is now the principal English performer and professor. Regondi, Molique, G. A. Macfarren, and E. Silas have written music expressly for the concertina. One of the exhibited number is five-fold hexagon, 20 bone keys, imitation rosewood frame, with embossed gilt bellows and best reeds. Three are of the organ-concertina class, six-fold hexagon, each with 20 bone keys; one imitation rosewood, two with real rosewood and better finish. Another is a miniature concertina, eight-fold, beautifully finished Anglo-rosewood, leather bellows, English mechanism, and best reeds; and the remaining seven are all of finest quality, leather bellows, eight-fold, wood box, bone keys, English mechanism, and all details of best finish and workmanship. Mr. Hogg, of Hogg and Selby, is the agent.

Messrs. Doerfel, Steinfelser, and Co., Klingenthal, Saxony, send a large collection of musical instruments—a violin most elaborately ornamented, flutes of various kinds and sizes, in cases, concertinas, accordions, harmonicas, and every style of "mouth organ" which can be imagined; besides these they send the portions of instruments, violin strings, bridges, finger-boards, pegs, &c. Messrs. Hamburger, Bros., are the Sydney agents.

Ernst Hess, of Klingenthal, exhibits a good assortment of Accordions. The Accordion is another portable instrument of the free-reed species, invented at Vienna by Damian in 1829. It differs very much from the concertina, and consists of a small pair of hand-bellows, to one side of which is affixed a keyboard, containing, according to the size of the instrument, from five to fifty keys. These keys open valves admitting the wind to metal reeds, the latter being so arranged that each key sounds two notes, the one in expanding, the other in compressing the bellows. The right hand is placed over the keyboard while the left hand works the bellows, on the lower side of which two keys are generally found which admit wind to other reeds, furnishing a simple harmony—mostly the chords of the tonic and dominant. The accordion can only be played in one key, and it is in reality a musical toy, or an elaboration of the mouth-harmonica. In the collection exhibited there are some very handsome specimens, and most of the instruments are well adapted to exhibit their fullest powers through the most attractive medium. Messrs. Bernhard, Arnstaedt, and Co. are the agents.

The finest exhibit of concertinas is in the gallery of the British Court, where Messrs. Lachenal and Co. show twelve English patent concertinas. Three of twenty keys, bone, with steel tongues; two of twenty-six keys, ivory, with mahogany box, leather bellows, and good tone: one of thirty-two keys, newly improved, rosewood frame, leather bellows, best vibrators; and six with forty-eight keys each, double action, notes screwed and warranted; compass, 3½-octaves, from G below to second C above the stave. One in rosewood is of superior tone and finish; two in rosewood, with best finish five-fold morocco bellows, moulded edges, key-holes bushed with cloth to prevent rattling; a third, in rosewood, is ornamented throughout, has silver keys, and a fine pure tone. The "Paragon" is of rosewood, extra best finish, with German silver keys, tempered steel vibrators, the widest scale of notes ever made, a full, rich, yet mellow and flute-like quality of tone. The Nonpareil Amboyna is most tastefully finished in all pertaining to exterior work, it has glass keys, electro-gilt finger-rests, and all the essential requisites of a genuine instrument, with all the latest improvements used by the leading professors. Mr. Lachenal was for twenty years maker to Wheatstone and Company in London. All these concertinas have cases to match them in finish and quality. The Sydney agents are Messrs. Hoffnung and Co.

Near to this exhibit, and over the harmoniums, is a case containing thirty samples of the new metal cylindrical flageolet and flute. These instruments are of fuller tone than the ordinary flute, they are easier to blow, their use is more easily learned, and they are always correct in pitch and tune; they are made from D concert pitch to G piccolo; the mouthpiece is a new discovery and very ingenious, they are of everlasting wear, the metal never splits, they are exceedingly cheap, have been adopted in all fife bands, and by the many corps of cadet bands and juvenile musical associations. The invention is only six years old, yet already 750,000 of these flutes are in use. Messrs. Barnett, Samuel, and Sons, of London, are the patentees, their representative is at 5, Wynyard-street.

In the Austrian Court one very handsomely inlaid Zither is to be seen, from the Zither und Saiteninstrumenten of Kirschner, Brothers, in Vienna. The frame is truly a work of art, and the tone is pure, rich, and good. Herr Schonberger represents the makers.

The next case is deserving of close examination. It contains 100 mouth harmonicas or æolinas, as they have been called. These vary from the toys with 3 or 4 reeds, which the Nuremberg people used to fix in apples, pears, and other wooden imitations of fruit, to elaborate instruments of four rows of reeds, each containing from 16 to 24 notes. Great historic interest attaches to the mouth-harmonica, as showing one of the earliest attempts to make practical use of the discovery of the free reed; it may be regarded as the first germ of the accordion and concertina, and as closely connected with the harmonium. The exhibitor, Wilhelm Thil, of Vienna, has, in his own case, raised the mouth harmonica to the dignity of a solo instrument, and has invented and used specimens of great artistic beauty, and capable of illustrating ambitious solos. Some of the harmonicas have eight sets of vibrators, each set being properly voiced and tuned. They are cased in ivory, elegantly carved, mounted in four rows branching from an ivory centre, and revolve at the player's pleasure. It is hardly possible to imagine the perfection to which Herr Thil has carried his manufacture, and his performance on the little instruments. The maker is represented by Herr Victor Schonberger.

In the Belgian Court Mr. C. Mahillon, of Brussels, exhibits a fine collection of brass and wood musical instruments. The firm, which has been established since 1836, has gained high rewards in Europe and in North and South America. The case contains bassoons on the model used at the Conservatoire of Brussels; clarionets in B flat, C.E flat, and D, in different woods and on various systems; oboes for military bands; and basset-horn, a kind of alto clarionet, specially constructed for the concerts at the Royal Conservatoire, Brussels, tuned to French pitch, with extra keys, to produce notes in the lower register. Two flutes and piccolo on Boehm's system for military bands. The wood instruments are made of maple, rose, black Africa or cocus wood, in every style, and on different principles. Alterations to suit particular performers are carefully executed. The brass instruments include cornets, trumpets, trombones, tenor or baritone horn, euphonium, althorn, bombardons, and bugles, in various models; the greater portion have been selected by musicians in the colony and labelled "sold." Mr. Prosper Lamal is M. Mahillon's agent.

In the Austrian Court there are three instruments of the horn or trumpet class, "Traverson's" B. tenor, F. bass, and contra B., of most intricate pattern, from the instrument factory of Daniel Fuchs, Vienna. They are of a clear ringing tone of great power, and their merits have been recognised by the award of prize medals at the Vienna, Philadelphia, and Paris Exhibitions. Herr Schonberger furnishes all details.

In the British Court Gallery, F. Besson and Co. show a complete set of instruments for a brass band. These makers have a world-wide fame, and are patentees and sole proprietors of the prototype system of manufacture. These prototypes are "steel models wrought with such perfect skill, and brought to such a state of mathematical perfection, that by their use, any number of duplicates of an instrument can be produced, and all of them absolutely identical in shape and tune." The "prototypes" and their attendant mechanism are technically steel mandrils, more or less conically shaped to suit the requirements of each variety of instrument, and form, with the addition of their admirably perfected and thorough system of tuning, the chief points in the superiority of the instruments manufactured by Besson and Co. The new silent valves have obviated the grating sound formerly produced by the movement of the valve springs. The movement is now noiseless, and the springs are strengthened and protected. The "duplex slide and valve" will prove a veritable boon to trombone players; the case contains one silver cornet with mutes, which was purchased by Mr. Thompson and used by him on one or two occasions with very great effect in the Garden Palace. The makers challenge any instrument makers to produce brass instruments at any price that shall equal those of their manufacture, "whether for workmanship, purity of tone, or justesse of intonation." And further they challenge any maker to bring forward any instrument of his highest class and price to equal those of their second class, or his second class to equal their third class; they guarantee their prototype instruments for a number of years, and moreover will send "on trial" any instruments that may be selected at their own expense so that they may be compared with those of other makers before being purchased. Mr. T. Hogg is the Sydney agent.

In the gallery of the French Court are two violins made by Paul Bailly, of Vosges, a good maker, though not very well known—a pupil of Vuliaume, Paris—he shows imitations of Maggini, and Stradivarius violins, and has been appointed Luthier to the Conservatoire of Douai. Mr. L. Moonen is the agent for Bailly.

AMONG THE MACHINERY.—XXIII.

From engineers' tools to engineers' fittings is an easy transition, and near to the lathes and other machines just described, in the centre of the Machinery-shed, at the top-end, there may be seen a handsome display of gauges and other similar mountings from the well-known firm of Schaeffer and Budenberg, of Buckau-Magdeburg. These exhibits are enclosed in an upright ebonized case, and are under the care of Mr. Arthur Wormall, of the British Court, who is now representing the firm in Sydney.

One of the most important instruments is a pressure gauge tester. It consists of a screw and piston for forcing oil into the gauge to be tested, and which is screwed into a suitable socket; and also of a standard pressure gauge. The standard gauge is on the Bourdon principle, and has all its working parts in duplicate, the two hands being concentric: any variations of the two gauges are thus easily perceived, and corrected by taking mean readings of the separate indications. Owing to the number of common and unreliable gauges which are imported into Sydney (often with only the importer's and not the maker's name on them), it is very desirable that a testing-machine should be at hand, and it is to be hoped that one of our engineering firms will purchase this tester. The work of testing a gauge only occupies a few minutes.

Messrs. Schaeffer show gauges on their own and also on the Bourdon principle, the sizes ranging from a large dial 12-inch diameter down to a miniature only ¾-inch, which might make a brooch for an engineer's shirt front. They are made in all conceivable styles and patterns, and some are made with glass backs, and transparent, for indicating by night, the dial being illuminated from behind. Besides steam and vacuum gauges, there are also several varieties of hydraulic gauges, one of which is graduated up to 6 tons, or the enormous pressure of 13,440 lbs. to the inch. Another hydraulic gauge is fitted with an electric tell-tale apparatus. It has an adjustable hand with a stop, which can be set by a manager or superintendent to within as near a limit of the working pressure as desired, such manager alone having access to it by means of a key. The adjustable hand is arranged in electrical communication with one of the wires of an alarm, the circuit to which is closed; and the alarm is only given whenever the registering hand approaches close enough to make contact. Of course wires can be led to any distance, and an apparatus of this kind would effectually prevent any tampering with safety valves, or such like practices, in the night time, unknown to the manager.

Messrs. Schaeffer also show a number of Boyles' universal joints for wrought iron pipe; this is a most ingenious invention, which enables a joint in a pipe to be adjusted instantaneously from a straight line to an angle of 90 degrees. They have also a fine assortment of engine counters, to work by either revolving or reciprocating motion; reducing valves, Bus governors, thermometers for insertion in steam pipes, &c. Besides, these, there are a number of valves and injectors, fusible plugs, &c., cut right through, to show the section, in such a way that the internal mechanism can be seen and understood at once. Also, there is a model of Heep's pipe-screwing machine, and a 'Bus governor, fitted with a piston having small openings working in an oil-cylinder, to steady the motion and render it equable. This fine display was worthy of a place in the main building, and is at a great disadvantage in the bad position where it is now placed.

Messrs. Llewellins and James, of Castle-green, Bristol, have a fine assortment of engineers' brasswork in an open case, which (for variety's sake, perhaps) is placed in the Agricultural shed. Among the small goods there are some very fine water-gauge mountings, made with flanges, and extra strong—a great contrast to the weak and light sets which are so often used for cheapness, and which are, in consequence, always a source of trouble. There also some fine whistles, lubricators, hydrant, and other cocks. The larger machines include a colliery winding indicator, with alarm gong and double hammer; also several examples of Widmark's patent parabolic governor, the peculiar feature in which is a heavy ball in two halves, joined together at the bottom on to a sleeve on the vertical spindle, such halves being connected at the top of the spindle by short connecting rods attached to lugs on their top surfaces. The effect of the centrifugal action is to cause the ball to split open, as it were, from the top, and in so doing to rise bodily and lift the throttle valve. It is a very elegant contrivance, simple and effective. The English price of governor and throttle valve suitable for an engine from 5 to 10 horse power is only £12 10s., the valve being of the equilibrium piston description.

Messrs. Llewellins and James also exhibit a number of brass pumps, some brewers' plant with mash mixer and sparger, and an emery band finishing machine. This latter consists of a cast-iron frame with pulleys on each side, over which endless bands of emery or glass cloth are run, to the surface of which bands, brass goods, or other articles to be finished, are applied.

Flour-mill machinery forms an important branch of that shown at the Exhibition, and, with the increasing area of land which is now being cultivated for wheat, it will probably be very soon much more required in the colony than hitherto. There are some very primitive mills scattered about New South Wales, but, as district after district cultivated by the early settlers was found to be unsuitable, or was worked out, wheat-growing fell off; and there was nothing to make it worth while keeping the old mills in order, much less keep them level with modern improvements. The recent extensions of the railway have, it is said, opened up country having millions of acres suitable for wheat; and the last year or two has witnessed more innovations on the old systems of wheat-grinding and flour-making than have taken place with any other manufactures represented by machinery at the Exhibition.

The ordinary system of grinding wheat between two stones is at the present day identical in principle with that described in Scripture, the only differences being in detail and degree; but latterly the practice of flour-grinding by rollers instead of by millstones has been brought from the experimental stage into actual practice.

At the Kilburn Show of the Royal Agricultural Society, held near London, a few months back, the systems of Ganz, of Daverio, and of Wegmann were shown, the latter having rollers of porcelain. The two former systems are now represented in Sydney. In Engineering's reports of the Kilburn machines, it is stated that Messrs. Ganz have turned out over 2000 mills of this type during the last three years; it is, therefore, certain that they must be rapidly coming into favour.

Messrs. Ganz, of Buda-Pesth, have for some time made the construction of these mills a speciality, and they are doubly represented at the Exhibition, for there is a set of three machines in the German department of the agricultural implement shed, and another set in the machinery shed for which Messrs. Drysdale and Roberts are the agents, but the two sets are so similar that one description will apply to both of them.

In the Swiss Court, where nobody would dream of finding such a thing, there may be seen a beautiful little working model of a mill on the Daverio system, exhibited by Gustav Daverio, of Oberstrass, near Zurich. It consists of three chilled iron rollers set one over the other, and so arranged that two independent rollings can be given by the three rollers. A most important point in these roller mills is to relieve the bearings of the great wear due to the strain, and to adjust the distance of the rollers apart. This is done in Daverio's mill by having the bearings in levers adjusted by screws. This machine has also, under the rollers, a detacher, for breaking up the small white cakes which fall from the rollers, and increase the quantity of flour obtained at each rolling.

It must not be supposed that the new system is more simple than the old style of flour making, as the number of operations to be performed is greatly increased; but the advantages are—the greater yield of fine flour and the production of more marketable articles. In the Swiss Court there will be also seen a show-case with thirty-two divisions, one having wheat, one flour, and one semolina, the other twenty-nine being all occupied with the various intermediate grades of middlings and bran, representing the different stages of a complete system of milling.

Under the Hungarian system flour can be made without stones at all, but the Ganz mills are also largely used in conjunction with ordinary stone-grinding. They are made with both fluted and plain rollers, according to the work to be done. The sets of Ganz machines, now shown in Sydney, include a horizontal mill with four fluted rollers, being really two pair, a vertical mill with three fluted rollers, and a second vertical mill with three smooth rollers. Messrs. Ganz have secured the use of Mechwart's patent anti-friction adjustable spring-pressure ring for their mills, which enables the pressure to be taken off the bearings, and the productive power of the rollers much increased. Mechwart's patent is a most ingenious and effective contrivance, it consists of a pair of steel hoops or rings, which encircle flanged rollers on the gudgeons of the top and bottom rollers, and also a third adjustable roller which has a horizontal movement: the line joining the centres of the roll gudgeons is part of a chord, of the circle of the ring; and the adjusting roller is on the opposite side of the ring's centre, the three being thus in the form of a triangle. The consequence of this arrangement is that, as the adjusting roller is set back, the grinding rolls centres can be brought closer together, and the pressure increased to resist the work of grinding; this relieves the bearings from friction, and the ring runs round with so little friction that there is no heat generated.

Another improvement, which is only seen on one pair of mills, is that instead of having ordinary spur wheels to drive the rollers, Messrs. Ganz have applied wheels with the teeth a chevron. These teeth are angled from the two sides of the wheel, and form a point in the centre of the face instead of being straight, and they work with an equable roll, and without the noise and vibration inseparable from ordinary gearing. The plan is not new, but it is only improved modern appliances which have enabled these wheels to be made cheap enough to be adopted successfully on a large scale.

By the use of fluted rollers the germ of the wheat can be detached and separated; and altogether it seems certain that, if the roller-mill system in its entirety is not exactly suited to the general wants of the colony, that they are bound to become largely introduced into the better class of colonial mills.

Barford and Perkins, of Peterborough, show three or four sizes of corn-grinding mills which are well suited for small farmers and remote country districts, as they will produce grades from domestic flour to pig-feed.

H. Gruson, of Germany, shows in the Agricultural shed some kibbling mills on a new principle, the grinding discs being of hard cast iron; they are deserving of great attention from their simplicity and the ease with which the working parts can be renewed when worn out.

The exhibitors of ordinary horizontal flour-mills are Messrs. Garrett, of Leiston Works, who have a pair of 4-feet stones on an iron Hurst; Messrs. Whitmore and Binyon, who have two pair of 3 feet 6 inch stones; and Messrs. Robey and Co., who also have two pair of the same size. The whole of these mills are of the ordinary class, and there is nothing about them to particularly call attention to.

There is a very good assortment of French burr stones to be seen by English, Belgian, and French makers. L. Dassonville de St. Hubert, in the Belgian department, has a pair in the space between the sheds; and near the French confectionery factory, Dupetz and Cie have a pair of 4 feet stones, which seem to have been jointed by diamond machinery, so close and perfect is the workmanship. Besides these, Messrs. R. Dell and Co., in the British section, show two pair of 4 feet French burrs, and the three English mills above mentioned have all French stones—the single mill of Garrett's having 4 feet, and the double mills each 3 feet 6 inch stones.

The Canadian standard mill, with vertical faces, is a great departure from the ordinary system of stone-grinding, and, with its connections, is of great interest to farmers and settlers in this colony.

EXHIBITION AWARDS.

The following recommendations have been made by the judges in connection with the International Exhibition:—

MANUFACTURES.

CERAMICS, POTTERY, PORCELAIN, &c.

THE EXHIBITION AWARDS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I am afraid a serious blunder has been committed in connection with the judging of exhibits at the Garden Palace. In the selection of judges, it appears to me two important considerations have been overlooked.

1. From wrong or imperfect classification, or other causes, gentlemen have been appointed to act as judges of exhibits regarding the qualities of which they are utterly ignorant.

2. Gentlemen have accepted the onerous and responsible duty of acting as judges without apparently counting the cost.

The consequence is—much and well-grounded dissatisfaction exists amongst the exhibitors, whose interests and convenience have been trifled with through the one or other or both those causes.

I address you with some degree of authority in this matter, as I happen to be an unfortunate judge in several classes—having innocently accepted the duty in all honesty, with a desire to do my best to promote a successful issue of the grand undertaking. I have been day after day in attendance, but as a quorum of my fellow-judges could not be got together, nothing or very little has been done—much to the disgust of attendant exhibitors, whose patience is really being worn out with such an unsatisfactory state of things.

If it is not too late, I would suggest that really competent membe selected; and, so that their presence might be relied on, that they should be well paid for their services. Candidly, I do not think it is too much to expect that the Exhibition Commissioners should incur this expense—at the outside a few hundreds of pounds—as exhibitors have been very properly looking forward to the awards as the legitimate and intelligent outcome of the whole affair, in fact as one of the rewards for the expense and trouble involved in their being here at all.

March 5. A JUDGE.

Edmund Galley, who was granted a free pardon lately, on a motion of the House of Commons, has written the following letter to Mr. Elworthy, one of the council of the Criminal Law Amendment Association:—"Illalong, Binalong, New South Wales, September 27, 1879. To A. H. Elworthy, Esq.,—Sir,—I beg to be allowed to return my most humble and sincere thanks for all the kindness you have done for me, which I shall never forget. I do not know how to express my feeling of gratitude to the good gentlemen of England, including yourself, who have done so much for me, and I hope they will not cease to help me until they see that I get compensation for so many years of suffering, not that I care for myself, as my career in life must be drawing to a close, but it may be of some use to my children when I am no more. Sir, I beg to say a few words about the man John Dougley, or the Kentish hero. The name he goes by here is John French. It appears to me a strange affair that this man cannot be taken up for the murder of Mr. May, of Moreton Hampstead, in the year 1836—the murder of whom I am sure he committed, and ought to have been executed for, instead of me being here. He is the man, according to the dying man's confession.—With many thanks for your kindness to me and mine, and I beg to remain your most humble servant, Edmund Galley." On the re-assembling of Parliament the House of Commons will be asked to vote some compensation to the unfortunate man, who is now 80 years of age, and has a wife and seven of a family.

The Townsville Herald writes:—As a group of collectors for the Irish Famine Fund were making their rounds recently in the western portion of this town, they dropped into a small store, where they found an aboriginal station hand laying in a stock of tobacco and other small necessaries. After canvassing the white folk they turned their attention to the native of the soil, whom they asked to donate. Now, our sable brethren are not people who ever give any evidence of a desire to die millionaires, or to drive a buggy and pair (except it happens to be somebody's else's property), or to in any way hoard up money for the pomps and vanities of this world. On the contrary, they hold money rather lightly, and seldom hold it any length of time, regarding it as valuable merely for the sake of what they can get for it. In this respect they carry out the true principles of political economy more exactly than civilized people. But nevertheless Billy didn't see why he should be called upon to share his wordly wealthy with the people of Ireland—"Baal me Irish," said he. "But," urged one of the collectors, "you got 'em plenty money; Irishman got none. Baal him got beef—you give him some money?" Billy, still impervious to the charitable persuasions of the collectors, suggested if they had no beef in Ireland they could well do with damper. It was then represented to him that they hadn't even damper. But even with this drawback Billy saw no reason why they should starve: "Irishman can go and catch 'possum, same as blackfellow." It took a good deal of time and eloquence to persuade him that there wasn't even a 'possum in Ireland—"Baal beef, baal damper, baal 'possum," said he at length, apparently still unable to realize how there could be a country where there were no 'possums to be caught—"Me give 'em money then." And he gave 6s. 6d.

ART AT THE GARDEN PALACE.

II.—COLONIAL AND BRITISH PICTURES.

It is much to be regretted that apparently unavoidable circumstances should have prevented the numerous works of Art which are to be found scattered throughout the Garden Palace, frequently in most out of the way nooks and corners of the building, from being arranged as a whole, so as to form a collection supplementary to that at the Art Gallery. Had this been possible, much of the confusion and want of proper effect which at present characterises the arrangements in connection with not merely the oil and water-colour drawings, but also the photographic specimens, would have been prevented. Numerous pictures, contributed by residents in Sydney and other parts of the colony, are to be found in the south-western corner of the gallery, over the New South Wales Court, near the dome. Among the most prominent of these are two fine water-colour drawings of New Zealand scenery, by Mr. W. H. Raworth, of Darlinghurst, which are not mentioned in the official catalogue. One of these represents Lake Rere, with Mount Kay in the distance. The time is early morning, the effect being very good. The other drawing, which is most artistically finished, shows us Diamond Lake, with the Cosmos Peak in the southern Alps, rising grandly at the back. A third drawing, by the same artist, represents Middle Harbour as seen from above Athol. Mr. Raworth has several other drawings at the back of the Graphic Court, also in the space devoted to Messrs. Smee's furniture exhibits; but surely a colonial artist of such unmistakable talent as is Mr. Raworth ought not to have been reduced to the extremity of begging space in the British Court, especially where so many works of an inferior character have been allowed to form part of the New South Wales display. Mr. Montefiore and Mr. Du Faur have been severely censured in several quarters for extensively weeding the collection offered the Exhibition Commissioners by would-be exhibitors, but they might have gone much further in the same direction without the risk of being unjust to actual ability, and thus have secured the means of affording fair play to Mr. Raworth and others, who have been left out in the cold.

Another leading exhibitor here is Mr. A. Collingridge, of Ryde, who has two oil paintings (44), representing "Katey's Creek, Lane Cove," and "Parramatta River, with the Blue Mountains, as seen from Ryde." Both are full of vigour. The same artist has also a pen and ink sketch (1595) of South Head, from the Gap; likewise spirited drawings of Darling Point and Middle Harbour, Manly Beach, on a holiday, "Not Caught Yet," and good portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Finlay. The latter, it will be remembered, is a daughter of Sir Hercules Robinson. In another part of the gallery, near the collection of photographic specimens, Mr. Collingridge has a bold but roughly-finished charcoal sketch, entitled "Moonlight Scene of a Gully in Australia." The effect is somewhat dramatic, and there are materials for a really fine picture. Mr. G. Collingridge, a brother of the preceding exhibitor, has, in the east tower, two oil paintings, "The Laughing Jackass" and "Kissing Point, Sunset." He also contributes a large number of engravings of drawings by Mr. A. Collingridge and other artists. These will be found with the other art exhibits in the New South Wales Gallery. In the east tower also is a fine oil painting, one of the best in the Garden Palace, by Mr. W. A. Clarson, of Sydney. It represents a number of sheep comfortably housed in a large barn or out-building, and possesses numerous points of excellence. Several water-colour drawings, by Mr. E. B. Boulton, Walcha, show ability, but are deficient in finish. In that portion of the gallery facing the south nave, Mr. F. S. Morgan, Ashfield, has a boldly executed oil painting of "Romeo and Juliet," but the leaden tone of the tints used by him impairs much of the intended effect. Near this picture are a number of water-colour views of colonial scenery, shown by Mr. John Rae, Under-secretary for Public Works, which should find a place in some public institution, as they characteristically illustrate the past appearance of the Illawarra and other districts, thereby furnishing a means of contrasting the same with the present. To enumerate the many other works of art in the New South Wales Court would not merely occupy too much space but would also be comparatively uninteresting, save to the exhibitors; although it must be admitted that they display considerable ability.

In the other colonial courts, New Zealand unquestionably takes the lead as regards the number and quality of the works of art exhibited. Judging from the high standard of excellence and taste which characterises many of these, a stranger would be led to imagine that New Zealand was the Italy of Australasia. Among the principal artists whose works occupy the walls of the court, the Messrs. Gibb (father and son), of Christchurch, occupy a prominent position. Their collections (626, 627) should be inspected by all interested in the progress of colonial art. Nothing can be finer or more true to nature than the manner in which the distances are rendered in the various landscapes. In Europe such beautiful productions of the pencil would secure the highest commendations. An oil picture by Mr. J. C. Richmond (639), of Lake Rotorua, is simply perfect. Two works, by Mr. C. D. Barraud, Wellington (622), also deserve attention, despite a certain want of finish. The distinguishing characteristic of the oil paintings in this court is, that not only are they the actual productions of colonial artists, but that, with one solitary exception, they represent New Zealand scenery. The same may be said of the water colour drawings, amongst which those by Mr. H. E. de B. Brandon, of Wellington (663), are noticeable for taste and delicate finish, although by some the bluish tints which pervade the views might be regarded as a defect. It is, however, extremely difficult to select where there is such an abundance of good work, but we may mention the drawings of Mr. John Gally, Nelson (667); Mr. J. C. Hoyte, Dunedin (672), and Mr. T. Parnell Warner, Auckland (683), as deserving of special attention. Mr. Hoyte has just taken up his residence in Sydney, where his productions are becoming known to those who entertain a desire to encourage deserving art. A series of twenty-eight water colour drawings, by Miss E. Harris, Nelson (669), representing New Zealand wild flowers and berries, are not only botanically correct and beautifully finished, but also very interesting from several points of view, especially as affording hints to ornamental designers.

Of the coloured photographs which crowd the Queensland Court we shall speak in another article. Passing on to the Victorian Court, we find several pictures of high merit half hidden behind show cases and piles of industrial exhibits—the whole forming a curious combination of the purely artistic and the purely industrial. Most of the works represent Victorian scenery, and, as a rule, the taste and execution are good. Among the best are those shown by Eugen Von Guerard, East Melbourne (306, 307), but the views represent localities in New Zealand. Another good picture is that shown by Miss Rielly, Melbourne (320), entitled "Brighton and Elsternwick Beach." There is also a fine painting, by Mr. Van Den Houten, Melbourne (330), of Batman's first meeting with Buckley in 1836, which makes us wish that we had more paintings of similar historical interest. Why should not each colony have its own series of historical pictures, painted while the materials are yet obtainable? The same artist has another capital work (337), depicting a scene "On the Road to Wood's Point." A view of the "Devil's Elbow," in New South Wales (363), and of Eldorado, near Beechworth (364), by Mr. J. M. Nelson, East Melbourne, are excellent. The same may be said of "On the Avon, near Boisdale" (365), by Mrs. George Parsons, St. Kilda; and "On the Yarra" (379), by Mr. Charles Turner, Melbourne. The latter is small, but daintily executed. The two chromo-lithographs issued by the Art Union of Victoria (400, 401) are creditable specimens of their class.

The Tasmanian art exhibits are not numerous, but comprise several interesting works, of which the principal is a large and vigorously executed representation of the various types of Tasmanian aborigines. This picture is valuable both as a fine artistic production and as an historical painting. Mr. W. C. Piguenet, Risdon, contributes a view of the Blue Mountains, New South Wales (88); while among the water-colour drawings is a view of Mount Olympus, Lake St. Clair, Tasmania, which has been secured by subscription for the New South Wales Academy of Art. Of the South Australian pictures, perhaps the best is "Waterfall Gully, near Adelaide," (79) by Mr. H. J. Johnstone.

British art is represented almost exclusively by the Graphic exhibits, which include original drawings by Hubert Herkomer, who obtained the grand prize at Paris in 1878; Miss Elizabeth Thompson, of "Roll call" celebrity; L. Fildes, W. Small, C. Green, F. Hall, R.A.; Calderon, Hopkins, Hodgson, and other leading English artists. The whole collection has been offered at cost price to the Colonial Government, with the view of retaining it in Sydney for the purposes of Art instruction. It comprises seventy-five framed drawings; of which one, "Trotting a Roadster," by Charlton, has been sold to Mr. P. Higgins. In addition, there are about twenty pictures not for sale, including the whole of the war sketches in Zululand, by Fripp. Should the Government purchase the collection, there is a probability that these latter will be presented to the colony by the proprietors.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

The following notifications appear in yesterday's Government Gazette:—

CONSUL.—Mr. M. Meyerfield has been appointed acting-Consul for Belgium during the absence of Mr. O. L. Montefiore from the colony.

MARRIAGES.—The undermentioned officiating ministers have been registered for the celebration of marriages:—Free Christian Church, Rev. John Alexander Dowie, Sydney; Church of England, Rev. Edgar Fitzhenry Hutchings, B.A., Braidwood.

THE CIRCULAR QUAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your leader to-day you express gratification that the Government has determined to proceed at once with the improvement of the Circular Quay.

While quite sharing the view you express as to the importance of the work, and the need for its execution, I think it much to be regretted that it is intended to carry out a plan quite unsuited to the requirements of the port.

Port Jackson is admitted to be one of the finest harbours in the world, and Sydney, from its position, should be the grand entrepot for the Southern hemisphere, and it becomes daily more apparent how very inadequate are the conveniences for shipping for the growing trade of the port.

Nature has done so much in the formation of the numerous bays that but little remains to be done to construct most perfect docks.

The plan I recommended some years ago, when the subject was under discussion, I am more than ever convinced is the only one which would meet the requirements, viz., to construct a solid stone pier down the centre of the Cove, with sheds upon it.

This pier should be connected with the railway system at Redfern by an underground line through the heart of the city, with stations at the most suitable places. A similar pier should be constructed in Darling Harbour, in connection with the railway, and the Pyrmont Bridge removed.

The advantages of such a system must be obvious; ships could be loaded and unloaded with dispatch, goods and produce would be forwarded at a minimum expense, as loading, unloading, and storing of goods destined for the country would be obviated, and in like manner produce would be shipped free of these charges, besides saving greatly in time.

A great saving in the traffic in the streets would be gained by this course—no mean consideration for a city of growing importance.

There would, doubtless, be a great outcry from "vested interests;" those at all times stand in the way of progress. A Government worthy the name will not let the individual interest of its members or friends stand in the way of doing what is most conducive to the progress and welfare of the whole community.

It is not too late for the Government to reconsider its plans with reference to the Circular Quay, and pause before incurring a large and useless expenditure, and thereby delay taking such a course as must be adopted sooner or later.

I am, &c., HENRY BEIT.

62, Margaret-street, 3rd March.

THE OPENING OF MUSEUMS ON SUNDAYS.—About 4000 people assembled in the largest building in Nottingham to hear a public debate on the opening of the Castle Museum of Art on Sundays. The debaters were Mr. Walter Gregory, a member of the Town Council, and the Rev. Fred. Bell. A letter was read from Mr. Jacob Bright, M.P., in which he stated it to be his opinion that more serious efforts ought to be made to lessen the gulf which separated the rich from the poor, and that one of the means which would help to give brightness to the existence of the great body of our humbler fellow-citizens would be to have places of public resort where pleasure and instruction might be found, and these places should, of course, be open seven days in the week. The voting was divided, half being in favour of the opening of the museums on Sundays, and half against it.

Most people have heard of the Scotch attorney who charged his client a guinea for the letter thanking him for the present of a Christmas hamper of game. Something like a parallel case is described by the Ballarat Star. A warehouseman, in a considerable way of business, was waited upon some time ago by a would-be purchaser, who expressed a wish to select £100 worth of goods. He of the warehouse was delighted, and after he and the customer had partaken of a whisky each over the way, they went to business in the counting-house. "Yes," the merchant said, "the firm did not press for cash, the customer's offer of a substantial reference would do equally well, and the name suggested—that of a well-to-do lawyer—would be quite satisfactory in the event of the legal gentleman being, as stated by the customer, willing to become responsible. The goods would be packed and forwarded the moment a satisfactory reply was received from Mr. Capias." Capias was at once communicated with, and the same evening sent the following reply:—"Don't know the customer you name; decline to become responsible." The goods were put back into their accustomed places, and the warehouseman thought no more of the matter until the end of the year, when he received from Capias the following:—"Brussels and Co. to L. S. D. Capias. Being consulted by So and So on your behalf, re goods, 6s. 8d.; legal opinion re transaction with So and So, £2 2s. = £2 8s. 8d. Cheque will oblige." The warehouseman at once left town for change of air.

PERFECTION.—MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S HAIR RESTORER (the genuine only in pink paper wrappers) never fails to restore gray hair to its youthful colour, imparting to it new life, growth, and lustrous beauty. Its action is certain and thorough, quickly banishing grayness. It is not a dye. It ever proves itself the natural strengthener of the hair. Its superiority and excellence are established throughout the world. Wholesale at Messrs. ELLIOTT, BROTHERS, Sydney, and retail of all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the colonies.—ADVT.

DEPUTATIONS.

WATER SUPPLY FOR BATHURST.

A deputation, consisting of Mr. T. H. Hellyer (Mayor of Bathurst), Mr. F. B. Suttor (Minister for Justice and Public Instruction), Mr. Webb, M.L.A., Mr. Combes, M.L.A., Mr. Lynch, M.L.A., and Mr. Bowman, M.L.A., waited upon the Hon. John Lackey, Minister for Works, yesterday morning, with reference to a water supply for Bathurst. The deputation was introduced by Mr. Suttor.

Mr. HELLYER explained that the people of Bathurst were very badly off for water. The present sources of supply—the river and wells—were polluted from several causes, and the water was scarcely fit for bathing purposes. A public meeting had been held upon the subject, and a resolution was passed respectfully urging the Government to take steps as early as possible for the purpose of commencing the necessary works for a proper water supply; and it was hoped that the reservoir that was required would be excavated and formed by the time the pipes arrived from England.

Mr. WEBB said there was scarcely a town in New South Wales, Parramatta excepted, that required a water supply more urgently than Bathurst. The population was rapidly increasing, and as it increased the water gradually got worse, because connected with almost every house was a cesspit, and the soil of Bathurst was so open and porous that it became saturated with the contents of these cesspits and thus the water was polluted.

Mr. Combes, Mr. Lynch, and Mr. Bowman also urged upon the Minister the necessity for immediate action in the matter. Mr. Lynch drew particular attention to the pollution of the water, caused by the drainage from the gaol, which he considered ought to be removed.

Mr. LACKEY, in reply, said that the only impediment in the way of making a commencement with the works was the want of power to resume the necessary land; but a bill now before Parliament would give the Government that power, and there would be no delay in providing for Bathurst, as for other country towns, the necessary water supply. The design for the pumping engines for the Bathurst supply was now nearly ready, and would, with specifications, be completed and tenders invited in about a month. The design for filters and settling tanks was finished, and ready for tenders to be invited when the land was obtained. The indent for the pipes was also ready, and the plans for distributing reservoirs in the town were in hand.

Mr. COMBES took the opportunity of presenting to the Minister two petitions—one from residents on the Abercrombie River, Wiseman's Creek, Little River, Fish River Creek, and Porter's Retreat, complaining of the bad state of the road from the Eight-mile Tree, south of Oberon, on the Swashfield Road, to Mick's Mount on the Oberon and Bathurst Road; and the other from residents of Ranville and the neighbourhood, praying for the erection of a platform on the Great Western Railway, as near as possible to the crossing place of the Fish River known as Kinghorn's Falls.

Mr. LACKEY promised to direct the attention of the proper officers to these matters.

TRAVELLING STOCK RESERVES AND ROADS.

Yesterday morning Mr. S. M. Swift, of Liverpool Plains, was introduced to the Minister for Mines by Messrs. Bowman and Badgery, his object being to induce the Minister to give consideration to the necessity of keeping open travelling stock roads; and where old roads through runs were blocked up to endeavour to have them reopened for the use of travelling stock. It was stated that a number of these old roads were now being blocked up by persons, some of whom had purchased land and some not. The stockowners found it was very difficult to get their stock to market, often having to travel eight or 10 miles, and that they then had been obliged to go back again, to the injury of the stock and detriment of the public.

Mr. BAKER, in reply, said that, with regard to the travelling stock roads, he had given instructions some months back to the sheep inspectors to exercise a very careful supervision over them, and to see that they were not blocked up; and only that morning he had dealt with two or three cases. He would endeavour to have a good supervision kept, so as to keep these roads open. With regard to the taking of stock through old roads by user, considerable difficulty existed if any of the land was alienated; because the freeholder might set the squatter or even the Government at defiance. The only way to meet cases of this kind would be, upon necessity being shown for the roads being kept open, to proclaim a parish road in the usual way; but, where a squatter blocked up the old roads by user, the Minister could very easily deal with him by threatening that if he did not leave the roads open the portion of land required would be taken out of his run and declared as a reserve.

GOLD PROSPECTING AT BATHURST.

Mr. Hellyer, Mayor of Bathurst, was, yesterday, introduced to Mr. Baker by Mr. Webb, M.L.A., for the purpose of asking his permission for a recently established company to prospect for gold on the common at Bathurst, and also to endeavour to obtain £200 in aid of the company, they raising £400.

Mr. BAKER said if the company made the applications in writing he would attend to them. He could promise them that he would give them permission for prospecting, but with respect to the grant he could not promise anything; but their application should be carefully attended to.

BATHS AT COOGEE.

Yesterday morning, Mr. John See, Mayor of Randwick, accompanied by several members of the Municipal Council, waited upon Mr. Lackey, with a view of urging upon him the desirableness of constructing sea baths at Coogee Bay. It was stated that the work was required for the accommodation of the public, as large numbers of people went daily to Coogee from Sydney, Woollahra, Waverley, and Paddington for the purpose of sea-bathing, and these numbers would be largely increased when the tramway was constructed.

Mr. LACKEY, in reply, said it was a question whether a work of this kind belonged to the Government or to the municipality. It seemed to him that it was properly within the province of the municipality. The Government had never undertaken the construction of baths, except at Manly Beach, where they contributed one-half the cost on the understanding that the property would be kept in order by the municipality. This was done on the ground that the building was not for the use of the residents of Manly Beach alone, but of the general public. He would lay the matter before his colleagues, and let them know the result.

ROAD AT MANLY BEACH.

Mr. Alfred Hilder, Mayor of Manly, and Messrs. Barker and Hayes, aldermen of the same municipality, waited on the Minister for Works yesterday. The object of the deputation was to direct Mr. Lackey's attention to the highly dangerous state of that portion of the Pittwater Road from the pier at Manly to the Curl Curl Lagoon, a distance of about one mile. This road is vested in trustees, and, in reply to frequent applications to the trustees made by the Council to place the road in proper and safe repairs, the latter were informed that the trustees could not expend any money thereon, and they therefore urged the Government to undertake the work. As the Council was strictly forbidden by sections 117 and 118 of the Municipalities Act, 1867, to expend any money on roads of this class, they were compelled to ask the Minister to have the portion of the road referred to placed in good order, and on behalf of the Council the Mayor stated that when such work was accomplished they would not object to receive a transfer of the road to the boundary of the municipality, and to keep the same in repair afterwards. They believed the trustees would acquiesce in such a transfer. The Government had undertaken similar cases on former occasions, amongst them being Richmond Road in 1879, and also the South Head Road. The cost of repairing the portion of the road referred to would be about £800, and the deputation begged the Minister to cause that amount to be placed on the Supplementary Estimates for the present year. It was pointed out that this road was much used by tourists to the Hawkesbury, and that travelling on it was very dangerous.

Mr. LACKEY replied that he had seen the Commissioner for Roads, who informed him that this road was in a very bad state, and that it could readily be put into repair. Since it was used not only by inhabitants of Manly, but by people going to Pittwater and the Hawkesbury, he thought that expenditure on it was justified, and had given directions that the work should be done, without waiting for the money to be voted.

The MAYOR expressed the opinion that if the money for the work were transferred to the Council they would be able to have the work done better and more quickly than the Government.

Mr. LACKEY said he would speak to the Engineer and the Commissioner for Roads on the matter; and the deputation, after thanking him, then withdrew.

LONDON PAUPERISM.—The following is a census of Metropolitan paupers, exclusive of lunatics in asylums and vagrants, taken on the last day of the weeks named hereunder (enumerated inhabitants in 1871, 3,254,000):—First week of January, 1880—in-door, 47,586; out-door, 44,896; total, 92,482; first week of January, 1879—in-door, 43,203; out-door, 40,941; total, 84,144; first week of January, 1878—in-door, 40,137; out-door, 42,370; total, 82,507; first week of January, 1877—in-door, 38,331; out-door, 44,625; total, 82,956. Vagrants relieved in the metropolis on the last day of the first week of January, 1880—men, 607; woman, 112; children under 16, 32; total, 751.

A great deal has been said lately about a certain breed of horses that, during the hot weather, are said to bleed themselves by opening a small vein with their teeth. A very circumstantial account (says a London paper) of such a phlebotomical horse appeared a little while ago in one of the daily papers. Horses are too wise to practise an operation which even men have discarded, and to which Count Cavour fell a victim. Besides, it would be almost impossible for equine molars to perform such a delicate operation as the puncturing of a vein. There is a breed of horses in Hungary, called "Juckers," that often bleed, during the heat of summer, after much exercise. They are thin-skinned, full-blooded animals, on whose sleek bodies the whole network of distended veins is clearly discernible, and one of the latter occasionally bursts of its own accord, in the same manner as a small vein occasionally bursts in a human nose. The blood soon coagulates and plugs the puncture. They mostly bled in parts of the neck which they could as little reach with their teeth as a man could reach his neck with his teeth. Count Waldburg observed a similar liability to bleeding in a fine breed of horses in the Altai.

SYDNEY WATER SUPPLY AND SEWERAGE BILL.

The bill to provide for the water supply and sewerage of the city of Sydney and its suburbs, which was read the first time in the Legislative Assembly on Wednesday evening, consists of 150 clauses, and is divided into seven parts, as follows:—Part 1. Introductory provisions, constitution powers and duties of Board of Water Supply and Sewerage, water and sewerage districts, appointment of officers, by-laws. Part 2. Water supply. Part 3. Sewerage. Part 4. General provisions as to the acquisition and occupation of lands for purposes of water supply or sewerage, compensation for deprivation of land or other damage or injury how ascertained. Part 5. Application of Act to certain boroughs and municipal districts. Part 6. Provision for contingent transfer of water and sewerage works. Part 7. Miscellaneous provisions as to legal procedure.

It is provided that the whole Act shall come into force on the date of the passing thereof, so far as it provides for the constitution of the Board of Water Supply, and the construction of water and sewerage works; also that the necessary portions of the Sydney Corporation Act shall be repealed upon the establishment of the Board of Water Supply and Sewerage under this bill. Clause 5, which provides for the constitution of this Board, is as follows:—"The authority empowered to carry out the provisions of this Act, except as to such parts thereof as empower the Minister for Lands exclusively to construct and maintain works for water supply or sewerage shall be 'The Board of Water Supply and Sewerage.' And such Board shall be composed of seven persons, to be respectively elected and appointed as hereinafter provided—1. The Governor shall, by commissions under his hand and the seal of the colony, appoint three persons to be members of the said Board, who shall be designated 'official members,' and one of such persons shall, in and by such commission, be appointed to be president of the Board. 2. The Municipal Council of the city of Sydney shall elect two members of the said Board, who shall be designated 'city members.' 3. The mayors and aldermen of the several boroughs and municipal districts, now or hereafter to be established, situated wholly or in part, within the county of Cumberland, shall elect two members of the said Board, who shall be designated 'suburban members.'"

Clause 7 provides that the members of the said Board shall hold office for four years. Provided that of the first members appointed or elected under the provisions of this Act there shall be so appointed and elected for a period of two years only, viz., one official, one city, and one suburban member. And the elected members so to hold office for a period of two years only shall be those who received the least number of votes at their election if the same shall have been a contested election, and if not, or in case of an equality of votes, then the determination shall be by lot. The official member so to hold office for the like period of two years shall be determined by the Governor; but all such members, whether official or elective, shall, if qualified, be eligible for re-appointment or re-election respectively.

The Governor is to appoint the President of the Board, and the members are to elect their own vice-President. The bill goes on to provide for the remuneration of the Board, and the filling up of extraordinary vacancies. Three members of the Board are to form a quorum. The following clause provides for the first and subsequent elections:—"The first elections of city and suburban members of the Board under this Act shall take place on the first Monday in the month of   in the year one thousand eight hundred and   when there shall be elected by the Mayor and Aldermen of the Municipal Council of the city of Sydney, two members, and likewise by the respective Mayors and Aldermen of the boroughs and municipal districts, situated wholly or partly within the county of Cumberland, and hereinafter termed 'electoral municipalities,' two members of the 'Board of Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage,' constituted by this Act. And on the corresponding Monday in every second year thereafter the like elections shall take place of two members, one city and one suburban, to serve on the said Board in lieu of those retiring by rotation, and at all such elections the voting shall be by ballot."

The qualifications for a seat on the Board are thus defined:—"Every person shall be eligible for election as a member of the Board. 1. As a city member—if at the time of the holding of any election, he shall possess the qualification and not be within any disqualification respectively prescribed and imposed by law in respect of elections to the office of alderman of the Municipal Council of the City of Sydney. 2. As a suburban member—if at the time of the holding of any election for the said Municipalities, he shall possess in and for any one or more of such Municipalities, the qualification, and not be within any disqualification respectively prescribed and imposed in respect of the office of alderman by the 'Municipalities Act of 1867,' or any Act amending the same."

Seats may be vacated as follows:—"If any member of the of the Board shall without the permission of the Board fail to give his attendance at four consecutive meetings of the Board, or shall become insolvent within the meaning of any Act relating to insolvency in force for the time being, or be convicted of felony, perjury, or any infamous offence, or become insane, his seat shall thereby become vacant."

The usual provisions are made for the conduct of the business of the Board, and their expenses, as well as the expenses of elections, are to be paid out of the Consolidated Revenue. The Board are to have power to frame by-laws, and impose rates not to exceed 5 per cent. on the assessed value of properties; and to regulate the water supply and sewerage generally. The remainder of part 1 deals with the necessary general powers of the Board.

Part 2, which deals with water supply, confers the following powers upon the Board:—"Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Board may exercise any of the powers in this part contained for the construction of waterworks for the supply of water to the city and suburbs of Sydney, and for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this Act (that is to say):—1. They may enter upon any lands and take levels of the same, and set out such parts thereof as they shall think necessary, and dig, break, and trench the soil of such lands, and remove or use all earth, stone, mines, minerals, trees, or other things, dug, or obtained out of or from the same. 2. They may enter upon, take and hold such land as they may from time to time deem necessary for the construction, maintenance, repair, or improvement of any of the works authorised or transferred by this Act, or for obtaining or enlarging the supply of water, or for improving the quality thereof for the purposes of this Act. 3. They may from time to time sink such wells or shafts, and make, maintain, alter, or discontinue such reservoirs, waterworks, cisterns, tanks, aqueducts, drains, cuts, sluices, pipes, culverts, engines, and other works, and erect such buildings upon the lands, streams, and watercourses authorised to be taken by them as they shall think proper for supplying the inhabitants of any water district with water. 4. They may from time to time divert and impound the water from any streams as they may think fit, and alter the courses of the same, and also take such waters as may be found in, under, or on any lands so to be taken for the purposes of this Act. 5. They may enter upon any Crown or private lands, streets, roads, or thoroughfares, and lay or place therein any pipes, and may repair, alter, cut off, or remove the same, and may enter upon any such lands, streets, roads, or thoroughfares for the purpose of repairing any watercourses, or other works, being their property, or under their control. Provided always that in the exercise of any of the powers hereby conferred the Board shall inflict as little damage as may be, and in all cases where it can be done shall provide other watering-places, drains, and channels for the use of adjoining lands in place of any taken away or interrupted by them, and shall make full compensation to all parties interested for all damage sustained by them through the exercise of such powers. Provided, nevertheless, that the Board shall not be liable to make compensation in respect of any damage sustained by reason of the taking or diverting of water permanently or otherwise from any river, stream, or watercourse, nor in any other case whatsoever, unless a claim in writing shall be made in respect of such compensation within   months after the commencement of the exercise of the power; and that, in every case where the Board cannot agree with the owner, the amount of compensation shall be ascertained, and the case in other respects shall be dealt with under the provisions hereinafter contained."

The remaining clauses of this part give the Board power to carry out works, impose penalties, provide meters and fire plugs, make inspection, preserve the water supply from pollution, recover rates, &c.

Part 3 invests the Board with the necessary powers to make and maintain sewers, recover rates, &c.

The remaining portions of the bill relate to matters of detail.

BOROUGH COUNCIL.

FIVE DOCK.—The fortnightly meeting was held at the Council-chambers on 17th February. Present—The Mayor, Aldermen Sutton, Budd, and Baker. Minutes of previous general and special meetings read and confirmed. Correspondence read: From Judge Faucett relative to meeting deputation from Council to point out proper alignment on Great North Road. Ordered that his Honor be informed that the Council declines to interfere unless he is prepared to remove his fence back to proper alignment; from S. C. Rodd, relative to repairs to roads, &c.; from Transit Commissioners relative to scale of cab fares. The Finance Committee brought up their report recommending payment of sundry accounts amounting to £18 18s. 3d., which was adopted on the motion of Aldermen Budd and Baker, and amounts ordered to be paid. Motions by Alderman Sutton,—"That Works Committee for current municipal year be composed of the whole Council." "That the Finance Committee for current municipal year consist of Aldermen Sutton, Budd, Brierly, and Baker." "That Alderman Thomas Baker be appointed treasurer for current municipal year, with power to sign all the cheques of the Council." "That 100 alignment posts be provided for the municipality, and that tenders be called for same." "That tenders be called for mounting and fixing all the maps of the municipality now in possession of Council." All carried. Alderman Budd moved,—"That tenders be invited from two competent persons to make an assessment of all ratable property in the municipality for current municipal year 1880-81." "That tenders be called for all the cartage required by the Council during the current municipal year 1880-81." Both carried.—GEO. GREVILLE, Council-clerk.

"Chutney," in the Home and Colonial Mail, says:—In the event of Lord Lytton's resignation of the Viceroyalty of India, the only Conservative statesman whose name is associated with the office is Lord George Hamilton, but beyond such nominal association nothing, I should imagine, is likely to result. It is not generally known, perhaps, that Lord Lytton accepted the office with reluctance, after having previously refused the Governorship of Madras. Offers of the appointment were previously made to Lord Carnarvon, Lord Lyons, and Lord John Manners.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

FRIDAY EVENING.

There was a considerable falling off in the number of transactions reported in the Stock and Share market to-day. Prices have gone up so much lately, that investors are not disposed to concede any further advance, and as holders are firm, we can scarcely expect that business will continue as brisk as it was last month. Hardly any change took place in Bank stock to-day: the only transaction reported was Joint Stock at 14⅛, and 14⅜ wanted; City had buyers at 11, sellers at 11¼; for fully paid Commercial, 93 was the best offer, 95 asked—new issue inquired for at 68½, held for 70; buyers of Mercantile at 5¼, sellers at 5¼; New South Wales wanted at 50½, offered at 51; New Zealand had buyers at 20, sellers at 20¼; National of Queensland, buyers at 6⅜, sellers at 6¾; Union wanted at 56, holders asked 59. In Steam the only alteration was that sellers of North Shore Ferry asked 16s. 6d., or 6d. less than yesterday, buyers' offers remained at 15s. 6d.; Australasian wanted at 15¾, offered at 16½; Clarence and Richmond old for sale at 6, preferential not offered, buyers at 12½; sellers of Hunter River at 8, no inquiry; Illawarra scarce, and wanted at 5¾. Insurance shares had some slight alterations, but no sales: Accident wanted at 6d., holders required 1s.; City firmer, 1s. 3d. refused, 1s. 4d. asked; Mercantile inquired for at 1s. 6d., held for 1s. 8d.; New South Wales firm at 50s. 6d. buyers, 51s. 6d. sellers; Pacific steady, 52s. 6d. could have been obtained, 54s. asked; Sydney Fire offered at 63s., buyers at 60s.; Sydney Marine held for 34s., and United for 87s. 6d.; Gaslight unaltered, old issue for sale at 18 and new at 5.; Sydney Exchange held for 9½, with 8½ as the best offer; 5½ obtainable for Pyrmont Bridge, no sellers; Shale and Oil had buyers at 11s., sellers at 12s. Volunteer land orders offered at 90. There was a large margin between buyers and sellers of Coal shares: Bulli wanted at 12, offered at 14; buyers of Wallsend at the latter, sellers at 14¾; Waratah for sale at 9, the best offer was 8; Vale of Clwydd had buyers at 12s. 3d., sellers at 18s. Great Cobar Copper changed hands at 51s. 9d., closing with buyers at 51s., sellers at 55s. Krohmann's Gold had buyers at 4s. 4d., sellers at 4s. 9d; Star of Peace offered at 3s.; Rapp's wanted at 8d., held for 10d.; for Band and Albion 93s. refused, 95s. asked; Hustler's Pups wanted at 1s. Debentures unchanged: 91 offered for New South Wales funded fours, 106½ for long dated fives—none for sale; New Zealand fours obtainable at 82½, and fives at par; Queensland fours wanted at 90, held for 91½; buyers of City of Sydney sixes at 100½, sellers at 103.

Anticipations that the fourth of the month would pass off well have been realized, and any requests for renewals were conceded. A moderate trade inquiry has been experienced, but there was nothing in the way of speculation this week except the purchases of fencing wire, which have been mentioned. Breadstuffs have been steady of late, and are likely to remain so. From New Zealand we hear that there are orders in the market for England at a price, and the quotations for new wheat were expected to open at 4s. to 4s. 3d. Arrangements were being made for large shipments of wheat from Lyttelton to Europe, and it was expected that at least twenty ships would be available within the next three months. Building materials are firm. Oregon flooring boards advancing with the reduction of stocks and the increased freights asked by vessels from the Pacific coast to Australia. The Aminta, which arrived from New York yesterday, brings a quantity of Eastern States lumber. Coffee has a firmer tendency, prices having gone up in Melbourne. In fish we hear of 7s. 6d. being accepted for old catch salmon, new is held for 8s.; white herrings have a moderate demand at 30s. to 32s. 6d.; sardines are easier—4s. quoted for quarters, 7s. to 7s. 3d. for halves. Currants advancing, 5½d. to 6d. asked for prime fruit to arrive; small spot lots can be purchased for less. There is a firm market for groceries and oilmen's stores generally, but a slight decline in starch. Liquors move steadily for trade supplies. There has been some inquiry for Martell's dark brandy, and a purchase amounting to about £600 worth made by one firm. Anglo-Bavarian and Bulldog ale in glass in request at 11s. 3d., sales of leading brands of bulk at £6 10s. to £6 15s. Queensland rum is better, sales at 2s. 1d. to 2s. 2d. Good whisky in more demand at from 16s. 6d. to 20s. for case, 6s. to 10s. 6d. for bulk. The metal market is extremely strong, small sales of galvanized iron at £28 10s. to £30, and BBH iron at £13 10s. for trade quantities; pig has a slow sale at about £5. Rice has had a light inquiry at from £17 to £22 in five ton lots. There is a better sale for tea, especially finer qualities, of which the trade having bought freely early in the season are only now beginning to replenish stocks. Sugars very firm, and late Mauritius never more favourable to holders. There is a steady demand for maize, good shipping samples worth 2s. to 2s. 3d. The supplies of produce at this morning's sales at Darling Harbour were very large all round, oaten and wheaten hay in bales predominating, however. There was little animation, and the bidding generally was dispirited and listless, agents experiencing considerable difficulty in placing lines even at prices inferior to those lately in force. Really prime oaten hay was very scarce, but medium and inferior were plentiful and realized from 5s. to 5s. 3d. One truck of oaten and wheaten bundles changed hands at 5s. 6d. Oaten and wheaten bales were in plentiful supply, and brought from 4s. 6d. to 4s. 11d., the higher prices being with great difficulty obtained. No lucerne hay offered. Wheaten bundles fetched up to 4s. 3d. Straw ranged from 2s. 8d. to 3s. The best sorts of chaff were worth 5s. 6d. Warrnambool potatoes quoted at 65s. to 70s.; colonial bacon, 4d. to 6d.

There was a good attendance at the weekly sales held to-day by Mr. Barker, Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Mr. Bridge, Messrs. Maiden, Hill, and Clark, and Messrs. Mort and Co. The demand for hides was rather brisk, and up to last week's prices—say 4½d. for best were obtained. Calfskins in moderate supply, sales at 6d. to 3s. 7d. Yearlings at 2s. to 6s. 9d. Horsehides brought 8s. 3d. to 4s. Kangaroo skins, 2d. to 14d.; bear, 1d. Tallow had a moderate sale both for local trade and export, but a large quantity was bought in at vendors' limits.

The City of London (s.) has cleared for London with the following cargo: 5123 bales wool, 742 casks tallow, 2218 cases meat, 68 bales leather, 70 tons boghead mineral, 1 bale hair, 9 tons ivory nuts, 1280 bags bark, 70 tons copra in bulk, 39 bags copra, 5182 ingots tin, 23 cases sundries, and a quantity of hoofs, horns, and bones.

The Customs duties received to-day were as follows:—

Spirits, £1920 10s. 1d.; wine, still, £94 14s. 3d.; wine, sparkling, £15; ale, porter, and beer, in bottle, £596 11s. 9d.; tobacco and snuff, £26 2s.; cigars, £138 1s. 2d.; tea, £47 3s. 3d.; coffee and chicory, £145 10s.; sugar (unrefined), £640; malt, £143 9s.; specific duty, £900 17s. 7d.; rent of goods in Queen's warehouse, 13s. 11d.; pilotage, £53 9s.; harbour and light dues, £25 10s. 4d.: total, £4747 12s. 4d.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1880.

We doubt whether the public of this colony have yet realized the significance of the last financial abstracts issued from the Treasury. By creating a separate surplus revenue account Mr. WATSON has added another complication to our system of national bookkeeping, with no principle of distinction, and certainly no increase of income and no reduction of expenditure. Since that account was authorized, about half a million has been expended for the purposes included under it in the last Appropriation Act; and they are purposes precisely identical with those included in the Estimates-in-chief. To separate them from the general account can only tend to confuse the comparison with other years, and to make it more difficult for superficial inquirers to understand the true position of our finances. For the purposes of this article we shall disregard the distinction, and deal with the whole income and expenditure of the year as coming under either the Consolidated Revenue or general loans.

First, there are some readjustments to be made. The sum of £250,000 was advanced during the year from the Consolidated Revenue to the Loan account; but the sum of £906,188 previously advanced was repaid. It follows that £656,188 that had been expended out of our surplus on account of loans to be afterwards placed on the market, has been recovered and thrown into the current account, leaving only £1,293,812 still to be recovered as the loan funds come in. Not only has our cash surplus almost disappeared, but the advances made pending the sale of debentures are disappearing also, absorbed in the maelstrom of our growing expenditure. When the whole of the last loan of three and a quarter millions has been brought to book, and the advance of six hundred thousand pounds on account of it has been repaid to the Bank of New South Wales, there will remain, so far as the figures indicate, only £822,486 unexpended, in addition to the £691,098 of loan money on all accounts remaining in the hands of the banks at the close of last December. The whole loan funds remaining unspent amount to £1,513,584, which is a smaller sum than the authorised works will require during the present year, without any repayments of advances to the Consolidated Revenue. The sum actually expended from loans last year was £1,671,704, exclusive of half a million of advances repaid, and the work of construction should, and probably will, proceed faster this year than last. The Government will have to float another loan, unless the works are to be stopped, and the sooner they begin to watch the money market for a suitable opportunity the better will their chances be of getting good terms.

The expenditure from the Consolidated Revenue last year, including the half million thrown upon the accumulated surplus, was £5,845,506, leaving out the quarter of a million temporarily transferred to the loan account. The income from all sources, exclusive of a million pounds of advances repaid, was £4,481,665, so that our expenditure exceeded our income by £1,363,841. Even if the accumulated surplus expenditure were excluded, there would remain a difference of nearly a million sterling on the wrong side, or, to give the exact figures, £883,339. That is a very serious deficit for a single year, and hon. members who were so assiduous in cutting down the Government proposals for new taxation could not have been aware of the mischief they were doing. When Mr. WATSON made his last statement he gave his remaining surplus at £980,585, after appropriating a million and a half to the special purposes referred to above. Since then the year's accounts have been made up, and the deficit will reduce that surplus to £97,246. That was the only available surplus at the beginning of the present year, and our legislators have now the satisfaction of knowing that they have dispersed the windfall from land sales faster than it came in, for the process of accumulation was spread over six years, and the process of dispersion has been completed in two. There still remains the sum of one and a quarter millions to be recovered from the loan funds after the debentures have been sold, but a large slice of that also will be required to balance our national account at the end of the present year, unless Mr. WATSON can either increase his income, or reduce his expenditure by half a million sterling.

The particulars of income and expenditure are not more satisfactory than the general result. Our railways brought in a revenue of £976,898, for a total cost of £806,558 in working expenses, leaving only £170,340 as the net earnings towards paying interest on the capital invested. At the beginning of the year that capital was ten and a quarter millions, and during the year there was an additional sum of £1,143,004 expended on works partly open and partly in progress, giving a total railway capital of eleven and a half millions, on all of which interest has to be paid at the average rate at present of 4·61 per cent. per annum. That gives an annual charge of £526,501, which makes the loss on our railway transactions last year, according to these Treasury figures, £356,161. Of course we shall be told that part of the capital is sunk in works not yet open; and that there are outstanding accounts not included in the Treasury returns, but which will appear in the Commissioner's annual report. But the public have to pay this interest on dead capital whether it be afterwards recouped or not, and, taking one year with another, the Treasury and the Railway Departments ought to agree in their particulars of income and expenditure. Even for the current year, and if Mr. WATSON's estimate be realized, there will be only £850,000 of net earnings available for interest on our railway capital, and that will leave a deficit of £176,000. Similarly the Post and Telegraph Office shows a loss of £124,221 for last year, and an estimated loss of £130,032 for the current year. As to roads and bridges, our expenditure for last year reached the enormous sum of £587,632, not too much for the proper maintenance of our vast network of 16,000 miles of roads, but egregiously too much to be incurred with no local revenue towards meeting it except £618 from tolls and ferries, but we have said enough to prove that Parliament can no longer ignore questions of finance, and that Ministers will be compelled to deal with them thoroughly when the next Budget has to be produced.

The intelligence from New Zealand that twenty-five Communists, fourteen of whom have been offenders against the criminal code, had, on the expiration of their terms of transportation to New Caledonia, succeeded, with the help of the French Government, in landing at Auckland, shows that the danger apprehended from the neighbourhood of the convict settlement of New Caledonia is certainly not less than was anticipated. It was said at one time during the transportation controversy in England that there was some semi-civilized race in the Pacific which employed a sequestered nook of great natural beauty in the west of England as a settlement for the deportation of its convicts, and it was questioned at the time, how far such a use of the rights to courteous entertainment reciprocally enjoyed by the citizens of friendly States, amounted to an abuse. Whether the facts here imagined had any basis in reality or not, there is no doubt that after the return of M. THIERS and his followers to the French capital, and the enormous proscriptions of Communists, the outflow of such prisoners as were exiled without further punishment as pauper Communists to the English coast, became so excessive as seriously to aggravate the difficulties of poor law administration, and even to lead to the strong measure being resorted to of turning round the loaded emigrant ships and making them go home again. The case complained of in New Zealand is an aggravation of anything that has yet taken place in this direction. In the first place, the large proportion of the arrivals were those of persons who had offended against the ordinary criminal law, and there is nothing to rebut the presumption, and much to sustain it, that some at least of these were the least desirable persons who could be introduced into the society of a new colony. In the second place, the French Government seem to have been consciously employing Auckland as a convenient reservoir for a set of persons whom humanity and common decency forbid them any further ostensibly to punish, and yet of whose temperament—be it called insurrectionary, anarchical, or simply patriotic—the Government is nervously afraid. It seems that the people of New Zealand are wide awake to discern the threatening nature of the occasion; and the popular voice is no doubt fairly represented by the language of a leading organ of the Press, which calls on the people to rise to a man and resist, if need be forcibly, the "scandalous attempt of the authorities of New Caledonia to saturate the colony with the offscourings of their bagnios."

When, not long ago, some convicts from New Caledonia, or on their way thither, mutinied and possessed themselves of the vessel in which they were being carried, we had occasion to point out the recurrent danger to the Australian colonies of an influx of some of the worst blood of continental Europe through a channel which was still left open, in spite of all that had been done to rescue those colonies from all contact with any but the best and most promising offspring of European civilisation. The experience of New Zealand seems to show that this class of dangers may not depend merely upon accident or neglect, but are distinctly contemplated as a portion of a policy of a State which is on friendly terms with England. Indeed it is said that deportation of European convicts to islands in the Pacific is likely to be a practice increasingly favoured by the over populated States of Europe which for temporary social and political reasons are becoming staggered by the growing magnitude of their criminal and convict population. There have been too many conflicting reports about the destiny of the Samoan Islands, and even of the better known Sandwich Islands. But that Germany is on the outlook for some station in the Pacific to which it can safely relegate its socialist and other objectionable citizens seems to be plainly indicated.

The policy has been finally adopted by the Australian colonies of admitting none but persons of presumably unstained character and antecedents as the founders of their nascent States. England, after indeed considerable pressure, has consented loyally to support and carry through this policy. By substituting penal servitude at home for transportation beyond the seas as the penultimate criminal sentence, England has largely benefited in many ways. Her prison and criminal reformers have been led to watch with increasing assiduity the effects of various terms of servitude according to the classes of offenders submitted to them, and to make valuable amendments from time to time in the modes of treatment, the quality of the labour imposed, the dietary, the habitation, and the terms of remission which, on the whole, seem best calculated to promote the personal reformation of the criminal to the extent that this end is compatible with the supreme interests of society at large. The banishment of criminals to distant places on the globe was no doubt an easy, but certainly a lazy and inexcusable mode of evading some of the most delicate, if obnoxious, duties which are cast on those citizens whose education and personal training happily saves themselves from the woful experience they are called upon to deal with in others. It was very well to say that transportation opened out a new career for the criminal in circumstances in which no blot would attach to his name, and there would have been still more in the remark if it had been possible to distinguish with any minuteness the claims and conditions of the heaviest from those of the lightest offenders. But the heaviest charge against the transportation system was, that it tended far more than any discipline at home to affix an indelible stigma on the criminal himself, and even his posterity, that the stigma attached to all alike and in an equal degree, and that by help of the confused process of thought which the haste of human action always seems to involve, the stigma extended in an indefinite number of radiations far beyond the purely criminal centre in which it began.

It is to save New Zealand and the Australian colonies generally from even the proximity of perils which it was hoped were finally vanquished that New Zealand is now called upon to bear the brunt of a conflict with one of the leading continental Powers of Europe, which cannot but be successful. We believe that if France and Germany,—and we now speak with more sanguineness of France than of Germany,—can so alter their criminal code as not to put in the same category the political offences committed by the best of men and the vicious acts done only by the worst, and will address themselves with the same energy which England has employed to reforming their methods of punishment, that those countries will find their disuse of the transportation system followed by advantages which at present they scarcely comprehend, and that the gain to civilisation generally will be equally divided between the countries of the New and the Old World.

The New Victorian Ministry, although not quite so strong as might have been expected, is composed of elements that are likely to command public support. We miss the name of Mr. Murray-Smith, who, it is said, has private reasons for declining to enter the Ministry, and Mr. Francis has a seat in the Cabinet, but without office. Three of the members of the new Government—Messrs. Duffy, Bent, and Clark, are new to Ministerial responsibilities. Mr. Clark, the new Minister for Mines, belongs to a mining district, and has special qualifications for the work of the Department over which he will have to preside. Mr. Bent has been the indefatigable Secretary of the Executive Committee of the Opposition, and by his labours in this direction has fairly earned the consideration of his party. Mr. Bent has hitherto been one of the most impetuous members of the Victorian Assembly, and is probably the weak point of the new Government. But the cares of office have often converted turbulent spirits into calm and prudent men, and what they have done for others they may do for Mr. Bent. Mr. Duffy, who is the son of Sir C. G. Duffy, was formerly an adherent of the Berry party, but went over to the Opposition when the Liberal leaders went to excesses of which he did not approve. Mr. Duffy has shown himself a gifted and vigorous politician, and has generally been looked upon as a probable Cabinet Minister in the event of a change of Government. The remaining six members of the new Government have all been members of former Administrations. Mr. Kerferd, the new Attorney-General, was for a short time Premier. Dr. Madden, the Minister of Justice, occupied a leading place in the Ministry of Sir James M'Culloch. Mr. Gillies was Minister of Railways in the same Administration, and Mr. Ramsay, the new Chief Secretary and Minister of Education, was Minister of Education and Postmaster-General under the same leader. Mr. Service has held office in an Administration of which Mr. Berry himself was a member, and it will be remembered that Mr. Cuthbert, the new Commissioner of Customs and Postmaster-General, who, with Mr. Anderson, will represent the Ministry in the Upper House, acted in the same capacity in the earlier days of the Government that has just been ousted from office. The selection of Mr. Cuthbert may be taken as an indication that the policy of the new men will be a moderate one, and, after the extremes of Mr. Berry and his friends, such a policy will not be unwelcome. The leaders of the corner party were not returned to the House, on which account, no doubt, this section of Victorian politicians is unrepresented in the new Service Government.

The members of the Sydney Mechanics' School of Arts have a perfect right to decide for themselves the desirableness of opening the reading-room of their own institution on Sundays. But apart from the fact that their institution is largely sustained by public money, the general question at issue is of interest to the community, and the course adopted in this instance will have considerable effect upon other similar institutions. Unfortunately, questions of this kind are more often settled on the basis of foregone theological opinions rather than from a practical point of view. A School of Arts contains members of various creeds and religious opinions, and no one set of people can fairly claim an exclusive right in it. None that object will be forced to take any share in the Sunday opening. They need not go to the institution on Sundays, and other members cannot be denied permission to have freedom of opinion and action allowed them. The objection to Sunday labour will be perhaps sufficiently met by the proposal to put the necessary work in the hands of Jews, if this plan can be worked practically. The only just ground on which the question can be discussed is that of expediency. Here the experience with regard to the Sydney Free Library and Museum, as well as to the more analogous institutions in England, South Australia, and New Zealand, is all of a favourable character. Wherever reading-rooms have been opened on Sunday the attendance has generally been good. Many whom family cares prevent from visiting the reading-room during the week gladly avail themselves of the opportunity offered by the Sunday leisure, and there is another class with whom the book may supplant the glass, which has hitherto been their only Sunday solace. We have no evidence that Sunday libraries have diminished attendance at Church, or have in any way promoted immorality or irreligion; and, in the absence of such evidence, we are not to assume that such would be the case. It was to people who were afraid of the evil consequences that might result from breaking down a strict rule that the dictum was given, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

If the reports respecting the Nihilists of Russia are to be credited, the appointment of General Loris Melikoff to the Dictatorship has not intimidated them in the least. It is alleged in one of our cable messages this morning, that they avow that the attempt to blow up the Winter Palace emanated from them, and express regret at the failure. They have issued further threats against the Czar unless he abdicates or introduces reforms in the government of the country. The would-be assassin of General Melikoff, one Moodestky, has been dealt with in a very summary way. The attempt was made on Wednesday, Moodestky was arrested and tried the same day, and hanged the next. On the anniversary of the Czar's accession to the throne, the Emperor of Germany wrote to him, assuring him of his lifelong friendship. On Wednesday night Emperor William dined with the French Ambassador at Berlin, on which occasion he made a speech, expressing the most friendly feeling towards France. Our commercial telegrams do not report any material alteration in any of the London markets.

With regard to the Government Tramway Bill, which it will be remembered came to a standstill on Thursday last, in consequence of there being some doubt as to whether the message by which the bill was introduced would cover any other lines beyond those mentioned in the schedule of the bill, we learn that it is the intention of the Government to bring down a second message with enlarged powers, to cover any further lines that may be proposed.

It will be noticed that the Government have called for tenders for the construction of the contemplated improvements to the Circular Quay. We learn that the Government are dividing the undertaking into small contracts, with the double object of distributing the work as far as possible, and also of getting it completed in the shortest time that can be done—to meet the requirements of the next wool season, if possible.

The subject of water supply for Bathurst, and the necessity for commencing without delay the necessary works to ensure a proper supply of pure water, was brought under the notice of the Minister for Works yesterday by a deputation. Mr. Lackey explained that the only impediment in the way of making a commencement with the works was the want of power to resume certain land, but that power would be obtained by the passing of a bill which was now before Parliament. Mr. Baker, the Minister for Mines, was waited on yesterday by two deputations, one asking him to keep open the travelling stock roads, and the other asking permission to prospect for gold on the common at Bathurst. His replies to the gentlemen on the deputations appeared to be satisfactory. The application made to Mr. Lackey yesterday, by the Mayor and Council of Randwick, that the Government should construct baths at Coogee Bay, was not favourably received, the Minister stating that he considered such a work should be carried out by the municipality. He promised, however, to lay the matter before his colleagues, and acquaint the Council with the result.

The Hansard staff have issued an index to the "Parliamentary debates" published up to the present time, and as a means of ready reference to the proceedings and debates of Parliament it will be very useful. Elsewhere the index to official reports are not published till after the close of the session, and, consequently, as a work of reference, the publication is of comparatively little use till the following session; but by keeping the index abreast with every weekly issue, as is intended to be done, the reports are made immediately serviceable. The arrangement is a very simple one. The subjects of debate, with their various stages indicated by a few simple abbreviations, with the names of the members, accompanied by a list of the subjects the member has spoken upon, are arranged alphabetically, so that any subject at any stage, or any member's speech upon any subject, may be found without any difficulty. As a further convenience to members, we understand that it is intended to bind the weekly numbers of Hansard already published into temporary volumes for the use of both Houses.

The display of horticultural products in connection with the Agricultural Show, which is being held in the Agricultural Hall, Exhibition grounds, has attracted a considerable number of visitors during the week, but, as those exhibits are of a perishable nature, a considerable number of them will be removed this evening. To-day will therefore be the last that the public will have of seeing this section of the show in a complete state. The time for receiving competitive exhibits in the various sections of the show has now closed, but the Executive Commissioner has decided that products may be received for exhibition only at any time while the show remains open.

The dies for the Exhibition prize medals lately received from Messrs. Wyon and Co., of London, for the large bronze and silver medals, were used for the first time at the Mint on Thursday. The Governor and Lady Augustus Loftus and suite visited the Mint, where the Executive Commissioner, Mr. P. A. Jennings, C.M.G., had made arrangements for three large silver medals to be specially struck for the occasion. Mr. Hunt, Deputy Master, received the party, and Mr. Delves Broughton, of the Melbourne Mint, was also present. The operation of melting the silver, running it into bars, and rolling it to the thickness requisite for stamping the medals was all gone through, and was watched with great interest by the visitors. Three large silver medals were then struck as a special first issue, one of which was presented to Lady Augustus Loftus and one to his Excellency the Governor by the Executive Commissioner. The other was presented to Sir Henry Parkes, Premier, the Minister in charge of the Exhibition. The exquisite workmanship and finish of the medals excited great admiration from all who have seen them. The dies for the gold medals have not yet arrived, but are expected at the end of the month.

A meeting of the committee of the Irish Distress Relief Fund was held yesterday at the Town Hall. Present: Mr. P. A. Jennings, C.M.G. (in the chair), his Worship the Mayor (Mr. R. Fowler), Messrs. Aldermen Chapman, Hordern, Daniel O'Connor, M.L.A.; P. M'Mahon, J.P., Thomas Buckland, J.P., John T. Toohey, John Hourigan, J.P., W. Beaumont, J.P., J. G. O'Ryan, Thomas Butler, Bernard Gaffney, Robert Prendergast, M. M. M'Girr, James Toohey, James P. Garvan, and P. Higgins, J.P. The total amount, £250, received yesterday morning, includes £64 18s. 2d. from Morpeth, £11 1s. 9d. from Lithgow, £34 12s. from Casino per Commercial Bank; £17 8s., second instalment, from Burwood; £50 from Tumut, second instalment, per Bank of New South Wales; £10 10s. from Mr. Henry Carey Dangar per D. O'Connor, M.P., besides several smaller sums.

In order to add to the fund being raised to assist the victims of the cyclone which rendered many of the colonists of New Caledonia homeless, Mr. J. Bennett has given to the representative of that colony the use of the Victoria Theatre for Tuesday evening next, when the combined talent of the Royal and Victoria artistes will perform two of the best pieces in their repertoire. The services of the R. Artillery Band has also been kindly lent for the occasion. The Victoria Theatre will on that evening be handsomely decorated.

In the list of unpaid accounts which the city auditors reported to the City Council on Thursday as being "due to the Corporation from the colonial Government and others for work performed and materials supplied by the Corporation," appears the entry, "C. J. Roberts, footpath, £6 19s." Mr. Roberts has shown us the receipt for the payment of this account, of which the following is a copy:—"Sydney, 12th January, 1880. To top-dressing footway: Labour and cartage, £4 10s.; four loads tarred metal at 10s., £2; one cask tar, 54 gallons at 2d., 9s.: £6 19s. Received by cheque,—C. H. Lines. January 13, 1880." Mr. Wardrop, treasurer of the borough of Redfern, informs us, that regard to the item of £17 6s. 1d., charged against the Municipal Council of Redfern, the account was paid by crossed cheque, drawn on 30th January, and paid into the City Treasury on the 2nd February, for which he holds the receipt, signed by an officer of the Corporation. He further states that the cheque was charged to the account of the Redfern Council in the Mercantile Bank, on the 6th February.

We are informed that the vacancy in the wardenship of the Marine Board, consequent on the death of the late Captain Watson, has been filled up by the appointment of Captain William Robertson, for many years connected with the shipping of the port.

Messrs. Bright, Brothers, and Co. have forwarded to us for publication the following cablegram:—"The steamship Brisbane left Hongkong for Australia on the 4th instant."

In the Supreme Court, yesterday, the Full Court, consisting of their Honors Mr. Justice Faucett, Sir William Manning, and Mr. Justice Windeyer, disposed of a number of motions, and also decided the two Crown cases, R. v. O'Connor and R. v. M'Cabe, in each of which the conviction was upheld. In Wood v. Gibbs and another, a rule nisi to set aside a nonsuit granted by Mr. Justice Windeyer, the presiding Judge at the trial, or for a new trial, was granted; and the arguments on the new trial motion Blackburn v. Flavelle, in which the construction of sections in the Lands Acts in question were part heard. In Chambers, his Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer disposed of a number of applications.

A meeting of several gentlemen interested in preparing pupils for the University Examination was held at the Temperance Hall, Pitt-street, yesterday. It was called by Mr. R. S. Cannon, with the object of considering the manner in which the University Examinations are conducted, and the desirability of forming a union amongst the teaching profession, for general protection, and for the discussion of matters of interest. It was a preliminary meeting, and consequently no definite action was taken; but those present separated with the intention of re-assembling on a date to be fixed by advertisement.

A meeting of friends and admirers of Mr. William Creswick, was held at Mr. Molony's Imperial Hotel, yesterday, at 5 p.m., for the purpose of presenting the eminent tragedian with a farewell token of remembrance, prior to his final departure from the colony. Among those present were Mr. Buchanan, M.L.A., Mr. R. Burdett Smith, M.L.A., Mr. Montague Levey, J.P., Mr. G. M. Alexander, Mr. Frank W. Hill, Mr. Edward Wrench, Dr. Charles M'Kay, Mr. A. L. Park, Hon. G. Eagar, Mr. Samuel Lazar, Mr. B. N. Jones, and Mr. Albert Elkington. The souvenir, consisting of a handsome gold watch and appendages, accompanied by a purse of sovereigns, was handed in by the Hon. G. Eagar (who had acted as hon. treasurer to the fund), on behalf of the subscribers, to the accomplished gentleman, who, during the last three years had rendered Shakespeare so familiar to us, and some appropriate remarks were made as to the loss which dramatic art would sustain by reason of his leaving us. Mr. Creswick responded in feeling language, and the meeting terminated with bumpers to the health and happiness of himself and his amiable wife. We understand that Mr. Creswick will leave this day by steamer for Melbourne; and, after completing a four weeks' engagement in that city, will return direct to England.

Three candidates were nominated for the position of honorary surgeon to the Sydney Infirmary (a post recently vacated by Dr. Cox), and the election was held yesterday afternoon, in the Temperance Hall. The following is the result of the ballot, viz.:—Dr. Goode, 133; Dr. Paterson, 186; and Dr. Tarrant, 612. Dr. Tarrant was accordingly, amid much applause, declared elected to the vacant position.

A public meeting of the electors of St. Leonards, convened by the Mayors of the North Shore Municipality, was held at St. Leonards School of Arts, on Thursday. Mr. W. Tunks, J.P., Mayor of St. Leonards, occupied the chair. From sixty to seventy persons were present, for notwithstanding that the Electoral Bill has been printed for some time, very few persons are aware of the manner in which it is proposed to deal with this electorate. A petition was adopted and a committee formed to obtain signatures to it, praying that the proposed Electorate of North Cumberland should be divided into two parts, each to return one member; the division to be by a line commencing at the mouth of Lane Cove River, thence by that river to the north-western boundary of the parish of Gordon, thence by that boundary to Cowan Creek, and thence to the Hawkesbury and the sea. This boundary would make two very large areas, each containing fully two thousand electors whose separate interests are dissimilar, inasmuch as the eastern portion is essentially metropolitan in its character, while the western portion partakes more of the features of a country constituency.

For a long time past the members of the Baptist denomination in Newcastle have been without a regular pastor, and the congregation connected with the church in Sydney-street becoming scattered among the worshippers of other denominations, the attendance at the weekly services which have been regularly held in the hope that in the course of time a change for the better would take place has been but small. Now, however, the church shows signs of considerable improvement. A permanent minister, the Rev. Mr. Coller, a pupil of the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, has become connected with the church, dividing his time between the congregation at Newcastle and that at Wallsend, and last Sunday evening the ordinance of baptism was performed in the Newcastle church before a congregation which comfortably filled the building.

A service of sacred song, in aid of the Church Extension Fund, was rendered on Tuesday evening last, 2nd in March, SS. Simon and Jude's Church, Campbell-street, Surry Hills, by the choir of that church (assisted by lady and gentlemen friends, making in all about 30 voices), under the direction of Mr. H. J. Noble, the organist of the church, who also acted as accompanist. The reading by the chairman, the Rev. J. D. Langley, and the singing by the choir, rendered this impressive service, the "Sayings of Jesus," in a very pleasing and satisfactory manner; the congregation (which numbered about 350) appearing to thoroughly appreciate and enjoy it. One item of the service, "David singing before Saul," was especially well rendered by Mr. J. W. Duesbury in his usual masterly style. The service was concluded at 9.30 p.m. with the benediction by the chairman.

The efforts of the brethren hailing under the Grand Lodge of New South Wales towards forming a fund for the support and maintenance of the widows and orphans of Freemasons in New South Wales are likely presently to bear fruit, which will prove the earnestness of the cause. At a meeting of the committee, nominated by those who took so prominent a part in advocating the formation of the nucleus of this fund, held last evening, Brothers Neitenstein, Hunt, and Machen were respectively appointed president, treasurer, and secretary of the charity; and it was resolved that the amount in hand should be placed in the Savings Bank pending its reaching a sum commensurate with the objects of the charity. A sub-committee was also nominated to draft rules and regulations for the government of the charity.

The Sydney Coffee Palace Hotel Company (Limited), whose No. 1 establishment in George-street has met with such marked public favour, has decided to open a second establishment, and with that view have bought the lease of the Commercial Hotel, Lower George-street, and taken in conjunction therewith one of the newly-erected Crown stores in Pitt-street, securing thereby a thorough communication from George to Pitt street, Circular Quay, with extensive accommodation. The Pitt-street building comprises three lofty floors, each 25 feet x 110 feet, the ground floor of which is to be a very spacious dining hall for gentlemen, in something of the same style and character as the ground floor of the present or No. 1 Palace in George-street, but larger. The first floor will comprise "ladies and gentlemen's" dining-saloons, with conveniently-fitted retiring-rooms, lavatories, &c.; the second floor will be arranged for bedrooms. The George-street premises (now the Commercial Hotel) are to be remodelled, and besides affording a large amount of bedroom accommodation, will provide a handsome coffee and news room, evening lounge, smoking-room, billiard-saloon, bars, &c. The establishment promises to be a complete one of its kind, and under the able direction and management of Mr. C. J. Hughes, the general manager of the company, will no doubt achieve a corresponding success to that of the No. 1 Coffee Palace, the history of which seems to fully justify the present venture.

Messrs. Mortimer and Co., of this city, have produced an invisible ink, the use of which, it is thought, will make the postal card system more popular. The fluid is almost colourless, and the writing produced with it does not show until subjected to heat. The manufacturers say that it is with a view of providing the public with the means of communicating on postal cards privately that they have produced this kind of ink, which they claim has all the good qualities of the coloured inks, and the additional advantage of being entirely invisible when dry.

Mr. John Hawksford, gasfitter, of 65, Market-street, has just completed a very cleverly devised shop window illuminating lamp, which, while coinciding with the most stringent regulations of the Corporation, at the same time leaves no cause for complaint with those for whose use it is principally employed, or with the passengers in the street, who too frequently have to grumble either at the insufficiency of lighting power afforded by such means, or at the manner and position in which such lamps are placed. Briefly described the improvements made by Mr. Hawksford's invention are as follow:—There are four burners so placed as to afford the best light at a minimum cost, and with the most brilliant effect, that effect being intensified by well arranged reflectors placed behind and about the burners. The lamp is constructed so that glass chimneys are unnecessary. An iron funnel, above the burners, is so carefully disposed that the heat of the flames is conveyed away, and no encouragement given to any loss of gas. Every inducement is tendered by the same means to the free passage of air from a sort of ventilator fixed at the bottom of the lamp for that purpose, and at the same time, in all seasons a firm steady light is obtained. The lamp is constructed of cast iron front and back, with wrought iron sides screwed and bolted together, no solder at all being employed. It has the recommendations of being strong and economical; its light is virtually impervious to the outer elements and a great advantage is noticeable in the fact that, if kept 12 or 14 feet, at a height of 8 or 10 feet (or more in either case, if necessary), from a window, everything is excellently seen, and no obstruction to its light is afforded by passengers, nor does it interfere with the view, as the majority of such contrivances do. Specimens of the lamp in working condition can be seen in Pitt-street, at Mr. Goldstein's, and at Mr. Sharp's shops.

The initiatory matches of the Port Jackson Swimming Club were held yesterday, at Foley's Baths, Woolloomooloo Bay, and passed off in a highly successful manner. The object of the establishment of the club is very commendable, and it was pleasing to note that the atendance yesterday, notwithstanding that Friday was not the most suitable day of the week for the matches, was fully 300. Seventeen events were set down for competition, but two of these were not contested, and one fell through, there being no entries. The German band was present, and rendered attractive music during the afternoon. The weather was all that could be desired, and nothing occured to mar the afternoon's enjoyment. A report of the events appears in another column.

At a fishing outing in the Rocket (s.) on Thursday, Messrs. Townsend, Yeend, Henson, and Levy succeeded in catching 200 schnapper; the rest of the company, numbering 14, caught 350, making a total catch for the day of 550 schnapper.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. W. Smith, of Woolloomooloo, hooked a large tiger shark, off Garden Island. It dragged the boat from Garden Island to Bradley's Head before it was exhausted; when it was landed it was found to measure 14 feet in length.

Shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday morning an alarm of fire was given at Williamson's-buildings, 165, King-street, near Elizabeth-street, and a strong detachment of firemen were quickly on the spot. The fire had originated in a storeroom at the rear of a shop, both rented from Mr. J. Williamson by Mr. E. Barthel, a fancy goods dealer and general importer. His stock, which was insured with the Australian Alliance Company for £2000, was composed of clocks, jewellery, chandeliers, lamps, and a number of similar articles, of which only those in the storeroom were much damaged. The only probable cause that can be assigned for the fire is that on Thursday evening, when, according to custom, Mr. Barthel was leaving the office at 6 o'clock, he handed a cigar to a friend who had been smoking a pipe, and that live ashes may have been shaken from this pipe, and have smouldered until the goods in the storeroom caught. However that may be, a little before 3 o'clock, the caretaker, who sleeps in the building, was awakened by the fumes of smoke which filled his room; and, rushing into the street, he raised the alarm of fire. A fireman named Rainor, who lives near, responded promptly to the cry; but, instead of waiting until he could get a branch to work, or arm himself with anything more effective than a bucket, he thrust open the door of the storeroom, and the contents were at once wrapped in a sheet of flame. He sluiced away with his bucket, and fortunately several engines soon arrived and got to work in the following order:—Insurance Brigade, No. 2 Volunteer Co., City Fire Brigade, No. 3 Volunteer Co., and No. 1 Volunteer Co. When the flames were subdued it was found that the contents of the storeroom were partially destroyed, and that some of the goods in the front shop were damaged by smoke. The interior of the storeroom was considerably injured, and the premises, which were insured with the City Mutual Company, narrowly escaped. The fire was extinguished by the Insurance Brigade using their manual engine, ably assisted by the City Brigade with their engine.

The following is the report of the Benevolent Asylum from 18th February to 2nd March:—Admitted: 13 women, 9 children. Births, 9. Deaths, 2 infants. Discharged: 14 women, 21 children. Remaining in the house: 82 women, 165 children. Fresh applications for relief, 5. Provisions distributed: 1727 loaves bread, 1545 lbs. flour, 287 lbs. beef, and small quantities of oatmeal, sago, and sugar. Cases reported by the Inspector, 14. Total number relieved each week, 216.

The Glen Innes Examiner of March 2 reports that a terrible fate overtook an unfortunate young man, John Russell, and his team of five horses, on the morning of last Sunday. Russell was a carrier, and was returning from Vegetable Creek with an empty dray. All seems to have gone well till within two miles of the scene of the catastrophe had been reached, where with another carrier named Little, who had accompanied him from the creek, Russell camped on Saturday night. At dawn of day on the morning of the accident, Little asserts he heard Russell whistling, and looking out from the dray saw him harnessing his horses. This was the last that was seen of deceased alive. About two hours later, Little essayed to cross a blind gully which crossed the road, but finding it much swollen, and consequently dangerous to cross, he wisely refrained from attempting it. In looking down the gully, he noticed something in the waterhole opposite Ranger's Valley which resembled rock, about 50 yards from the road, but which on closer inspection proved to be the dead carcases of horses with harness on. Then Russell's dog was found near the spot, and subsequently his hat. This was sufficient for Little, who concluded at once that a terrible accident had happened, and immediately informed Mr. Lamotte, superintendent of Ranger's Valley, who speedily sent word to the Vegetable Creek. Search was immediately instituted, and the remains of the young fellow were found. It does not appear that any human eye witnessed the accident, and no one can say how it happened. The supposition, however, is that deceased drove the team in first—consisting of five horses, valued at £50—and seeing it in danger went to the rescue, when he was washed away.

The Richmond River Express gives the following particulars of the escape of three men from the gaol at Casino:—The prisoners made their escape in an accomplished manner; for, although they must have been out before midnight on Friday, February 20, warder Bourke was parading on duty on Saturday morning, unconscious of the fact, when, between 6 and 7, senior-constable Tippett went to the gaol to see if everything was right. Not seeing the police horses in the paddock, he inquired where they were, but the warder did not know. On visiting the stables the saddles and bridles were also found to be missing. Tippett at once asked Bourke if the prisoners were all in their cells, and the warder replied that the doors were fast when he looked that morning. Senior-constable Tippett, however, obtained the keys and opened the cell doors, when it was discovered that the three prisoners had made their escape. The slab was removed between the cells in which the prisoners were placed (Connor and Carne in one, and Young in the cell adjoining), then they had forcibly raised one of the slabs forming a loft, which are only nailed down, and through the aperture thus made had all passed, dropping from thence to the floor, the loft only extending over the cells, which form a sort of cage in the building, with a passage on either side. The opportunity having been watched till the warder was asleep, they had now only to pass quietly to the front door, which they unbolted from the inside and were free. It appears that they broke a desk open before leaving, and extracted a watch belonging to constable Leese. The warder, Bourke, who had been up the greater part of the preceding night, and who has to keep watch night and day when the police are absent on duty, as was the case on Friday, had locked and barred the prisoners' cell doors, and then lain down to sleep; at about 2 o'clock on Saturday morning, as was his wont, he got up and looked round, and, finding everything quiet and the doors locked as usual, again rested himself. He rose early on Saturday morning as related, and was on duty when senior-constable Tippett arrived.

Papers from New Zealand to the 27th ultimo state that a good deal of uneasiness has been created by the proceedings of the Maori chief, Major Kemp, at Murimotu. About two months ago it was determined by the Government to proceed with the survey of the Rangipo block so far as to provide material for making the title good in the court. The only opposition likely to be experienced in carrying out this plan was from Kemp's own tribe, who wished the Government surveyors to lay off a tribal boundary line, and who feared that if the survey of the Rangipo block once were finished they would have no means of bringing pressure to bear to get this done. The only difficulty in the way of acceding to their wishes was that this tribal boundary line would interfere with several other tribes, who strongly objected to its being done. The Government therefore consulted Mete Kingi, Kemp's superior chief, and Kemp himself, both chiefs being in receipt of Government pay, whether Kemp's personal influence could be used to prevent any trouble. Both concurred in this view, Kemp expressing his opinion that there might be a little blustering at first, but that he could easily smooth over matters. He accordingly was sent; but now it turns out that he has been playing double, and secretly instigating his followers to resist the survey until their boundary had been run. He has a small party of followers, and the chief fear is lest his insulting action may rouse the anger of Topia and the other tribes, and to irritate them into action against him. He has been peremptorily recalled by the Government.

The Brisbane Courier of Monday states that Joseph Wells, now lying under sentence of death for shooting with intent during an attempt to rob the bank at Cunnamulla, has made a written statement to the authorities, in which he implicates three other men as participants in his attempted robbery. He also alleges that the robbery was first suggested to him by a man in business in Castlereagh, New South Wales. He states that he and the others met by agreement on the Queensland border, and there it was arranged among them that he (the prisoner) should go to Cunnamulla and rob the bank, that one of the others should meet him with fresh horses after the robbery, and that the remaining two should stay behind to blind the tracks. The prisoner denies having fired at Mr. Murphy, stating that he did not take any aim or see which way the revolver was pointing when he fired. The weapon went off by accident, and, had he desired to shoot Murphy, he could easily have done so. Prisoner also points out that he saw the wounded man afterwards come out of the bank door, so that he could not have used the words which sergeant Byrne in his evidence ascribed to him: "I have stuck up the Cunnamulla bank, and, I believe, shot a man dead."

The Brisbane Courier of March 2 says:—"Information has been received to the effect that the Queensland labour schooner Lucy and Adelaide has become a total wreck, having gone ashore on the north point of Veila Harbour, near Havannah Harbour, on January 23, during a heavy squall. The accident is reported by the captain of the French schooner Aoba. The Aoba rendered what assistance was possible at the time; but all efforts to get the vessel off proved unavailing, and attention was turned to saving trade, stores, and islanders' luggage, which were all taken ashore. The ship's papers and other valuables were placed on board the Aoba, and the Lucy and Adelaide shortly afterwards broke up. Fortunately no lives were lost, and we learn that the vessel is fully covered by insurance."

The South Australian Register supplies the following particulars respecting the Strathnairn, which was lost in the Bay of Biscay on her voyage from London to Adelaide:—"The Strathnairn is a small barque of 698 tons, and was classed 12 years at Lloyd's, being built in 1876. Her owner is Mr. W. Thomson, of Dundee, and she was consigned to Messrs. Elder, Smith, and Co., of Adelaide, whose advices by last mail were to the effect that she was loading there, but was expected to leave London on or about January 29. She had a general cargo, of which about £17,000 worth was for the South Australian Government, but it is not thought she had many passengers. A portion of the cargo is insured in several of the Adelaide offices."

The Eastern Suburban Band, under the conductorship of Mr. W. Bishop, will perform the following selections of music in the Reserve at Double Bay, this afternoon, weather permitting:—Quickstep—"The Favourite" (Bishop); polka—"Waterfall" (Metcalfe); lancers—"Masquerade" (Coote); valse—"Forget Me Not," by desire (Bishop); grand march—"Rose, Shamrock, and Thistle," with solos for horns, euphoniums, and bombardons (Bishop); polka—"Double Bay," composed expressly for the Eastern Suburban Band and respectfully dedicated to their president, Mr. G. Norton Russell, by bandmaster Bishop; "God Save the Queen."

The Transvaal Argus concludes a leading article on the constitution which has been granted the Transvaal, with the following sentences:—"When sedition and lawlessness cease, when education has taught the inhabitants of the country to despise instead of following the advice of demagogues, adventurers, and disappointed place-hunters—when prosperity and peace reign within our borders, then this journal will never cease to agitate for those representative institutions which England has promised to grant. At present we are willing to 'rest and be thankful' for the form of government which her Majesty has been pleased to grant."

AMUSEMENTS.

VICTORIA THEATRE.

"Sour Grapes," as played at the Victoria Theatre by one of the strongest comedy companies that could be organized in the colony, is becoming more and more popular every night of its presentation. The actors have settled into their parts, and play them now with that ease which is so requisite for the successful performance of comedy, and yet, as each one seems to have a congenial part, the great success of the play is only what might have been expected. Mr. Vincent, who is Lord Loraine, proves his power of delicate analysis, by the complete contrast between the young peer and Reuben the farm servant, and by still marking by many little touches almost imperceptible, that Reuben is only the peer playing a part. He is throughout a chivalrous manly fellow, and in the scenes where love or jealousy has to be portrayed acts with great force. Mr. Vincent is a sterling actor, and in never straining after effect generally attains it. Mr. Douglas represents a sensible fellow whose efforts to conceal his friend's escapade get him into trouble, first with his lady love, and afterwards with his friend. A vein of dry humour runs through the part, and Mr. Douglas, as might be expected, develops it very thoroughly. Mr. Sterling Whyte plays an old farmer, and makes a feature of the part, and Mr. Jerdan as Petrel, who is the only unamiable character in the piece, does excellent work. Mr. Hall, as a rustic lover, finds a foil, and a coadjutor in making the audience laugh, in Mr. St. Lawrence, who impersonates a fop of the Dundreary school. The ladies act excellently, and every part is a study. Miss Kemble, as Lydia, plays gracefully, and in the scene with Lady Loraine, the alternations of wounded pride, anger, sorrow, and self-sacrifice which seem successively to shake her, gain her the applause of the audience. Miss Wiseman as Kate Fanshaw, looks a dainty little heiress, and acts with spirit. Mrs. Hall as Tilly is a most attractive dairymaid. Miss Merton makes Mrs. Gann the motherly old countrywoman one would expect, and Miss Mainwaring is a stately Lady Loraine. There is really nothing to find fault with in the production, and so long as the management produce plays like "Sour Grapes," with such a company as its present one to act them, the Victoria Theatre will deserve its success.

THE OPERA HOUSE.

"Les Cloches de Corneville," a comic opera in which considerable interest in these colonies has been taken, and a work that has elicited the warmest encomiums from the highest critical circles, was finally produced at the Opera House last night, in the presence of a good attendance of spectators, for the benefit of Mr. Leon—a gentleman who has earned a most enviable position in the estimation of the theatre-going section of the community. The opera was exceedingly well rendered, principals and chorus alike doing their best, and succeeding in making the last night of its production one of the most enjoyable. It is the intention of Messrs. Kelly and Leon to retire from their arduous professional duties for a period, and last night may therefore be regarded as the occasion of their final appearance for some time. This evening Mr. and Mrs. Lingard, after a prolonged absence, will produce "Our Boys," a comedy in which both artists have sustained the leading parts for considerably over five hundred nights. The lesser parts are placed in very able hands, and the production of Byron's best-known work should prove particularly pleasant and result successfully. The entertainment will conclude with several of Mr. Lingard's sketches—or perhaps, more truly speaking, facial caricatures—of various public celebrities.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

The performance at the Queen's Theatre last night was for the benefit of Messrs. Waters and Kelly, the favourite acrobatic song and dance performers; and during the evening a presentation was made to the artists, in a neat and appropriate speech, by Mr. Davis. To-night the programme will be entirely changed, and will conclude with a "Black Pantomime," in which the most prominent members of both the Mammoth Minstrels and the Loftus Troupe will appear.

At the Theatre Royal this evening, for one night only, the drama "Across the Continent" will be produced. This work, it will be remembered, had a prosperous run a short while ago at this house, and has merits enough to warrant the expectation of a successful performance on the present occasion. On Thursday evening next the Misses Alice and Constance Deorwyn are announced to take a benefit, and with great kindness Mr. Lazar has placed the theatre at their disposal, and numbers of professional ladies and gentlemen have offered their services. The young ladies to whom the benefit is so generously tendered have been most prominently before the public for some years, steadily and invariably improving their position, and increasing the high estimation in which they have ever been held; and no doubt their popularity will be fully attested by the audience that will assemble on the occasion. They deserve well, and it is scarcely to be expected that their merits will pass unrecognised.

The Circus, at the corner of Hunter and Castlereagh streets, finish their season to-night, after which they perform through the suburbs for a week, commencing at Balmain on Monday. A matinée is to be given to-day, at 2 o'clock, for the benefit of Jack Cousins, better known as Young Australia. This lad certainly displays great skill in the profession he has adopted, and being a Sydney native, no doubt his young townsfolk will give him a substantial token of their appreciation.

A benefit is to be given this evening, at the Guild Hall, to Mr. J. C. Williams, the pedestrian, who undertakes to walk 55 miles in 10 hours, the feat closing at 7 p.m.

The French Sugar Industry.—An inquiry has lately been made among those who are interested in the sugar trade of France, with a view of modifying the present high duties upon sugar, which have a serious effect upon its consumption. The following table gives the particulars of the production and consumption in kilogrammes for the last ten years:—1869-70—production, 290,000,000; consumption, 279,000,000. 1870-71—production, 283,000,000; consumption, 294,000,000. 1871-72—production, 335,000,000; consumption, 284,000,000. 1872-73—production, 408,000,000; consumption, 185,000,000. 1873-74—production, 396,000,000; consumption, 252,000,000. 1874-75—production, 450,000,000; consumption, 231,000,000. 1875-76—production, 462,000,000; consumption, 284,000,000. 1876-77—production, 243,000,000; consumption, 286,000,000. 1878-73—production, 398,000,000; consumption, 259,000,000. 1878-79—production, 420,000,000; consumption, 266,000,000. It is evident that the consumption has by no means kept pace with the increase of production—a fact which is partly to be accounted for by the heavy and constantly increasing duties. These were in 1860-61 per 100 kilogrammes, 33f.; 1862-63, 45f.; 1864-70, 47f.; 1871-72, 61f.; 1873, 70f. 50c.; 1874-78, 73f. 32. Great Britain, on the other hand, with her constantly-diminishing duties, which disappeared finally in 1874, has a consumption which increased from 450,000,000 kilogrammes in 1860 to 918,000,000 in 1878.

A line of railway, says an English trade journal, is at present in course of construction, which, when completed, will traverse a state so absolutely forlorn of iron, raw or manufactured, that its inhabitants are stated to be as ignorant of that metal's uses as were the inhabitants of Switzerland during the age of flint. The rails of the Inter-oceanic Mexican line, destined to cross the Isthmus of Tehauntepec, cannot fail to create a lively sensation in Chiapas, the State in question, where the metallic appliances of Western civilization, from a tenpenny nail to a Krupp eighty-ton cannon are utterly unknown. Within a circle of 80 miles round the capital of Chiapas, Palenque, no smithy or ironmonger's shop is visible to the nakedest eye of the most observant traveller. The several parts of all articles of furniture are kept together by cords or vine tendrils, and no atom of metal enters into the construction of vehicles, cooking utensils, or implements used in the practice of any handicraft. It is impossible, under these circumstances, to conjecture what impression will be produced upon the minds of the primitive Chiapasians by the first express train which flits through their territory, its locomotive alone representing a greater weight of iron than has hitherto been introduced into Chiapas by foreign enterprise ever since the first discovery of America.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

AUSTRALIAN ELEVEN v. FIFTEEN OF VICTORIA.

[By Telegraph.]
(from our own correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The final match in Victoria of the Australian Eleven, before their departure for Adelaide, and thence to England, was commenced to-day against Fifteen of Victoria, on the Melbourne Cricket Ground. The weather was fine, but close; and there was only a small attendance. B. B. Cooper, captain of the Fifteen, won the toss, and decided that the Eleven should go to the wickets. Boyle is captain of the Eleven. The wickets were rather dead, owing to the showers which fell the previous night. A. Bannerman and Murdoch were first sent to the wickets. Kendall starting the bowling to A. Bannerman. C. Bannerman was umpire for the Eleven, Costick acting for the Fifteen. The first wicket did not fall until 40 was hoisted on the telegraph board, when Murdoch was splendidly caught by Kendall off M'Shane. A. Bannerman was shortly afterwards neatly disposed of by Terry off Coulthard, and Blackham was dismissed by W. H. Cooper. Coulthard's next over succeeded in disturbing Alexander's sticks (4-0-70), and when eight more runs had been added to the total, Cooper got a straight one past M'Donnell, who had scored 19. The South Australian representative (Jarvis), scored 21 before being run out. He played a very careful innings, but appeared somewhat nervous at first. Bonner made a dozen, when a straight one from Coulthard sent him back to the pavilion, and Boyle was dismissed by the slow bowler for 16. Spofforth only made a single when he stepped out to a slow one from Coulthard and, missing it, paid the penalty. Slight and Palmer then got together and advanced the score from 127 to 202 when the former was caught by Tobin off Coulthard, and the innings closed.

The Victorian captain sent M'Shane and Groube to the wickets, against the bowling of Spofforth and Alexander, Blackham being at his usual post, behind the stumps. M'Shane was immediately disposed of by Alexander for one, and Trinnick, who succeeded was soon caught off the same bowler by Slight. When the stumps were drawn for the day Groube was not out for 9; and Terry, who succeeded Trinnick, not out for nought; the score standing at two wickets for 15 runs. The match will be resumed to-morrow. Subjoined are the individual scores:—

BOWLING.

Annandale v. Parramatta.—The third match between the above clubs will take place this day, at Annandale, commencing at 3 o'clock. The respective teams will be entertained at lunch by the president (Mr. John Young) at 1.30, and at 2.30 a large steamer will leave the Erskine-street Wharf, conveying the members of the Annandale Club and their friends and visitors to the ground. In addition to the bowling match the ladies will be entertained at archery, croquet, dancing, &c. The following are the respective players: Parramatta—No. 1 Rink: N. Stewart, J. W. E. Baillie, A. Johnson, N. Payten (captain). Annandale—No. 1 Rink: J. T. Davenport, John Young, Henry Woolnough, W. Travers (captain). Parramatta—No. 2 Rink: H. A. Richardson, Dr. Brown, A. Payten, W. Burkitt (captain); emergency, C. H. Spier. Annandale—No. 2 Rink: R. Shankland, T. R. Allt, J. Allerton, T. C. Hinchcliffe (captain); emergency, A. C. Johnson.

INTERCOLONIAL EIGHT-OAR RACE.

The forthcoming Intercolonial Eight-oar Race is beginning to cause some excitement in aquatic circles. The boat is now completed, with the exception of the swivel rowlocks and sliding seats. These left by the Rodondo yesterday. The crew were out again last evening, and several members of the Rowing Association were present to witness their performances. It is the prevailing opinion among those capable of judging that the crew will acquit themselves with credit. All the men possess youthful vigour, and have unmistakable signs of endurance. The zealous attention they pay to their practice is very praiseworthy. The men will leave Sydney, by the overland route, about the 26th instant, and will, in all probability, take up their quarters at St. Kilda, as being more healthy than Footscray. Arrangements will shortly be made for a steam-launch to accompany the men occasionally during their practice, to afford members of the Association an opportunity of seeing the crew.

PORT JACKSON SWIMMING CLUB.

The first series of matches in connection with the newly inaugurated Port Jackson Swimming Club, was held yesterday afternoon, at Foley's Baths, Woolloomooloo Bay. There were no fewer than seventeen events set down on the programme, all of which, with the exception of three, were contested, and afforded excellent sport to the spectators, who mustered to the number of fully 300. Had the matches taken place on a Saturday afternoon instead of Friday, there would most probably have been a much larger gathering. As it was, however, sufficient interest was manifested to show that the club has met a decided want, and that its future prosperity enlists the sympathy of a goodly section of the public. The German Band was present, and performed suitable selections of music in their usual finished style, thereby adding not a little to the pleasure of the tournament. The officers and committee were attentive to their duties, and considering that it was the club's first series of matches, are deserving of every praise for the completeness of their arrangements. In this particular, Mr. W. Wynne, the president, deserves special mention, as he was most assiduous and energetic, and to him in a great measure, is to be ascribed the success of the affair. Lieutenant Von Hammer, instructor to the club, acted as starter, and gave general satisfaction. The swimming throughout was very creditable, and some of Lieutenant Von Hammer's younger pupils showed in a very marked degree how they had profited by his instruction. The following is a brief account of the different events:—

Boys' Race, under 14, 50 yards; open to all. Prize, silver medal. P. Symonds 1, J. Devitt 2, T. Peters 0. A very good race; won by about a yard.

Swimming on Back, 50 yards; members of the Club only. Prize, silver medal. G. H. Kohler 1, A. J. Espie 2. Kohler showed to advantage in style, which enabled him to win by about four yards.

Running Headers, for boys under 16; open to all. Prize, silver medal. G. H. Kohler 1, R. Stephens 2, J. Hall 0. Hall did not show up, and Kohler was awarded the prize.

Men's Race, 300 yards; open to all comers. Prize—Gold medal. H. L. Mater 1, J. Lord 2, G. H. Kohler 3, G. C. Allen, W. E. P. Parry, J. S. Barrow. Allen did not start. Lord went away with a strong lead, but did not keep it long, being displaced by Mater, whose steady breast swimming was much admired. Kohler also swam well, the others were beaten off. Mater ultimately won by about ten yards, Lord second, and Kohler third.

The next event was, "rescuing a drowning person in the shortest time, and in the most satisfactory manner." Unfortunately a "drowning person" was'nt handy, so one of the members of the club "made believe." He swam out into the centre of the baths, and lay floating in the water until he was "rescued" by the contestants. Three were entered, viz.: Messrs. F. Tullidge, A. J. Bloomfield, and Lieutenant von Hammer, but the latter did not compete. Tullidge succeeded in bringing the "body" ashore in forty seconds, while Bloomfield only took thirty. Dr. Belgrave, however, who acted as judge, awarded the prize to Tullidge, as he considered that his method of procedure was the more satisfactory. The prize was a bronze clock, value £5, presented by Mr. A. Bechet. Dr. Belgrave then gave an exhibition of restoring animation to the apparently drowned on the same "subject." He stated that he gave the preference to Dr. Silvester's method, a person who had been in the water twelve minutes and a half having been resuscitated by that method; while two other persons who had been immersed at the same time, and who were treated according to the Marshall method, and afterwards put into a warm bath, did not recover.

Lieutenant Von Hammer's Pupils Handicap Race, 50 yards. Prize, medal. R. Forsyth 1, T. Mulhall 2. Very close race.

For boys under 14, diving for distance. Prize, cricket bat. There were three entries, but only one, W. Hunt, showed at the scratch, and he was awarded the prize.

Half-mile Champion Race, open to all comers. Prize, silver cup. There were ten entries for this event, as follows:—Messrs. W. Wynne, G. C. Allen, A. J. Bloomfield, J. Goodie, H. L. Mater, J. L. Barrow, H. Tytherleigh, J. Coleman, J. Lord, and E. Harman. This was the race of the day, and a great deal of interest was taken in it. Goodie jumped away with the lead, closely followed by Wynne and Mater, the others also being well up. Very little change took place till the length of the baths had been covered four times, when Wynne, who had been swimming a beautiful side stroke and gaining gradually, passed Goodie, and took up premier position. Mater also shot ahead of Goodie, who shortly afterwards gave up. From this out the men retained their respective positions, with the exception that Barrow, who swam most pluckily, succeeded in passing Mater and made a gallant struggle to overhaul Wynne, but without success. At the finish, Wynne was about 30 yards ahead of Barrow, who was second. The others were some distance further in the rear.

For boys under 14, diving for objects; prize, new hat. There were five entries, but only three put in an appearance, and W. Hunt was the winner.

Lieutenant von Hammer then appeared in a military suit, and armed with a double-barrelled breech-loading gun. He descended into the water, and after floating on his back for some time loaded the gun and fired both barrels; after which he reloaded and fired them again. He was loudly applauded.

The next event was diving for distance, open to all comers. Prize, silver medal. There were three entries, viz., E. Harman, C. Harris, and A. Goodie. Harman dived first, and went about forty-five yards in almost a straight line. Harris then tried, and, in the opinion of most of the spectators, went some yards further; but as he did not go nearest to further side of the bath, as stipulated before they started, the prize was given to Harman. Goodie went about half the distance.

The Members' Maiden Race, 200 yards, for a silver medal, was a gift to A. J. Espie, neither of the other two who entered putting in an appearance.

The next event was Swimming in Clothes, 50 yards (open to all), prize handsome framed chromo-lithograph, value £1 1s. A. Blomfield 1, G. H. Kohler 2, J Bobart 3. There were five entries, but only three went to the scratch, viz., G. Kohler, J. Bobart, and A. Bloomfield, and, after a good race, the latter won.

For Undressing in the Water, prize a silver medal, there were five entries, but one did not come to the scratch. G. Kohler won, completing the task in 45 seconds.

For floating, fancy swimming, and general excellence. Prize, a silver medal; there were eight entries. F. Tullidge was adjudged the winner.

The tournament concluded with a duck hunt, which caused considerable excitement, but only for a few seconds, as the duck, or rather goose, was caught almost immediately by several of the contestants, and it was difficult to say who was the winner. The goose did not appear to enjoy the fun.

THE PATTI CONCERTS.

The seventh concert of Madame Carlotta Patti's series was given last night in the Theatre Royal. The audience was demonstratively appreciative. The most tumultuous greeting was awarded to Madame Carlotta Patti on her appearance, and each solo was received with an enthusiasm which must have been as gratifying to the recipient as it was creditable to the donors. The charming old Irish melody, "The Last Rose of Summer" was announced on the programme as from "Martha," by Flotow. It is true that Flotow used the tune and it pervades his opera; but long before Flotow was born, and long after his music is forgotten, the sweet strains of the "Groves of Blarney" adapted to Tom Moore's words will live and be sung. An encore follows every solo of Madame Patti, as a necessary appendage, and the wondrous performance of the old Hibernian melody, with all the embellishments that the most elaborate art can supply, created a furore, to which the singer—after twice bowing her acknowledgments—responded by repeating "Mia Piccarèlla," from "Salvator Rosa." In the second part the solo proper was a tarantella, composed expressly for the gifted executante by Bevignani, in which the melodious phrases rippled forth delightfully; to this succeeded "Within a mile of Edinboro' Town," of which, by this time, it is unnecessary to speak, because all Sydney will have heard the startling interpretation, and have been amused with the intensely comic archness which the singer infuses into the close of each verse. A third time Mdme. Patti's name appeared on the programme, the last time in conjunction with that of her husband, Mr. Ernest De Munck, who played a 'cello accompaniment to a serenade of Gounod. It was a charming number, and had it not been the final one would have been encored.

The great 'cellist played magnificently, first a fantasie by his favourite teacher, M. Servais, which exhibited his technical powers and displayed his rare skill admirably. In the second part the Romance of Saint Saëns elicited an encore, when Alari's morceau, "Lac de Como," was substituted. It is not possible to over-estimate the artistic power and cultivated taste of Mr. De Munck.

Signor Ciampi Cellaj is fast recovering from his indisposition, and despite the tremolo or vibrato which he has unwisely, in our opinion, adopted, his otherwise sound training and the fine quality of his voice are making rapid strides in public favour. His songs, "Il Balen," our very old friend from "Trovatore," and a bolero by Lucantoli were each heartily encored, the first substitution was "Giami di Calais," by Donizetti, and the second "L'impossibile," by Gordigiana, which was much approved.

Signor Giorza played his familiar transcription "La Zingari," and for the re-demand one of his waltzes "Encore!"

The three final concerts are announced for Monday, Wednesday, and Friday next week. On Monday, Madame Carlotta Patti will sing a grand aria from "Linda di Chamouni," Rode's famous variations, and a duo from "Don Giovanni" with Signor Ciampi.

Mr. De Munck will play the Adagio from his own premier concerto and air of Bach, from his suite in D. In addition to this he will be the first violin in Mozart's quartet dedicated to the King of Prussia. Signor Ortori, Herr Hegrat, and Mr. Rice are engaged for the remaining parts. It will be a novelty for Sydney to hear a quartet properly performed, and Mozart's music is always acceptable.

The next concert will be given on Monday evening.

A Fundamentally New Phenomenon in Electricity.—An account of "a fundamentally new phenomenon in electricity, not explicable by anything hitherto known," is given in the American Journal of Mathematics, which is published under the auspices of the John Hopkins University. The definition of the new action is not yet certainly made out, but it appears to be that, if we say that the direction of a galvanic current is from the negative to the positive, then a magnet tends to deflect the current within the conductor in the same direction in which it tends to turn the conductor itself. The discoverer is Mr. E. H. Hall, assistant in the laboratory of Professor Rowland, to whose encouragement and assistance the discovery was in large measure due. The Nation, commenting on the subject, observes that the fact discovered will be a complete surprise to physicists, and its importance to the theory of electricity can hardly be over-estimated. It may be justly said that no discovery equally "fundamental" has been made within the past fifty years.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Iron Shipbuilding Trade.—The totals of vessels and tonnage launched in 1879 in what is known as the Tyne district are as follow:—The Tyne, 130 vessels, 139,843 tons; the Wear, 65 vessels, 92,176 tons; the Tees, 25 vessels, 31,756 tons; the Hartlepools, 20 vessels, 27,644 tons; Whitby six vessels, 9526 tons. Totals in Tyne district, 246 vessels, 300,945 tons, as compared with the Clyde, which has built 191 vessels and 168,460 tons. Among the vessels of a special class built on the Tyne last year were torpedo boats for Government, gunboats for harbour defence for China, and six vessels built of steel. Four twin-screw gunboats to be built of steel, a telegraph cable steamer, two Brazilian mail steamers, and a mail paddle-steamer for the North Sea are also on hand in the building yards upon the same river. In consequence of the large number of new steamers on hand in the building yards of the north-east coast, marine engine building is greatly improving in Newcastle, Sunderland, the Hartlepools, and the Tees, and there is an active demand for iron plates and angles.

STOCK, STATION, AND PRODUCE REPORTS.

Sullivan and Simpson.—Stations: We have had some inquiries for these properties during the week, but since the success of sending fresh meat to England by the Strathleven, holders are much firmer in their demands, particularly now that wool has advanced so considerably in price. Fat Cattle: As usual, lately, the market considerably over-supplied. 2000 forward again this week, and dragging sales from beginning to end the result; indeed, while meat is carcassed at the Abattoirs at the extremely low rates now ruling there, prices cannot improve, and we are glad to find a movement on foot to establish a company for the export of fresh meat to England, and the sooner it is carried into effect the better for the graziers, for we can only this week quote best beef worth 18s per 100 lbs.; fair to good 12s; all others proportionately, and even these ridiculously low prices would not have been obtained had it not been for the manager of the Sydney Meat Company, Mr. Gee, purchasing largely. We have this week sold 186 bullocks, on account of Messrs. W. J. Dangar and Co., at an average of £4 13s 7d. Fat Sheep: 13,000 forward for the week's supply. Though this number was in excess of requirements, prices would have improved compared with last week's values, had it not been that the wholesale buyers had a large number on hand from previous purchases, and until these are worked off, we cannot see much prospect of prices improving. We quote prime merino wethers worth 9s by the flock, a little extra for a few small lots; fair to good, 8s to 8s 6d; and middling, 6s to 6s 6d. Store Stock: We have had inquiries for well-grown wethers of fattening ages that have been shorn early; also for good ewes for breeding purposes, and shall be glad to get particulars of any large flocks for sale. We have this week sold (subject to approval) 10,000 maiden ewes, at 10s per head.—March 5.

Maiden, Hill, and Clark.—Fat Cattle: On Monday fair to good quality, with a few prime. There was a small attendance of the trade, and sales opened dull, and continued so throughout. Thursday's sales were even worse than Monday, although the number yarded was not so large, still the heavy supplies forward lately from week to week has tended to accumulate stocks in the hands of the trade, and caused a decline in values. Best qualities cannot be quoted over 12s 6d per 100 lbs., seconds 10s, others at boiling rates. We anticipate a slight improvement towards the end of this month, as the bulk of the supply from the Western Districts is now easing off comparatively. Our sales have been—205 cows, from Telleraga, at £2 15s 6d; 35 cows (T. and M. E. Maher's, Warramine) at £3 6s 7d; and 11 bullocks at £3 10s. Fat Sheep: The supply during the week chiefly of good useful descriptions, which accounts for the difference in prices to those lately ruling, although no improvement can be noted in the market; still the cheering news of the improved state of the London wool market must give a hardening tone to this description of stock, and we look for better prices, especially in best descriptions, which from this out must realise fairly well. The great demand that exists for stores of all descriptions must also tend to shorten the supply. 56-lb. wethers are worth 8s 6d to 9s, 57 lbs. 7s 6d to 8s, and others proportionately. Our sales have been—2222 wethers for Mr. James Ashcroft, Canonbar (travelled in), at 7s 3d to 7s 9d; 300, Cobb and Co.'s, at 8s 9d to 8s 10d; 360, T. R. Icely's, at 8s 8d to 9s 2d; and 194, M'Intosh and Oake's, at 8s 11d to 9s 2d.—March 5.

Maiden, Hill, and Clark.—Wool: Competition continues very spirited for all descriptions, and every line offered realized very satisfactory prices. The number of bales now brought forward is very limited, both as regards quantity and choice, and we purpose from this out to hold fortnightly sales during the off season. The London sales now progressing continue very animated, and prices have advanced considerably, and have every appearance of maintaining their firmness. Quotations here are—For greasy, 6d to 12d; scoured, 16d to 22d; fleece, 14d to 20d per lb. Sheepskins: The favourable news from London has had the effect of hardening values, one line of full-fleeced realising as much as 8¼d per lb. this week. All offered met with keen competition at for pelts, 3d to 4d; fair growth, 4¼d to 5¼d; full-woolled, 5d to 7¼d per lb. Leather: Market is a trifle easier for all descriptions. The London market having fallen a little has weakened this market for sole. Basils remain scarce; choice lines of kip and tweed create good competition. Quotations are—Sole, 8¼d to 11d; kip, 12d to 16d; calf, 19d to 24d; tweed, 18d to 25d; harness, 10d to 13d per lb.; bag, 9s to 12s 6d; bridle, 10s to 11s per side; basils, 5s to 12s 6d per dozen. Tallow: The market, if anything, shows a slight decline upon last week's rates, shippers operating at reduced prices only, and the local trade holding off. We cleared our catalogue at, for beef, £20 to £26; mixed, £17 to £20 per ton. Hides: Market was well supplied to-day, and prices on the whole may be quoted the same as those ruling last week. Shippers operated freely, and tanners seemed desirous of replenishing their stocks. We cleared every line at—for heavies, 3¾d to 3¾d; medium weights, 3¼d to 3¾d; light, 3¼d to 3¾d; dry, 3d to 4d per lb. Horsehides, 3s to 7s; calf 9d to 3s; yearlings, 3s 6d to 5s each. Hair: Market firm, all offered brought fully last week's rates, viz.:—Horsetail, 15d to 15d; mixed, 8d to 10d; cow, 4d to 10d per lb. Horns and Bones: Buyers not eager to operate upon any but really good lines. We quote horns 10s to 30s per 100; bones, £4 to £10 per ton. Beeswax: Shippers are operating at fair prices for prime quality. Quotations are: 7d to 11d per lb., according to quality.—March 5.

P. N. Trebeck.—I observe a better disposition to invest in good sheep-stations. Buyers are willing to give good prices for properties that will give a good return on the capital. I note the sale of New Turee Station at a fair price. I have this week closed the sale of a good sheep and cattle property, and have other stations under offer. Cattle-stations are not so much inquired for, but I am negotiating for one in Northern Queensland. Store Cattle: Buyers will only do business at low prices. I have had negotiations during the week, but no sales have resulted. Bullocks are worth 40s to 50s per head, and mixed cattle, 2 to 6 years, 30s to 35s per head. Store Sheep: There is an active demand for both young ewes and wethers, and I could place four or five lots of 4000 to 10,000 at a fair price. Good wethers are worth 5s 6d to 5s 9d; young ewes, 7s 9d to 9s 6d; extra well-bred up to 11s to 12s. Fat Cattle: I cannot report any improvement in these. The best yards have barely maintained their last week's rates, and inferior have given way slightly. Best beef is worth 11s to 13s per 100 lbs.; medium, 10s; inferior, about 8s to 8s 6d per 100 lb. Fat Sheep: The market is a little firmer, and if the stocks held by the trade were worked off we should see better prices. 56-lb. wethers are worth 8s 6d to 9s; medium, 7s 6d to 8s; crossbreds up to 9s 3d.—March 4.

Griffiths and Weaver.—Stations: We have only heard of one station being sold this week, New Turee, near Coolah, with 21,500 sheep, 12,467 acres purchased and secured land, 250 cattle, horses, stores, plants, &c., for £21,645. Fat Cattle: 2009 forward this week. Of these 988 were sold on Monday, and 872 on Thursday, the balance being held over for next sales. All qualities were represented. Prices without alteration, say 11s to 12s per 100 lbs. for the best in; medium, 10s. Fat Sheep: 13,873 formed the week's supply; prices unaltered; 56-lb. wethers are worth 8s 6d to 9s; 50-lb., 7s to 7s 6d; medium and superior, dull of sale at a little over store rates. Store Stock: Our sales have been—5000 Tambo wethers at 6s; 500 crossbred ewes, on account of Mr. Thomas Rutledge, at 10s; 30 Lincoln ewes, on account of Mr. W. F. Buchanan, at 40s; and 8500 wethers, on account of Mr. H. B. Welsh (in conjunction with Messrs. Pitt, Son, and Badgery), at 5s 6d. Also we have closed for 1000 bullocks at £3 per head, subject to approval, and have several other large lots superior bullocks for sale.—March 4.

Pitt, Son, and Badgery.—Stations: It is now the general impression that squatting securities will rapidly improve in favour, and as we know of plenty of capital open for investment, we may naturally look for an improvement under this head. Fat Cattle: We have had more than sufficient for the week's supply, and prices are low. Had it not been for a fair sprinkling of country buyers, and the liberal operations of the Meat Company's manager, it is hard to say to what medium quality would have got down to. The best cattle forward on Monday for weight and quality were Mr. Lomax's, from Miedle, and on Thursday Messrs. Dangar's and Cook's. We have a prospect of better prices in a few weeks, but the rise will be very gradual. Our sales have been—114 bullocks (Vickery's) at £4 0s 9d; 29 ditto (Gale's), £3 7s 1d; 32 (Newcommen), £3 10s 7d; 143 cows (ditto), at £2 15s 4d; 127 cows (Cook's), at £3 8s 8d; 52 bullocks (Chisholm's), at £3 10s 7d; 148 cows (ditto), at £3 1s 4d; 127 cows (Cook's), at £3 9s 8d; 52 bullocks (Chisholm's), at £5 8s 6d. We quote—Best prime bullocks at £5 to £5 10s; fair to good, £4 to £4 10s; medium, £3 10s; inferior at under outside store rates. Fat Sheep: As the pots are engaged now boiling, and the home prices for wool are satisfactory, we are enabled to work off surplus, and obtain satisfactory rates for prime lots. We quote best merino wethers 9s to 9s 6d; fair to good, 7s 9d to 8s; medium, 6s 6d; inferior, 5s. We have sold 400 at 8s 8d to 8s 11d; 200, 7s 3d to 7s 6d. Fat Calves: Market fairly supplied, and prices about same, best quality making 15s to 35s. Fat Lambs: A full supply forward of medium to prime quality, the latter, from Liverpool Plains, were especially good. We sold 40 (Thompson's) medium, averaging 8s; 32 ditto (Ranken's), ditto, 8s 6d; 14 shorn small at 4s 6d; 60 at 6s. Store Cattle: We have enquiry for large lots, and can place all ages at better prices. Store Sheep: There is a good healthy general demand for all sorts. We have sold, in conjunction with Messrs. Griffiths and Weaver, 8500 wethers for H. B. Welsh, of the Meadows, to Messrs. Sawyers and Wilson, of Bundabulla. Horses: Many lots have been forward lately, and only the best sorts sell fairly; light and medium sell badly, and the market all round is not so firm. We sold 11 for the A. K. O. and M. Co. at an average of £21 10s—the best prices being £30 10s, for Mr. G. Bowen; a draft, the heavy portion averaging £28 3s, light £4 17s 6d, for Mr. D. M'Lean; 20 light, averaging £6 11s, for Mr. King; ditto 22s 6d to £8 15s—Holland at £20, Archer at £8, Barry at £5 10s, and sundry small lots.—March 5.

Ross and Hipgrave.—Stations: At auction this week New Turee station, in the Liverpool Plains district, with 21,500 sheep, and a large area of purchased land, changed hands at a satisfactory price. We also note the sale of the cattle station Manna and Little Cadon. The important rise in wool is bringing these securities into more favour than they have been for some time. We hope shortly to report the sales of some valuable properties that are now being negotiated for. Fat Cattle: For the week a full supply was forward. Prime lots realized prices equal to last week; but for medium a reduction of 5s to 10s per head had to be submitted to. Fat Sheep: 13,500 penned for the week, being a full supply, after the large number that the market had last week. At the closing sales prices fell about 9d per head, 56 lb. wethers are worth 8s 9d to 9s, and lighter weights in proportion. Store Cattle: There are a few buyers for bullocks of fattening ages, but at prices that vendors in most instances decline accepting. The fat cattle market must improve before any important business can be done. Store Sheep: The demand for good young sheep is still brisk, with very few suitable lots offering. Many large lots have been withdrawn from sale.—March 3.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin.—Wool: 977 bales offered this week, and 830 were sold. The very favourable cablegrams being received daily respecting the London February sales have caused a still further rise in our market, and prices here obtained show an advance of ½d to 1d per lb. as compared with those realised at the previous week's sales. Our wool season may now be said to have closed, that which still remains to be offered being chiefly remnants of clips and odd bales, and we expect that sales will shortly be held only once a fortnight. Prices ranged from 13d to 15d for medium; greasy, fair quality, 9d to 11d; medium and faulty, 7d to 8¼d; scoured, good, 19d to 23¼d; medium, 15d to 18¼d; skin and inferior, 10d to 14¼d. Sheepskins: At our last sale we obtained better value than we have done for two seasons past. Competition was very brisk, and prices ranged: Best, 6d to 8d; second quality, 4d to 5¼d; inferior and mixed lots, 2d to 3¾d. No scoured skins were sold. We cleared our catalogue of 44 lots at above prices. Tallow: 725 casks offered, 407 sold. The demand this week was again very fair for shipping and trade parcels, and a good quantity was sold at low rates. Quotations—Best mutton, £26 to £27; best beef, £24 to £25 10s; mixed and station, £20 to £22 10s. Hides: 4892 offered, 4293 sold. The market this week was rather firmer, there being a steady demand for local and shipping purposes. At our sale on Friday we disposed of 1859. The sales ranged—Extra heavy, 3¾d to 3¾d; medium, 3¼d to 3¾d; light and middling, 3d to 3¾d. Leather: The market remains about the same as when last reported, and, the demand being very fair, we again disposed of a large quantity at full rates. Quotations—Sole, best, 9d to 9¾d; medium, 7¼d to 8d; kip, best, 14¾d to 15¼d; medium, 13¼d to 14d; yearling, 23d to 24d; harness, 11d to 11¼d; bridle, 11s to 12s. Tin: The home market has varied rather during the week, tin there being worth £98 10s at present time. Metal is in fair demand here, and ore sells readily at same prices as we have had for many weeks past. Grain: Market for wheat rather quiet, but demand very fair, and prices range from 4s 6d to 4s 9d for best samples.—March 5.

Wilkinson, Graves, Minchin, and Lavender's Sydney, Wagga Wagga, and Hay Report.—Fat Cattle: Largely supplied. Prime cattle made fully last week's rates, whilst medium cattle, of which there were a large number, sold with difficulty at a reduction of 5s to 10s per head. We sold 216 bullocks, for Mr. Oswald Bloxsome, to £4 10s, averaging £3 12s. Fat Calves: This is a most uncertain market. Quotations—Best calves, 25s to 30s; others, 10s to 15s. Fat Sheep: 15,560 were penned this week, which after the supply of 23,000 last week was more than trade requirements. On Monday late rate were obtained, but to-day, Thursday, a reduction had to be submitted to, of about 9d, before the large flocks could be cleared. No ewes forward. We sold 2000 merino wethers for Mr. James Richmond, Haddon Rig, at from 7s 6d to 8s, and 2200 wethers for Messrs. W. H. Armstrong and Brothers, Gallabri, at 7s 3d. Fat Lambs: This market is very uncertain. Quotations—Good lambs, 6s 6d to 10s; medium, 7s to 7s 6d; inferior, 4s 6d to 5s 6d. Store Cattle: The demand continues limited, and all descriptions are very dull of sale. We have some really good lots on our books, but sales are most difficult to effect. Store Sheep: We note an increased inquiry for all descriptions, more especially for good wethers to 6-tooth, young ewes and weaners, the demand for these classes of sheep being beyond the supply. Our sales this week are—for Messrs. M'Queen and Co., Nap Nap, 3200 2 and 4 tooth ewes, to Mr. R. Cox, Marrar; for Messrs. M'Phail and Loughlin, Toogimbie, 5500 ewes, 2 and 4 tooth, to Messrs. Swift and Hann, Mimosa; for Messrs. Cumming and Co., Gunbar, 5000 ewes, 2 tooth, to Messrs. John M'Donald and Co., Mingie Bindie; and for Messrs. Barber and Barber, Euglo, 3300 wethers, 4-tooth, to Mr. John Reid, Tabratong. Stations: The favourable turn squatting matters have lately taken is having its effect on this market, and we note an improved inquiry for well situated lightly stocked properties.—March 4.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin.—Stations: On Wednesday we offered at our salerooms New Turee, Croppy Creek, Colleybine, and Boberdeen stations, in the district of Bligh, and disposed of same as follows: 21,500 sheep at 8s 1d per head, 250 head of cattle at £3 per head, 40 horses at £3 per head, 3948 acres purchased land at 25s per acre, 8528 acres of conditional purchased and improved land at 12s 6d per acre, working plant, furniture, &c., at valuations: total amount of sale, £21,645 19s 9d. Fat Cattle: The quality of those penned on Monday were from fair to prime, sales opening with a good attendance of town and country buyers, closing rates being slightly firmer than last week. We quote prime bullocks and choice heifers from 12s 6d to 14s; medium and middling, 10s to 11s per 100 lbs. On Thursday quality was from middling to very prime, but owing to the low price now ruling for beef at the Abattoirs—viz., 1d per lb.—buyers are not disposed to operate at high rates. We sold, on account of Messrs. H. Fletcher and Co., 48 bullocks from £3 13s to £7, 58 cows from £3 10s to £5 15s; on account of Mr. James Moseley, 90 bullocks from £3 11s to £6 4s, 38 cows from £3 to £3 14s; 38 bullocks from £3 8s to £3 17s, 8 cows from £2 19s to £3 3s; on account of Mr. T. C. Ash, 34 bullocks from £3 19s to £4 11s. Fat Sheep: 14,000 penned for the week—quality being from stores to medium, with a few prime, and for these fair figures were obtained. The carcase trade being large, holders purchased very cautiously. We quote—60-lbs. at 9s 6d, 50-lbs. at 8s, 44-lbs. at 6s. Lambs: A short supply, and prices slightly firmer. We sold—350 wethers from 9s 1d to 9s 4d, on account of Messrs. Hamlet, Fletcher, and Co.; 1350 wethers, at 8s; 1030 wethers, from 7s 6d to 7s 9d, on account of Mr. Isaac Shepherd; 500 wethers, from 8s 3d to 8s 8d, on account of Mr. Gibbs; 500 wethers, from 8s 3d to 8s 6d, on account of Mr. W. Lee; 433 wethers, at 5s 7d, on account of Mr. Stephen White; 170 lambs, from 6s 9d to 8s, on account of Messrs. Clift, Brothers. Store Cattle: No improvement at present, but it is confidently expected that the success of the Strathleven venture will help shortly to improve the tone of the market. Store Sheep: No fresh business to report, and we do not notice any change in inquiry.—March 5.

William Inglis.—Fat Cattle: The supply still continues very heavy, preventing any improvement in prices. Best beef sells at 12s per 100; second quality ditto, 10s. Sheep: Supply equal to requirements. Best wethers, heavy weights, sell from 7s 6d to 9s. Milch Cows: There was a very fair sale again this week, and good prices ruled throughout. I sold 39 from £2 2s 6d to £9 5s. Calves: There was a very large supply in, which caused prices to slightly recede, though not to the low figures of a month ago. I sold 214, the principal lots being 58 (Jamison's) to 17s; 30 (Cooper's), to 20s, and the others from 4s 6d to 19s. Lambs: Market dull, after the recent glut; quotations, 4s 6d to 10s. Pigs: Supply rather larger than usual, and market not so firm as last week. I sold 236, from 9s 6d to 44s. Horses: The market continues firm, and anything good sells advantageously. I sold 20 (C. Marshall's), the heavier portion £22 to £28; lighter ditto, £4 15s to £18; 7 (S. Byrnes'), £1 10s to £20; 13 (J. Maher's), £15 10s to £27; 40, very light (E. L. Moore's), to £1 5s; and 19 in singles from £1 7s 6d to £20. I have a splendid lot of the celebrated bow and arrow brand advertised for sale next Wednesday.—March 4.

Brunker and Wolfe.—Stations: Business under this head continues dormant, and it is extremely difficult to find purchasers willing to invest unless at nominal values. Properties are, however, held with a firmer hand, and there is less inclination to sell, consequent on the increased prospective values accruing from the important improvement in prices of all station produce and the prospect of the European markets being availed of for the disposal of our surplus fat stock. Fat Cattle: The supply forward this week has again proved vastly in excess of requirements, and sales were difficult to effect at late ruling rates. On Monday's supply we sold 149 bullocks, good quality, by road from Wirrah, Barwon River, at an average of £4 3s 9d. On Thursday sales lacked animation; the highest average made was £4 15s 9d per head, for 197 grand bullocks from Bunna Bunna, and topped up on Mr. W. J. Dangar's Neotsfield. Quotations—Best pens of cattle to 13s, and good to 10s 6d, per 100 lbs. Our sales were—149 bullocks (J. R. Lomax's) at £3 16s to £5 1s, average £4 3s 9d. At Maitland, 21 head (Neely's) at £2 10s to £3 2s; 28 head (T. Ferry's) culls at £2 to £2 13s 6d; 72 head (J. Browne's) bullocks at £3 16s to £4 1s, cows at £3 to £3 9s; 203 bullocks (Cross's) to £5 10s; 161 head (Doyle, Brothers') bullocks, only good stores, at £2 5s to £3 12s, cows at £2 7s to £3 9s. Fat Sheep: The maximum were of good to really prime quality, with five to seven months' wool on their backs. Values have not improved. Our sales were—740 wethers (Bowman, Brothers') at 7s 6d to 7s 7d, 191 sheep (G. Nowland's) at 5s 9d to 6s 11d, 1600 wethers (Cross's) at 5s 9d, 569 sheep (E. Vickery's) at 6s 6d to 6s 9d, 20 ewes (Peallaway Station) at 10s, 34 ditto (Wyndham's) at 10s. Fat Calves: These were in moderate supply; prime lots sold readily, while inferior and middling were dull of sale at nominal values. Fat Lambs: There was a ready sale for prime lots at satisfactory values; inferior lots were scarcely salable. We sold consignments per steamer at 10s, 9s 9d, 9s 3d, 9s, and 8s 6d, being top quotations. Fat and Store Pigs: The demand has fallen off considerably. Porkers for shop use are worth from 3d to 3¼d per lb. Stores made up to 18s 6d a piece for well-grown burrows. Store Cattle: There is absolutely no business done in these for delivery on stations. Drafts of well-grown bullocks yarded for sale in suitable lots, in any of our grazing centres, attract buyers, and sales are readily effected at satisfactory prices compared with those ruling for fat stock. Store Sheep: There are many buyers for strong healthy wethers. Vendors are holding for increased prices. Several large flocks have been placed at 6s cash, delivery on stations.—March 5.

Mort and Co.—Wool: The highly satisfactory Press telegrams (confirmed by our own private advices) which have recently come through respecting the values realized at the series of sales now current in England, have served to further strengthen prices here, especially for good conditioned greasies. Washed fleece and scoured have also advanced in values. Competition was exceedingly brisk at our sale on Wednesday, and 580 bales were disposed of as follows:—11d per lb. for average greasy; 19¼d for washed fleece, and 11d to 19¼d for medium scoured; good parcels of the latter may be quoted at from 21d to 24d per lb. Sheepskins: There was vigorous competition at our sale on Wednesday, and prices higher than for some time past. We cleared a large catalogue at up to 8¼d per lb. for unwashed in full fleece, other descriptions at proportionate values. Tallow was in average supply, and there was a fair amount of business done in shipping parcels; for trade lots last week's rates were obtainable. Quotations: Beef, £25 to £26 5s; mixed, £18 to £24; and mutton, £26 to £27 10s per ton. Hides: Although private telegrams quote a fall in London values, the market here was firm at to-day's sales, and a large number changed hands at rates equal to those lately ruling. Quotations: heavies, 3¾d to 4¼d; medium, 3¼d to 3¾d; light and dry, 3¼d to 4¼d per lb. Horse Hides: Prices are without alteration, best are worth from 5s to 7s 6d each; small to medium, 3s to 4s 6d. Horns can be disposed of at from 20s to 30s per 100 for large sizes, and 10s to 18s for small to medium. Shank bones are salable at from 6s to 10s per ton. Hair is in demand at from 13d to 16d per lb. for horsetail, 9d to 10d for mane, and 9d to 11d for mixed. Beeswax, 6d to 10d per lb. Leather: Lower rates have now to be accepted for sole, owing to prices having given way in the home market; but for other descriptions late quotations are obtainable, say—sole, 6d to 8d for medium; best, 8¼d to 11d; harness, 9d to 12d; kip, 12d to 16d; calf, 18d to 24d; tweed, 18d to 24d per lb.; bag, 8s to 10s per side; basils, 8s to 12s per dozen. Kangaroo skins are in short supply, but without advance in price; best are worth from 20s to 28s per dozen, and medium 10s to 18s.—March 5.

F. L. Barker.—Wool: The continuance of the good news from London gives buyers great confidence, and it is almost regretted the season has closed, and such meagre catalogues offered, as biddings are brisk and high figures are given for any lots at all suitable. Quotations may thus be given:—Greasy, superior, 9d to 10¼d; medium, 8d to 9d; faulty, 6d to 7¼d; scoured, superior, 16d to 20d; medium, 14d to 15¼d; faulty, 9d to 13d; fleece, superior, 20d to 23d; medium, 17d to 19d; faulty, 14d to 16d per lb. Sheepskins are very firm, and all lots forward sell readily, with brisk competition and high figures. The quotations of most lots will not confirm this, but they consist chiefly of short growth, when any lots of full-fleeced free and light are worth up to 8d per lb.; medium, 4¼d to 6d; short, 3d to 4¼d per lb. Leather: This market remains steady, and prices throughout show about equal to last week's quotations. Sole is a little easier; but dressed goods, especially kip and tweeds, are in better demand. Quotations may be given thus:—Sole, light, 8¼d to 9¼d; heavy, 10d to 12d; harness, 10d to 12¼d brown, 12d to 14d black; calf, 22d to 26d. Tweeds: Cow, 18d to 22d; yearlings, 20d to 24d; horse, 17d to 20d per lb.; bridle, 9s 6d to 10s 9d; bag, 10s to 11s 6d per side. Basils very scarce and dear. Hides: Notwithstanding the supplies being comparatively small, the prices obtained were not in advance of late rates, and for heavies the top quotations are 3¾d to 3¾d; medium, 3¼d to 3¾d; light superior, 4d to 4¼d; ditto inferior, 2d to 2¾d per lb. Tallow: Prices remain steady, but now freights are getting easy again, and the market in London continues fair, slightly better figures may be looked for. I would quote best beef £26 to £26 5s; medium, £25 to £25 10s; mutton, best, £27 10s. Hair is scarce, and brings good figures. Kangarooskins are getting dearer; 16d to 18d for good. Oil: Neatsfoot 4s, black, 2s 9d, shark 2s per gallon. Horns and bones continue in good request; bones 8s to 9s per cwt., horns 25s to 27s per 100. Tin ore remains steady. Horse hides are in fair demand from 4s to 8s each.—March 4.

HORSE MARKET.

George Kiss.—The market has been well supplied the past week. Anything fresh from the country soon left the Bazaar at fair figures, as will be seen below, and, notwithstanding the numbers that have come to hand, still realize satisfactory prices. The following are amongst those sold by auction:—On account of Mr. Keating, 2 harness horses, £22 15s; on account of Mr. R. Blaxland, 11 head of broken-in draught horses from £10 15s to £34 5s; on account of Mr. E. Brennan, 1 head light horses from £2 5s to £11, and 1 draught filly (unbroken) £16 10s; on account of Mr. H. Gardiner, a pair of draught horses, £60; on account of Mr. Howell, a fine upstanding light harness horse, £35; on account of Mr. Crouch, 2 horses, £19; on account of Mr. A. Stewart, 4 horses from £8 10s to £10 15s; on account of Messrs. Rixon and M'Leod, light draught mare, £16 10s; on account of Mr. H. Bowry, 3 horses (heavy draught), £105; on account of Mr. Stephen, saddle and harness cob, £10 10s; on account of Mr. Lane, a stylish buggy cob, £13 10s; on account of Mr. Ricketts, a pair of heavy draught horses, £50 10s; on account of Mr. Anderson, 5 harness horses, from £8 to £20 5s; on account of Mr. E. Roberts, a small pony, £14 5s; on account of Mr. W. Summers, a grand draught horse, £40; on account of Mr. Archer, draught horse, £38; on account of Mr. Gleeson, light draught horse, £12 5s; on account of Mr. Cairns, an active van mare, £15 10s; on account of Mr. Cole, harness horse, £11 15s; and several others of various descriptions at prices according to quality were, as usual, difficult to dispose of. A number of turnouts changed hands during the week.—March 4.

T. Cosgrove reports the demand for horses during the past week good, especially for heavy draught and light dray horses, of which there were not many forward. Light horses are plentiful, and not very salable. Upstanding buggy horses with style and action meet with ready sale. The following are amongst the best prices obtained at the bazaar:—For Mr. H. Huett, light dray horse, £14 10s; W. Johnston, six harness horses, £76 10s; F. Waldron, draught horse, £25 5s; J. Williams, dray mare, £16 10s; H. Cooper, buggy horse, £22; J. M'Mullin, van horse, £15 5s; H. Dawson, saddle horse, £19 5s 6d; Harrison, dray horse, £18; J. Fennelly, cart horse, £11 2s 6d; L. Flanagan, buggy horse, £16 15s; F. Waldron, 2 buggy horses, £30 10s; E. Leary, sociable horse, £25; A. Ayers, 2 saddle horses, £29 5s; E. Plumridge, van horse, £20; H. Roberts, dray horse, £18 12s 6d; J. Egan, van horse, £17 15s; W. Wright, spring-cart horse, £13 10s; R. O. Welby, two light horses, £15 10s; B. M'Guffin, coaching mare, £17; H. Thompson, light harness horse, £11; J. A. Parfer, light spring-cart horse, £10 5s; F. M'Mahon, light spring-cart horse, £9; J. Ballen, two light horses, £14 5s; S. Knight, light harness horse, £11; A. Donaldson, dray, £18; J. Bullock, hackney, £16; F. Ray, saddle horse, £9; J. Cox, draught horse, £30; W. Buchanan, buggy horse, £22—besides a large number of weedy horses and town screws at prices ranging from 7s 6d to £7 5s. Demand for new and second-hand vehicles, good. A large number changed hands at the Bazaar, prices satisfactory.—March 4.

Telegrams to American papers of last month contain the following items:—A number of unemployed labourers have plundered bread and meat shops and stores. The people in the county of Limerick clamour for bread. The process serving is violently resisted in Galway and Mayo. The priests of Killarney and Galway are taking the lead, and ring the chapel bells to give notice of the approach of police officers. Serious collisions have taken place. Some Americans, suspected of being Fenians in disguise, have been arrested. It is now thought certain that the Government intend to proceed with the trial of Davitt, Daly, Killeen, and Brennan, for sedition. The distress in county Kerry has reached a state of famine. In Mayo policemen are escorting those engaged as process-servers, who have been severely handled by the peasantry. A woman is reported as having been starved to death in Kilkenny. Owing to a large influx of tramps to that town, excesses are frequent. Dempsey and family, evicted at Balla, have been restored, the rent having been paid by public subscription.

Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil.—Its Great Value as a Nutriment for Weakly Children.—In cases of languid and imperfect nutrition often observed in children, the surprising efficacy of Dr. de Jongh's Oil is thus described by Dr. Edward Carey: "It is in the diseases incidental to childhood that mainly depend on the mal-assimilation of the food in the pale, cachectic child, when the anxious practitioner has exhausted the whole range of alteratives and tonics, that Dr. de Jongh's Cod Liver Oil will come in and satisfy his most sanguine expectations. Where the powers of life are low it affords nourishment to the body when none other can be borne; it furnishes the frame with fat in a truly wonderful manner; and administered as it is in Holland, to the delicate and puny child who, though not considered ill, is in that state of impaired health which would favour the development of disease, its extraordinary effects will soon be visible, after having taken it for a short period, in a return to health and strength which were before unknown, and which will be accomplished by no other remedy with which we are acquainted." Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil is sold only in capsuled imperial half-pints, pints, and quarts, by all chemists and druggists. Sole consignees, Ansar, Harford, and Co., 77, Strand, London. OUR PARIS LETTER.

PARIS, JAN. 16.

The Ministerial changes foreshadowed in my last letter, took place much sooner than was expected even in well-informed circles. Before last year expired, M. Waddington had resigned, and M. Grevy had commissioned M. de Freycinet to form a new Cabinet. In a much shorter time than was to have been expected, M. de Freycinet had succeeded in discharging the trust confided to him. He made Ministerial changes, but no change of Ministry properly so-called, as two-thirds of the former Ministers still remain in office. The characteristic feature of the change thus made is the complete elimination of the Left Centre, or very moderate Republican element, from power. M. Waddington, the Minister for Foreign Affairs and Premier; M. Leon Say, Finance Minister; M. Lenoel, Minister of Justice, and General Gresley, Minister of War; the only Left Centre Ministers in the Cabinet, have retired to make room for more advanced Republicans. M. de Freycinet himself has passed from the Ministry of Public Works, to the post of Premier, and Minister of Foreign Affairs. His place as Minister of Public Works has been taken by M. Narroy, one of his devoted friends, and as determined as he to carry out his schemes for the extension of the national road, rail, river, and canal network. The Finance Ministry falls to the lot of M. Magain, a new man, who has, however, to second him in the capacity of Under Secretary of State, M. Wilson, the special protege of the President of the Republic. The Ministry of Justice has been entrusted to M. Carzot, also a novus homo, and the Ministry of War to General Farre, a special pet of M. Gambetta's, and a very able officer. Thus all the new Ministers, nay, the whole of the Ministry, not only belong to the Left of the Chamber, but all more or less owe their political fortune to M. Gambetta, so that the Ministry may be considered as the moonshine of a Gambettist Cabinet. The Premier himself, M. de Freycinet, owes his notoriety to the fact of M. Gambetta having made him his right hand man during the guerre a outrance in 1870, for it was to him that the then dictator entrusted the organization of the provincial armies which prolonged the heroic resistance of France for four months after the fall of Metz. General Farre was an obscure but meritorious colonel when M. Gambetta singled him out, and made him first a brigadier-general and then a general of division. After his promotion General Farre, as General Faidherbe's chief of the staff, organized the campaigns in the North, and greatly contributed to the resultless victory of Bapaume. The Minister of the Interior, M. Lepere, would have been unknown even now, had not M. Gambetta made him his political lieutenant in the Chamber. Even the Navy Minister, the Admiral Jaurequiberry, owes his fame to M. Gambetta, who called him from the naval service and gave him a land command in the army of the Loire. In short there is not a man in the Ministry who is not in some way or other indebted to M. Gambetta, and who has not hitherto shown himself devoted to that powerful favourite of fortune. It may therefore reasonably be supposed that the policy of the Ministry as at present constituted will be a Gambettist policy.

By so saying, I do not by any means intend to insinuate that M. de Freycinet will be obsequiously submissive to his illustrious friend. Even in 1870 he showed that he had the courage to run counter to the designs of his patron, when he thought them dangerous, or ill-advised, and since then he has written a history of the campaign, in which he has not been afraid to point out the faults committed, in his opinion, by M. Gambetta. To the honour of both, be it said, that frankness did not produce any estrangement between them. Though in complete accord with M. Gambetta on all vital questions, M. de Freycinet is known as a man who has a will of his own, and that trait distinguishes him completely from M. Waddington, who was always afraid to act on his own responsibility. Unless I am very much mistaken, the present Ministry will be personified in its chief, and so gain that unity and concentration of action which were so deplorably deficient in the preceding Ministry. However that may be, the advent to the Premiership of M. de Freycinet has been extremely well received, not only by the majority of the Chamber and Senate, but also by the majority of the nation.

The Anti-Republican papers, whose wish was no doubt father to the thought, had predicted that the new Ministry, a Ministry of such advanced Republicanism, and led by the principal organizer of the armies that resisted the Germans in the latter part of 1870, would be looked upon with mistrust by foreign nations, and particularly by Prussia. To their confusion the German Ambassador, Prince Von. Hohenlohe, at the New Year's Day reception, said aloud, that all present might hear his words, that he had special orders from Prince Bismarck to congratulate M. de Freycinet on his accession to power. The Papal Nuncio, a few minutes before, had also informed M. de Freycinet, that Pope Leo XIII. had the fullest confidence in his well-known spirit of enlightened tolerance. Those diplomatic incidents have for the time being reduced the so-called Conservative journals to silence on the subject of the disfavour of Foreign Governments. But they have an ample field for recrimination in another direction. The great reproach the Republicans brought against the Waddington Cabinet was the slowness with which the high anti-Republican functionaries were got rid of. On that point the de Freycinet Cabinet has already given them abundant satisfaction. To mention only the changes that have taken place at the Ministry of War, General Farre has already cashiered six of the eight highest officials in his department, and put Republican Generals in their places. Similar sweeping changes have also been made in the financial and home departments. Those changes naturally afford the reactionary Press subjects for very bitter articles against the new Ministry, and as naturally make the different fractions of the Republican majority zealous in supporting it.

The Ministry, in fact, holds at present a very strong position. It has but one weak point, and that is the famous 7th clause, aimed against the Jesuits in the bill of M. Ferry, whom M. de Freycinet has unwisely kept in the Ministry. He is decided, however, if the Senate rejects the famous clause to throw it and its author overboard, making his predecessors responsible for it. He will have all the more freedom of action in that respect, as the power and prestige of M. Gambetta have suddenly and most unexpectedly collapsed within the last few days. This extraordinary collapse is one of the most remarkable political incidents I have yet had to relate to your readers, and deserves being told with some detail.

When last year M. Gambetta was elected President of the Chamber, 314 votes were recorded in his favour. Three days ago, that is, on the 13th instant, he had to submit to re-election, and though he was appointed President by 259 votes, that is but a sorry result for one who was formerly such a favourite with the Republican party, and its leader, always unhesitatingly obeyed, for the Chamber contains close upon 540 members, of whom 380 are Republicans. It thus appears that M. Gambetta as President of the Chamber enjoys the confidence of considerably less than one half of the deputies in it, and is mistrusted by a considerable number of his own party. It is for M. Gambetta to decide whether he can consent to preside over the debates of the Chamber under such circumstances. He has already been reminded that M. Grevy resigned the same post because 96 Royalists refused to vote for him, and by that unwise step made the coup of May 16, 1878, possible. The check thus given to M. Gambetta is chiefly due to the Extreme Left, led by M. Clemenceau, a party that has been intriguing against M. Gambetta's influence for the last six years at least. But whatever M. Gambetta may decide, the check he has thus received only serves to increase the prestige and independence of the Ministry. He cannot now pretend to impose his will on Ministers with the same authority as he could have done when he had the majority of the Chamber on his side. The same eliminating process which caused M. Waddington to resign has now begun for him. As he has been elected Speaker by less than one-half of the Deputies in the Chamber, it is not likely that the turbulent members of the Opposition will bow to his decisions without demurring. Hence numerous "scenes" and grave disorders in the Chamber are to be foreseen, should he persist in remaining in the presidential fauteuil.

But the more M. Gambetta's influence diminishes, the more that of his supposed proteges, the Ministers, must increase. The Ministry causes no uneasiness abroad, for it is personified in M. de Freycinet, an engineer, whose ambition is to increase the material prosperity of France at home by the development of her means of communication. His successor at the Ministry of Public Works is also an engineer; and General Farre, the new Minister of War, likewise belongs to the corps of army engineers. None of the other Ministers are suspected of bellicose dispositions, so that in spite of the part played by M. de Freycinet in the war of 1870-1871, even Germany believes in the peaceful intentions of the present Government. At home, too, confidence is felt in them. Neither M. de Freycinet nor any of his colleagues are inclined to entertain any further proposal for a complete amnesty; nor is the Chamber more inclined to such a measure than they are. As for the liberty of the Press, they will have no initiative to take on that head, as there are already two bills on the subject before the Chamber. With regard to the 7th clause, as above mentioned, they mean to throw the responsibility of that on the preceding Cabinet in general, and on M. Jules Ferry in particular, without making a Cabinet question of it. The only discordant note will be that sounded by the project aiming at abolishing the principle of the irremovableness of Judges, or rather the temporary suspension of that principle till Republicans have taken the place of the anti-Republicans now on the bench. The new Minister of Justice is in favour of the measure, and his colleagues are not opposed to it. As the majority of the Chamber will support them in it, there is no conflict to be expected from that quarter; hence the discussion of the General Tariffs bill with a view to the conclusion of new treaties of commerce, is about the only great measure which will come on for debate before the Easter holidays.

TRAM MOTORS AND CARS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As one who has in the old country taken considerable interest in tramways, I cannot help expressing both surprise and regret at the statements made by the Minister for Public Works (Mr. Lackey), in the Assembly, last night. You report him to have said that "exactly similar locomotives and exactly similar cars will be used as those now running in Elizabeth-street." I presume that it is impossible that he has been informed of the capabilities of other cars and locomotives, or else he would not so blindly pin his faith to the present patterns.

Some three years ago in Leicester, as an ordinary observer, I saw a trial trip of a tramway locomotive which has for a considerable time been advertised in the Sydney Mail. I refer to that of Messrs. Hughes, of Loughborough; and I was much struck with the wonderful success of the trial. In the first place, this engine less resembled an engine than a miniature tramcar, having no apparent boiler or working parts. It appeared to consist of a car with say four bunkers, on the head of each was a handle, whilst the driver, sitting in the middle, had all within reach. Further, and here is the great desideratum, there was no sound beyond one slight puff of steam in starting, and it was perfectly noiseless in running, yet I saw it going backwards and forwards in a very small area. The contrast to the one in vogue here is surprising; in fact, I could not imagine a more noisy engine than the one that the Government propose to adopt. Clouds of steam and sparks, not to speak of black smuts emanate from the funnel, especially when going up an incline, to the detriment of the cleanliness and annoyance of passengers on the roof, to say nothing of its affect on horses, which latter danger is further aggravated by the too often practice of leaving the furnace door open, presumably for draught, but certainly very terrifying in its appearance.

Another matter is the construction of the cars. At home, American cars are the fashion, but differently constructed to these; the seats are placed longitudinally, with entrance and exit at the rear end of the car, whilst the seats on top are single, and covered with a board, which serves to keep them dry—also acting as a backboard, when a passenger who wishes to sit down raises it. Sooner or later, with the cars in use here, there will be a serious accident, for people get out at all sides and ends, regardless of other vehicles that may be passing. At least, the cars should be closed in on the off-side, as when several cars are running on each rail, as will be the case when the scheme is carried out, particularly towards the terminus, it would be little short of manslaughter to permit passengers to get out on the off-side, where there would be only a space of (say) 18 inches between the cars.

Another benefit of the car opening at the end is for the proper collection of fares. At present you give up your ticket or money almost immediately on entering the car, and you have no proof of payment of fare should the conductor forget that you paid him; whilst, on the other hand, the conductor has to depend upon his vision to observe when a passenger gets in or out. Again under the present system what more easy for the conductor to forget to ring his patent punch when you pay the fare, particularly if you are watching for or counting change. At home this is impossible, all passengers, both for inside and out, enter at one end, and are thus under the control of the conductor, who is on the footboard, whilst at intervals during the journey he punches and delivers to you a ticket of a colour corresponding to the length of the journey, which ticket you keep until you leave the car, when you either deliver it to him or leave it in a rack placed for the purpose. Trusting that these few suggestions may bear fruit,

I am, &c., G. W. W.

A ROMANTIC SUICIDE. — The Melbourne Daily Telegraph states that a suicide of a most extraordinary and painfully romantic character was committed on Sunday night last, in Stephen-street, by a youth named Walter Henry Brace, aged 15 years. The poor boy was found by some passers-by lying on the footpath in a right-of-way off the main thoroughfare, in a dying condition, outside the house of a Mrs. Coates, whose daughter, a girl of 12 years of age, it is alleged was his sweetheart. Clasped in his right hand was a letter addressed to the child, Rosa Coates, and the document was secured by a piece of elastic band to the boy's fingers. At the inquest, which was held before Dr. Youl, it transpired that Miss Coates and the deceased some time ago had a quarrel, and she, in a fit of spleen, it is alleged, told deceased to "go and kill himself." This mandate the foolish boy too literally carried out, and taking advantage of his situation — which was that of a photographer's assistant—obtained possession of some cyanide of potassium, used in his employer's business, which he drank. It is asserted that the lad fell in love with the girl when she was engaged at one of the theatres during the run of the Christmas pantomimes. The following evidence was taken:—John Webb Brace, bookkeeper, residing in Fitzroy, deposed that deceased was his son, his name being Walter Henry Brace, and his age 15 years; deceased was engaged as a photographer; he was remarkably steady, and never showed any signs of insanity; after partaking of a hearty dinner on Sunday last he left home, apparently in his usual health; he was brought home at 11 o'clock at night, when he was quite insensible, and died in a few minutes afterwards. John Allen, moulder, residing at Hotham, stated that on Sunday night last, a little before 11 o'clock, he found the deceased boy in Stephen-street, between Great and Little Collins streets; he was lying in a right-of-way, with his head upon the footpath; he appeared to be in a fit; two girls were standing by him, and said they saw him fall down; witness found a letter (produced) in his hand attached to a piece of elastic, directed to Miss Rosa Coates; Mrs. Coates came out of a house opposite where witness found the boy, and stated that a neighbour named Mr. Barrington knew deceased. Frederick Barrington, a lad, stated that he was a companion of the deceased's, and he had tea at his (Brace's) father's house on Sunday afternoon last; the girl Rosa Coates, who is about 12 years of age, also was present, and had tea at witness's house; they (deceased and Rosa Coates) had a quarrel some time ago; deceased asked for a pencil, and he wrote a note. The letter referred to by witness, and which was found in the hand of the deceased, read as follows:—"My dear Rosa,—I will have, by the time you get this letter, faithfully obeyed your commands by killing myself. You hated me, and I loved you. I still remain yours, W. H. BRACE." John O'Neil, surgeon, of Fitzroy, deposed that he had made a post-mortem examination of the body, and had ascertained that death was caused by poisoning by cyanide of potassium. The jury returned the simple verdict that deceased poisoned himself.

AN EXTRAORDINARY JEWEL ROBBERY.—The Daily News relates the following:—Early in January a handsome equipage drew up at the door of the first jeweller in St. Petersburg. Alighting from the carriage an elegantly dressed and remarkably pretty young lady entered the shop and requested that some parures of brilliants might be shown to her. Several costly sets were forthwith submitted for inspection, and after some hesitation she selected a riviere and pendants valued at 10,000 roubles, and, stating that she was the wife of an eminent mad-doctor, whose name is a household word in St. Petersburg, requested the proprietor of the establishment to accompany her home with the jewels, in order to settle finally with her husband about their price. The jeweller packed up his diamonds, and got into the carriage with his fair customer. Presently they arrived at a large house, and were received at the porte cochere by a Suisse in splendid livery, who conducted them up a brilliantly lighted staircase into a richly furnished drawing-room, in which the lady begged her companion to take a seat, and, jewel case in hand, proceeded to summon "her husband." Entering the doctor's consultation room in an apparent state of uncontrollable agitation, she informed the latter that she had brought her unfortunate spouse to visit him, in the hope that he would undertake to cure him of a strange monomania under which he had laboured for some time past. "My afflicted husband," she said, "is a wealthy landed proprietor from A——, in the Government of Minsk; he is quiet and harmless, but has diamonds on the brain. He will talk of nothing else, poor fellow! Will you see him? I have left him in your drawing-room, and am much too nervous to be present while you diagnose his case. Might I, therefore, ask you to accompany me to my carriage before you go to him! It will be such a relief to me to leave him in your care." Her ingenious device was crowned with complete success. She drove off with the diamonds; an interview between the doctor and the jeweller fully confirmed her statement with respect to the latter's monomania, and resulted in his being placed under bodily restraint, from which he was only recued three days later by the partners, who succeeded, with the assistance of the police, in tracking him to Dr. V——'s renowned private lunatic asylum. No trace has as yet been discovered of the lady.

OUR BRISBANE LETTER.

BRISBANE, MARCH 2.

The collection of economic plants which are to be exhibited at your agricultural show to-day may not probably, in their connection with more showy things, obtain the attention they deserve. They are of some value, however, and I have very good reason to know that they were not forwarded to Sydney without a good deal of trouble. They furnish a speaking illustration of what the exhibitors—the Acclimatization Society of Queensland—are doing. The plants exhibited, it should be remembered, are only specimens of extensive stocks at Bowen Park, and of novelties which are being every day largely distributed for practical use beyond far wider limits than our own colony. Not long ago a large consignment of miscellaneous plants—one of many—was sent to Fiji, and more recently the society was applied to to supply Lord Howe Island with the plants likely to flourish there. These economic plants, apart from their novelty to many strange visitors (and that is an item of attraction that should count for something at exhibition time) indicate the progress of industrial enterprise. It cannot be denied that the general public are slow to take this view of an acclimatization project, but in our case the colony is deeply indebted to the society for suggesting, and assisting in the infancy of many productions which, no doubt, will some day be a source of wealth to the community at large. I am acquainted with the working of the Acclimatization Society of Queensland, and can vouch that it has, during its fifteen years of existence, been working against a multitude of difficulties and discouragements, and that mainly through the ability and perseverance of Mr. L. A. Bernays it has held its own and grown steadily, while older and richer concerns, not forgetting Frank Buckland's parent society at home, have vanished. The men who keep a society of this kind going have to work for the love of it, and too often unrecognized. That is why I associate the plants we have just sent to Sydney with the Acclimatization Society and its never-tiring Vice-President. Many of the plants mentioned in the little catalogue speak for themselves; others refer to products which ought, in a country where more fruit than flesh should be eaten, to add to our luxuries, even if they cannot be strictly classed amongst articles of strictly commercial value. For example, if, as is stated, the Australian has a dash of the American in his natural characteristics, he will be a nut-eating animal, and will therefore hail with delight the growth in his garden of the pecan and hickory nuts, specimens of which will be found in the collection. They should grow in any of the Australian colonies. Cloves and nutmegs may grow also in paying quantities, but the fact has yet to be proven. Cinnamon, however, we can undoubtedly grow in Queensland with ease; also pepper and allspice. The mangosteen must be reckoned as a very doubtful production. In the Bowen Park green-houses the young plants look strong and healthy, but botanists, as is well known, have circumscribed this fruit to well-defined limits, in which neither Sydney nor Brisbane counts. The experiments in cocoa and tea plants, so far as they have gone, give promise of ultimate success, the tea plantation on the hills overlooking the Herbert River, which was described in the Sydney Morning Herald about a year ago, still answering in every respect. It will be a great thing if the experiments being made here and there with Liberian coffee succeed, for it is a plant that takes kindly to low, hot coast lands, of which we can offer an unlimited supply to the speculative grower. Ginger grows in Queensland like a weed. Vanilla promises well. Of gum copal, a recent introduction from Zanzibar, it is impossible at present to pronounce an opinion. Logwood is an unqualified success. The curious Chinese water nut, bearing the unsavory name of Ling, does very well. We have had it established in the Bowen Park lakes and elsewhere for three years. It is an aquatic plant, an annual, and has no permanent roots. In a great measure it may be said to be a floating plant, and it drops sufficient nuts to the bottom to furnish the next year's crops. Amongst the Chinese the nut ranks as a staple of food. The most valuable plant in the collection, to many colonists, will be the rain tree, which is said to be one of the most rapid growing umbrageous trees in the world, and it has the grand quality of adapting itself to arid, sandy, and therefore otherwise valueless country, and of producing an edible pood, upon which stock of all descriptions fatten in the most remarkable manner. The establishment of such a tree in Australia would be precious indeed. The Indian pith-hat plant, too, is well worth looking after; it grows profusely when it does grow, and being of semi-aquatic habits takes kindly to the margins of swamps. To that extent, like the rain tree, it opens up prospects hitherto undreamt of for the occupation of useless land. To graziers the Mahwah tree is of special interest. In its natural habitats its flowers are used as fodder, and packed into bales and largely exported even to England in that capacity. It keeps well and retains its sugary nourishment when dried. The tree is beautiful, moreover, as an ornament. The Himalayan blackberry makes a pretty covering for fence or trellis, but its fruit, so far as I have seen it, loses its best flavour in these latitudes. These may be taken as showing what the collection is worth, but each entry has its own lesson.

The people who doubt the influence of the Press, even as a medium for correspondence from without, may learn, by an incident which has occurred in Brisbane during the present week, that the time for doubt has gone by. We have a commodious, but severely plain-looking building at the top of Queen-street, called the Town Hall, and Mr. Shepperson, knowing that in the matter of public buildings we are extremely poorly off, decided to give the Madame Urso concerts in that building. There was then revive a correspondence largely partaking of panic respecting the safety of the building. It was pointed out that the Town Hall is not fit for large public gatherings by reason of the suspicious nature of its construction and the defective means of exit. In vain the architect assured the public, as he has often done before, that the building will safely hold twice as many people as could be crammed into it, that it has been tested by the regular marching of large bodies of men, and that its construction is without a flaw. Mr. Shepperson himself entered into the correspondence, stating that the Exhibition building, which had been recommended for the purpose, was not suitable, and that he was perfectly satisfied as to the suitability of the Town Hall. While the letters were still appearing in the morning papers, Madame Urso arrived, and this morning appears a notification, that, in deference to the alarm expressed by the writers to the newspapers, the concerts will be held, not in the Town Hall, but in another smaller building, which being unlike the Town Hall on the ground floor, is not objected to on the ground of its unsafety. This arrangement will be a loss to the promoters of the concerts, and the public will undoubtedly buy five shilling tickets instead of four shilling tickets, and thus have to pay for their panic. Madame Urso opens to-morrow night in the first of a series of six concerts. The weather, however, is still extremely unfavourable for all manner of entertainments, being as steamy as Singapore and as rainy as England, while the streets are as muddy as the Slough of Despond.

We are a little curious to know how far a policeman is warranted in shooting a man who has committed no greater offence than running away from him. A few days ago a robbery was committed on the South Pine River, and two mounted constables, in scouring the district, saw a man at a roadside hotel, who is well known to the police as having served a term of imprisonment at St. Helena. Finding that he had been living in the neighbourhood of the robbery for a little while, one of the policemen fastened upon him at once as the probable burglar. He approached him to arrest him on suspicion of committing the robbery, but the man got away and ran round the inn to the backyard, closely pursued by the constable, who, like the hero of the episode of last week, was an O'Neil. The man naturally tried his best to escape. The constable shouted, "If you do not stand, I will shoot you," and shoot him he did, drawing his revolver, aiming low, sending a bullet through the calf of his leg, and bringing him to the ground. He was so badly hurt that the police had to bring in their game in the gaol van, and to this moment the man remains in the hospital under medical treatment. When the prisoner is brought before the magistrates, it is expected that something will be said as to the expediency, if not legality or otherwise, of constable O'Neil's remarkable pot-shot.

The son and heir of Colonel Colt, of revolver fame, has just reached his majority, and comes into possession at once of a very large fortune. His father died in 1864, and left an estate valued at between 5,000,000 dol. and 6,000,000 dol.

REVIEW.

The Railway Guide. By authority. Sydney: Thomas Richards, Government Printer. 1879.

Really we shall never be able to estimate what the Exhibition has done for us. Future historians will have to pass over the great mass of benefits which the people of New South Wales have received through this channel. It has cleaned some of our streets, fenced our parks, paved our walks, laid down a tramway, painted our public offices, and put many of us on our best behaviour and under our best clothes. And now, amongst other benefits, we have to chronicle a "Railway Guide." Unless the thing is explained, however, the blessing will not be appreciated. This is not a thing like a table of logarithms with arrivals and departures noted in figures and fractions, meant only for the gifted few who have a turn for mathematics. This is not a vulgar "Bradshaw," with paper covers and a sandwich of figures between two thick strata of advertisements. This is a quiet and sedate cloth-bound book, a thin small quarto, of unpretending mein, which would not at all be out of place in a clergyman's hand when going to church on a Sunday. With such an exterior one opens the book with slight misgivings lest it should prove as serious inside as it looks outside. For books are terrible impositions now-a-days. We have met recently what seemed a child's story-book under the shameful disguise of Jack the Giant Killer, but containing "a cure for all possible ills, by somebody's ointment and pills." But the "Railway Guide" is a disappointment in another way. A beautiful coloured title-page meets the eye at the first page, the book is full of pictures, photographs, albertypes, and a map. It has charming descriptions of the road and its many beauties. There are pictures of stations and pictures of bridges, pictures of mountains and pictures of caves, pictures of the houses of our judges and senators, and last, not least, a picture of the country seat of Sir Henry Parkes, with a small but neatly executed picture of the owner in the foreground, though in this case, of course, "distance lends enchanchment to the view." There is something for everybody. The serious statist will find facts and figures on every page. The sensational or sentimental tourist will find all he seeks in the descriptions of "Water Nymphs Dell," "Adelina Falls," "Dante's Glen," "Fairy Dell," and "Lurline's Cave." The botanist and the geologist will find figures of ferns, and plants, and drawings of the caves, with a certain amount of letter press and a due proportion of hard names. Even the "'orny 'anded son of toil" will find his likings consulted in a sweet little study of a "Mountain Home." It leaves nothing to be desired except that the train should stay long enough at each station to let the traveller read each description through and let it soak into his mind while he gazes around. But as it is one finds a difficulty in using the book. The tourist is whirled along at such a speed that he has no sooner come in sight of a magnificent prospect than an envious rock cutting shuts it out again. What is he to do? With his open guide in his hand, he is torn by conflicting emotions. If he sits down to read he will lose the prospect. If he gazes on the view he does not know what he is looking at. If he tries to strike a happy medium by reading a little and looking up, he loses his place, and loses all in trying to find it again. A honey-speaking guide is what is generally adopted, but alas they are often unreliable, even intemperate, and nay, sometimes extortionate. It is difficult to see how all the evils can be obviated, so we must be thankful for the guide-book as one step to a solution of a perplexing problem. For those who like to go through the world without a guide-book "contented if they may enjoy the things which others understand," we have only a smile of compassion.

The book is very creditable to the colony generally, and to Mr. Richards, the Government Printer, in particular. Each illustration has its especial history. The wood engravings are cut from photographs, transferred to wood. The other illustrations are either photographs or prints from photographs by that process which transfers them to gelatine blocks, and prints off from them as if they were lithographs. This is an adaptation of a discovery which came originally from an Australian invention, and which has been applied in many various ways. It is an invaluable method in all cases where accuracy of delination is required. For softness and delicacy it is far superior to any photograph. There are several varieties in the depth of the shade amongst the albertypes, as they are called, and those selected for this book show great taste and beautiful workmanship. The introduction of all these methods speak much in favour of the industry and interprise with which Mr. Richards manages his department.

We should like to say something about the letter-press in these pages, for that is not the least attractive part of the book. It ranges from the sublime to the —well, let us say funny. To the latter heading might be referred all the lack-a-daisical names we find in the descriptions of the mountains and caves. But surely the "authority" by whom the work is said to be, never reflected on what he meant when he called Bathurst the "City of the Plains." The expression is scriptural, but not exactly complimentary. Sodom and Gomorrah are generally referred to under the same appellation.

The short essays by Dr. Woolls on the flora of the Blue Mountains, and that of Mr. C. S. Wilkinson on their geology, make us regret that they are so very brief. The effect of a mere list of names, such as that in the botanical essay, is not encouraging to the amateur. We rise from its perusal much as the man did who read the dictionary through, observing that it was a book containing a vast amount of information, but rather disconnected and dry. Mr. Wilkinson is far more successful, but his essay could have been easily extended. We could well bear four or five pages such as he gives. The figures of the ferns and plants are nearly all very good. There is a little confusion about the names, but that does not matter much. The map is excellent, and what is very good about it is that it is printed on paper which is nearly as indestructable as glazed calico, and will not break at the folds. Altogether the Railway Guide is a success and a great success, of which the colony, "the authority," and Mr. Richards may be equally proud.

THE WHISTLING BUOY.—Buoys anchored over sunken wrecks, or shoals, or submarine cables, are often very difficult to distinguish by day, even with glasses, if the sea is rough and the weather thick; while on dark nights they are, of course, quite indistinguishable. A buoy which shall announce its whereabouts by a light or a sound has therefore a great advantage over the ordinary sort. In the Courtenay automatic whistling buoy, the rising and sinking of the buoy on the waves is made the means of compressing air and blowing a whistle which can be heard for miles. These buoys have recently been tested by the French Lighthouse Board, and recommended to the Ministry of Marine for adoption in France. The Chamber of Commerce, and the pilots and captains consulted, all agreed that they are of great service; but some natural opposition to them has been forthcoming from people living within the range of the whistles. The mechanism of the whistle is very simple; and, as it is liable to damage from collision with ships and boats, the inventor has enclosed it in a protective gallery. Wind, ground-swells, and moisture in the air all increase the penetrative power of the whistle, provided they are not excessive, owing probably to increased compression of the air in the sounding chamber. The intervals of silence between the successive whistles can be graduated in length as easily as the intervals between the flashes of revolving lights, so that each buoy may have its distinctive call, and no confusion may be occasioned among mariners or boatmen when a number of buoys are moored in the same neighbourhood. In fact, if need were, each buoy could be made to sound a distinctive letter or word, according to the Morse telegraphic alphabet of signals.—Cassell's Family Magazine.

Only the other day (says the London Daily Telegraph) we called attention to the depredations recently committed in the district of Saranzaro by the brigand band under the command of a young and lovely woman. We now learn that another bandit crew is running riot in the province of Cosenza, in the Calabrias, where it has laid violent hands upon a nobleman, the head of one of the first families in Italy, as he was riding for pleasure upon his own estate. The Marquis Luigi di Martucci started before breakfast from his villa at Rossano for his regular morning ride. He had not lost sight of his own roof when his horse was shot dead under him, and four ruffians springing upon him from an ambush by the wayside, seized him, bound his hands behind his back, and dragged him away to their headquarters in the neighbouring hills. These facts are reported by peasants who witnessed the whole affair, but were too far off from the scene of action to render any assistance to the captive nobleman, who is still a prisoner to the brigands. No less a ransom than seventeen thousand pounds is demanded for the Marquis by his captors, who threaten to murder him in cold blood if that sum be not paid to them by a certain day. Gendarmes and regulars have been dispatched by the local authorities to surround the hill upon which this band, led by a galeriano named Melo, is supposed to be resident; but what will the seizure and destruction of all the brigands in United Italy matter to the Marchese Martucci if he be murdered by his present custodians before their apprehension by the Royal troops?

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, MARCH 5.

FIRST TERM.

In Banco.—(Before their Honors Mr. Justice FAUCETT, Sir WILLIAM MANNING, and Mr. Justice WINDEYER.)

CHISHOLM AND OTHERS V. WALFORD AND ANOTHER.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL V. CHISHOLM AND OTHERS.

These two special cases, framed for the purpose of having the construction of a portion of the late Mr. Chisholm's will legally construed, were directed to be set down for argument first on the list on next Thursday.

THE QUEEN V. O'CONNOR.

This was a special case reserved for the opinion of the Court.

"The prisoner was charged, at the Parramatta Quarter Sessions, held on the 13th February, on the following information, viz.:—'That he, on the 2nd December last, unlawfully, falsely, and deceitfully uttered to Mary Paul one piece of false and counterfeit coin resembling a piece of the Queen's current silver coin called a shilling, he, the said F. O'Connor, at the time he so uttered the said piece of false and counterfeit coin well knowing the same to be false and counterfeit; and that he afterwards, and within the space of 10 days then next ensuing, to wit on the 3rd of December last, unlawfully uttered to the said Mary Paul one other piece of false and counterfeit coin resembling a piece of the Queen's current silver coin called a shilling, he at the time, &c., well knowing the coin was counterfeit.' There was evidence of an uttering of counterfeit coin on the 3rd December, but no evidence of any other uttering by the prisoner as alleged in the information. I thought the prisoner was entitled to be acquitted altogether on this information; but, in deference to the Crown Prosecutor, I directed the jury that if satisfied that the prisoner had been guilty of uttering on one occasion they might so find. The jury returned a verdict of guilty of uttering on one occasion, but not guilty of uttering on any other occasion; and I sentenced the prisoner to four weeks' imprisonment. The question is, is the conviction valid? See Else's case (R. and R. 142).—W. H. WILKINSON."

Mr. Rogers appeared for the Crown. The prisoner was not represented.

The COURT unanimously upheld the conviction. The information contained a statement of two offences; as the evidence only went to one of them, the statement of the second offence could be treated as surplusage; as both of the offences were of the same class, misdemeanors, the prisoner could be convicted of uttering counterfeit coin on any date.

THE QUEEN V. M'CABE.

This was also a special case stated by Mr. Judge Josephson, Chairman of Quarter Sessions, for the opinion of the Court.

The prisoner was tried on an information charging him with stealing £23. The evidence showed that one William Flaherty, last September, when standing in King-street, was accosted by a stranger, and with him went to a public-house in Lower George-street. While there the prisoner entered, and produced a box which, after some conversation, he offered to bet Flaherty £100 he could not open. M'Cabe then went into the yard, and the other man in his absence opened the box, and Flaherty also opened it. After that the prisoner returned, and Flaherty bet him £23 that he (Flaherty) would open the box; the other man also bet £27, to make up a bet of £50. Flaherty was unable to open the box in the time agreed upon, and paid the prisoner the £23 agreed upon, of which £11 was afterwards returned. The case was left, with some doubt, by the Judge (Mr. J. F. Josephson) to the jury on the question as to confederacy between the prisoner and the other man to cheat Flaherty by a false wager, and whether, under all the circumstances of the case, the box used at the time of the bet, and then before the Court, was an instrument by means of which a fraud could be effected. The jury found the prisoner guilty. The question for the consideration of the Court was whether upon the facts the verdict should stand.

Mr. Rogers appeared for the Crown. The prisoner was not represented.

The COURT, without calling upon Mr. Rogers, upheld the conviction.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT was of opinion that there was evidence to go to the jury of a confederacy by the two men to cheat the simpleton out of his money.

Sir WILLIAM MANNING thought there was also ample evidence of fraud to go to the jury.

Mr. Justice WINDEYER was also of opinion that the jury were clearly right in acting on the evidence as they had, and that the verdict was a proper one.

EX PARTE O'CONNELL AND BAKER IN RE JOHN WATSON.

This was a motion made by Mr. Davis, instructed by Messrs. Pigott and Trickett, on behalf of O'Connell and Baker, for a rule nisi, calling upon John Watson, an alderman of the Borough Council of Balmain, to show cause why a rule or order under the Municipalities Act, in the nature of a quo warranto, should not issue to oust the said John Watson from his office of alderman, on the ground that he, by renting certain steamer wharfs, was a contractor with the Corporation, in violation of the 38th section of the Act.

The COURT granted the rule, returnable this day week.

EX PARTE WOLFTENHOLME IN RE WOLFTENHOLME V. MALONEY.

In this matter Mr. Pilcher, on behalf of Wolftenholme, obtained a rule nisi calling upon the defendant, Maloney, to show cause why a writ of attachment should not issue, to be directed to him, Maloney, for disobeying a rule of Court made on an order of Mr. Justice Windeyer, granting an injunction to restrain Maloney from committing a breach of agreement for the sale of a butchering business. The rule was made returnable next Friday.

WOOD V. GIBBS AND ANOTHER.

This was an action brought for damages for alleged breach of an agreement by the defendants, printers and publishers, to employ the plaintiff, a compositor. The trial was held before his Honor Mr. Justice Windeyer and a jury of four. On the close of his case, the plaintiff, after argument of counsel, was non-suited. Mr. C. J. Manning now moved for a rule nisi, calling upon the defendants to show cause why that non-suit should not be set aside, and a new trial granted, on the grounds that (1) his Honor should have left it to jury to decide on a matter of fact whether or not the agreement sued upon had been proved. (2). That his Honor wrongly held that the agreement was void for want of mutuality. (3). No mutuality need, of necessity, have appeared on the face of the document put in by the plaintiff as evidence of the agreement sued upon.

The COURT granted the rule.

BLACKBURN V. FLAVELLE.

The arguments of this motion to make a rule nisi for a new trial absolute, was part heard when the Court rose.

HUNGERFORD V. DAVENPORT.

HARKNESS V. SNOWDEN.

The argument of these motions was postponed till next Wednesday.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—FRIDAY.

METROPOLITAN QUARTER SESSIONS.

FRIDAY.

(Before his Honor Judge JOSEPHSON.)

The Court of Quarter Sessions sat at the Courthouse, Darlinghurst, to-day, in its appellate jurisdiction.

THOMPSON V. THOMPSON.

This was a case in which the appellant applied to have an order made against him by the Water Police Magistrate for payment towards the support of his wife, set aside.

Mr. Want appeared for the appellant and Mr. Merriman for the respondent.

After hearing the evidence his Honor ordered the conviction to be quashed, without costs.

The Court then adjourned sine die.

POLICE.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

Yesterday, the Police Magistrate was assisted in the Crime Court by Messrs. Jolly, Reading, Thomas, and Skarratt; and in the Summons Court by Messrs. Neale, Ridge, Hunt, and Pinhey.

Henry J. M'Culloch, described as a doctor, was convicted on his own confession of having been riotous in King-street, for which offence he was sentenced to pay 20s., or to be imprisoned seven days; of having assaulted constable Port, who took him into custody, for which he was sentenced to be imprisoned two months; and of having wilfully and maliciously destroyed the constable's uniform, for which he was ordered to pay 22s. 6d. damages, or to be further imprisoned fourteen days.

On the prosecution of Mr. Sub-inspector Anderson, in the Summons Court, Peter Reinhards was found guilty of having, on the 12th February, in a quarry near the junction of Market-street and Sussex-street, caused a stone to blast, not having given to the City Surveyor the notice required by law, nor having procured a license to blast, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of £5, or to be imprisoned two months. Mr. Carroll, for the defendant, gave notice of appeal, but which subsequently, on condition that a second information for a like offence would not be prosecuted, he withdrew. On the prosecution of Inspector Mitchelson, Thomas Norton, a seller of fruit by retail from a cart, was fined 20s., with the addition of 28s. 6d. for costs, for having an incorrect weighing machine; Frederick Kahl was fined 10s., for calling Elizabeth Hallam by an opprobrious epithet; and Elizabeth Hallam was fined 5s. for resenting the insult by assaulting Kahl by throwing water upon him. Several minor offences against the provisions of the Licensing, the Vagrant, and the Police Acts, were visited with penalties varying from 2s. 6d. to 20s.

A colonial wine license was granted to Edward Kurth; and two publicans' licenses were transferred—Henry Tipper to Charles Carvassio, and Gustav Angles to Henry Christensen.

WATER POLICE COURT.

The Water Police Magistrate, and Messrs. Sladen, Lester, Vincent Brown, Stanley, Fowler, and M'Lean occupied the Bench.

Edward Wilson, on remand, was charged with stealing a box containing tobacco, valued at £5 7s. 6d., the property of Mr. Thomas Saywell, and committed to take his trial at the next Court of Quarter Sessions.

George Berhand, on the suspicion of stealing two £1 notes and other property, of Michael Farney, was also committed to take his trial at the same Court, and again on a charge of forging the name of the prosecutor to a document with intent to defraud.

Michael M'Donald, 40, for wilfully breaking a gas-lamp, valued at 1s. 6d., the property of the Australian Gas-light Company, was fined 2s., with the alternative of two days' imprisonment.

LICENSING COURT.—Transfers of licenses were granted from R. A. M'Carthy to William Comer, and from Joseph Davidson to George Foster. Temporary extensions were granted to George Cook, Henry Humberstone, Charles Stratton, and Francis Punch; and some hawkers' licenses were also granted.

NEWTOWN POLICE COURT.

Messrs. W. Bailey and J. Pemell occupied the Bench yesterday.

The transfer of the license of the Camdenville Hotel from John Aiton to James Pointer was granted. A slaughtering license was granted to Joseph Barden, Cook's River.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.—MARCH SITTINGS.

The number of plaints filed for this month is 373, Nos. 470 to No. 842. Those which are undefended will be disposed of as follows:—March 8: No. 470 will be taken at 10 a.m.; No. 583 will not be taken before 11 a.m.; No. 701 will not be taken before 12 noon, finishing with No. 842.

THE MARINE BOARD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—"Another Inquirer" complains that when challenged to point out ambiguities in the Navigation Act, I begin with the constitution of the Board. I thought it best to begin at the beginning, and I do not quite see what else I could well place before any difficulties belonging to the Act to be administered by that Board. I cannot conceive why it should be imperative to fill the place of an elective warden within a month and leave the treasurer or the executive to fill any vacancy caused by the retirement of a nominee at pleasure. When Mr. George Dibbs resigned, the vacancy was filled within a month.

Let me point out the short-coming of clause 27, giving certain powers to members of Marine Boards, inspectors, and surveyors:—

"The Marine Board, any local Marine Board, and every member deputed by the said Marine Board, or local Board to act in their behalf, and every inspector and surveyor appointed in pursuance of the provisions of this Act, shall have and exercise the following powers, that is to say—1. They may at all reasonable times go on board any ship or vessel of what description soever to which any of the provisions of this Act extend for the purpose of examining the hull and machinery, and making any report thereon required by the said Board. 2. They may inspect any boats, equipments, or materials on board, or belonging to any such ship or vessel to which the provisions of the Act extend. 3. They may go on board any ship or vessel, and inspect the same for the purpose of inquiring into or reporting upon the nature and causes of any accident or damage which such ship or vessel has sustained, or caused, or is alleged to have sustained or caused."

The Board having done all they may do under these clauses, where is their power to do more, unless the vessel comes under the Passenger Act? Surely it was intended that the clauses I have quoted should be more effective than they have proved to be.

I fancy in "Another Inquirer," I see my old friend "Ship-a-hoy," with Plimsoll at his back. We all know that Plimsoll's Act did not exist when we passed our Navigation Act, but we had full power from the Imperial Government to pass an Act for the government of colonial ships, and any other ships within our waters, also for granting certificates to masters, mates, and engineers.

I now refer my friend to part second of the Navigation Act, relating to steam. There we acted independent of "Plimsoll" or any other reformers.

The clause is too long to quote. It requires "such steamship to be taken into dock or placed on a slip to be surveyed." There it stops—there is not one word about the Board having power to order the necessary repairs, they have only power to withhold the certificate.

When I referred in a former letter to Plimsoll's Act, I used the name of "Plimsoll" in connection with the fact that we in this colony have ships not altogether seaworthy. I am by no means anxious for the introduction of Plimsoll's Act, knowing how much it has been abused by those selected to administer that Act, and the tiresome interference with vessels engaged in the coasting trade that are well fit for the class of work they are engaged in, but are not suitable for a cargo of tea or silk, insured with particular average.

In short, I think we can introduce an additional clause to follow the third part of the 27th, and thereby arm the Board with necessary powers, without even the aid of Mr. Plimsoll. I am Sir, yours, &c. HENRY BURNS.

NATURAL INTOXICATION.—The Brewers' Guardian gives some curious facts designed to show that alcohol is not the only "intoxicating principle." The facts do not, we fancy, prove this exactly, but they are interesting nevertheless. In some parts of South Africa, we are told, the colonists call certain species of plants "drunk grass," from their powers of intoxicating cattle feeding on them. There is also a species of stipa, common in some parts of China capable of making horses gloriously jolly, as was proved on one occasion by a Roman Catholic missionary party, who one morning found their horses in a condition of dreadful debauchery after browsing on this plant. That its inebriating qualities were well known to the natives of the country was proved by their pointing out a remedy—a decoction of goat's-head in vinegar; which, by the way, might be worth while to try in cases of intoxication from other causes this Christmas. Some American States, we are told, also have their natural intoxicants in the shape of a pale grass capable of producing considerable elevation of spirits among horses, cattle, and sheep partaking of it. The "principle" in all these cases may, of course, be alcohol evolved in the natural process of fermentation in the stomach, or it may, as our contemporary assumes—though apparently without any grounds for doing so—be some other intoxicant. One of our leading doctors the other day stated that when over-fatigued, he was in the habit of eating raisins, which he found stimulating and revivifying. That is to say, we presume, he experienced in a very slight degree a natural alcoholisation, just as the animals mentioned are said to have done to a greater extent from the "intoxicating principle" in their food, or evolved in the process of assimilation.—Globe.

AMERICAN SEWING MACHINE TRADE.—This branch of machinery is becoming of great importance in the United States, very nearly 4000 skilled artisans being employed in the sewing machine factories. The following figures show that an extensive export trade is being carried on under this head:—Germany, 539,000 dollars; England, 465,000 dollars; Mexico, 153,000 dollars; Australia, 110,000 dollars; Columbia, 93,000 dollars; Cuba, 66,000 dollars; France, 41,000 dollars; Venezuela, 30,000 dollars; Brazil, 21,000 dollars; Argentine, 18,000 dollars; Scotland, 16,000 dollars; Peru, 15,000 dollars; Central America, 12,000 dollars; Belgium, 10,000 dollars; Nova Scotia, 11,000 dollars; Hawaii, 8000 dollars; Porto Rico, 9000 dollars; Quebec, 7000 dollars; other countries, 29,000 dollars—total, 1,661,000 dollars.

THE BON MARCHE KING.
£1,800,000 ANNUAL PROFITS.
ONE MILLION EIGHT HUNDRED THOUSAND POUNDS PER ANNUM PROFITS.
EXTRACTS from the SYDNEY MORNING HERALD, Saturday, December 27, 1879, from their Paris correspondent:—
"Paris, October 17, 1879.
"The immense success of the vast 'Novelty Shop,' called Le Bon Marché, has prompted the creation of several rival establishments, the principal of which are the Louvre and the Printemps. The other great movers of fashion in Paris, which the Louvre house was intended to rival, viz., the great shop known as the Bon Marché, has just lost its nominal head, Aristide Boucicault, junior, the successor of his father, the founder of the vast establishment which is without equal in Europe. Happily for the public of Paris, the widow of the founder remains at the head of the concern, which becomes more and more popular every day, with the consequence—inconvenient to its customers—of being so densely crowded during the shopping hours of the afternoon that the immense interior, with its innumerable halls and galleries, story over story, is so densely packed that it is at times impossible to move. It is said that the gains of this unrivalled house have already reached the almost fabulous sum of £1,800,000 PER ANNUM."
THE BON MARCHE,
of 96, King-street, Sydney, is conducted and managed by the proprietors, LEADER and STARK, on the same system and principle as the Bon Marché of Paris. The remarkable popularity and success which have attended the Semi-Annual Sales of the Sydney Bon Marché amply prove the great advantages derived by the public from them, and have led to their FOURTH SEMI-ANNUAL SALE.

FRESH TENDERS.—Attention is directed to GAZETTE notice inviting fresh Tenders for undermentioned work, viz.:—

	Time for receipt of tenders.
Land Cove Road—Contracts 3 and 4 :	16th March.

JOHN LACKEY.

The Treasury, New South Wales, 1st March, 1880.

TENDERS FOR THE CONVEYANCE BY STEAMER OF NEW SOUTH WALES ARTILLERY AND STORES.

TENDERS will be received at this office until noon of FRIDAY, the 19th instant, for the conveyance by steamer of the New South Wales Artillery and Stores, in the harbour of Port Jackson, for one year, upon the following terms and conditions, namely:—

The steamer must be capable of conveying 120 men, and daily such stores as may be necessary, between any wharf, in or near Sydney, and the Fortifications, on both north and south sides of the harbour, calling at such points both going and coming, as may be required.

Private passengers not to be taken without permission.

If required, for purposes extra than the trips above mentioned, to be employed as long as required, but not exceeding 24 hours at a time.

The contractor will be required to send daily (Sundays excepted) to Dawes' Point Battery, at 9 o'clock a.m. for instructions.

The steamer to run a speed of not less than nine knots per hour, and when damaged or otherwise unable to perform the work required of her, to be replaced by a boat of equal power and capacity.

In default of carrying out the work required, the authorities to have the right to hire any steamer available, and charge the cost thereof against any moneys that may be due to the contractor; and upon repetition of the same, the Government to have full power in at once terminating the contract on giving due notice.

Each tenderer must state specifically the rate per day of 24 hours, per trip, and on completion of the trip rate per hour for detention, for hire of the steamer, and also give the name and tonnage of the boat he proposes to run.

No tender will be entertained unless accompanied by a certificate from two responsible persons, stating that they are willing to become bound as sureties for the due fulfilment of the contract, in the penal sum of £200.

In the event of the tender being accepted, the contractor and sureties must severally call at the Treasury to execute and deliver the bond within fourteen days after the date of acceptance, failing which the contract may either be advertised anew or another tender accepted.

Tender forms can be obtained at the office of the Ordnance Storekeeper, who will give any further information to persons desirous of tendering.

Tenders must be addressed to the Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade, and endorsed "Tender for Conveyance by Steamer of New South Wales Artillery and Stores."

CENTENARY OF DR. CHALMERS. The CENTENARY of the birth of Dr. Chalmers will be observed on WEDNESDAY, 17th March. Particulars in future advertisements. ANDREW GARDINER, Hon. Sec.

NOTICE TO ENGLISHMEN, FRENCHMEN, GERMANS, BELGIANS, AMERICANS, SPANIARDS, and all EXHIBITORS and Visitors to the GREAT INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.
Now that the time is rapidly drawing near for the closing of the EXHIBITION, each and every one before leaving this COLONY says, what shall I take as a Souvenir of the great progressive COLONY OF NEW SOUTH WALES? All have, no doubt, read of the wonderful PLANTS that are INDIGENOUS TO THIS COUNTRY; of their astonishing MEDICINAL QUALITIES their equal cannot be found THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. Trees and Plants have been taken from this country and planted in sections where malarial fevers and disease were wont to hold full sway, destroying not only human but animal life, and the introduction of the AUSTRALIAN PLANTS has worked the most astonishing beneficial results.
But how much greater, after years of careful study, it was found that by EXTRACTING THE MEDICINAL QUALITIES of these PLANTS, and MIXING them in proper proportions, that a most astounding result was realized. When JOSEPHSON'S AUSTRALIAN OINTMENT was first introduced, its marvellous curative properties were soon made known throughout the land.
All suffering from OLD STANDING SORES and WOUNDS were eager to get a pot, and from its first introduction to the present time there has never been an OINTMENT commanding such a sale. Try it for any sore or pains in the body, and you will soon add your testimony to its value. In returning to your homes what can you take as a souvenir of NEW SOUTH WALES like a NATIVE PRODUCT, and nothing can be more useful as well as ornamental than a pot of JOSEPHSON'S AUSTRALIAN OINTMENT.
To be had of all chemists, 1s pots.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
WATSON'S VEGETABLE APERIENT ANTIBILIOUS PILLS are the best and safest pills made.
They are more extensively used than any other.
They may be taken by either sex, at any time, and in all weathers.
They are suitable in nearly all complaints.
STOREKEEPERS are reminded that they command a ready sale, and yield a larger profit than all others. One trial will convince the most sceptical of their vast superiority over any other sort. Price, 1s. per box.
May be had through any of the wholesale houses, or at the manufactory.
WATSON'S Drug Stores, 567, George-street, Sydney.
N.B.—A liberal discount to large purchasers.
Agents wanted in every township.

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which, in OUTWARD APPEARANCE, so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.
Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—
1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surry, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words "John Steedman, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey," printed thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with two EE's.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.
Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors, at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each. Sold in Sydney by ELLIOTT BROTHERS.
W. TAYLER and CO., 219, Pitt-street.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—TIMES, July 13, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See LANCET, December 31, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—MEDICAL TIMES, January 12, 1866.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure for cholera, dysentry, diarrhœa, colic, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution.—None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33, Great Russell-street, London. Sold in bottles at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, and 11s. Agents: Sydney—ELLIOTT, BROTHERS.

IMPURE CHLORAL.
The disappointment and the dangerous and distressing accidents which result from the use of impure chloral show the necessity for a
PREPARATION which is PURE, UNIFORM, and AUTHORISED.
The only solution of Chloral which "is guaranted by Professor Oscar Liebreich as the purest form of the drug" is LIEBREICH'S SYRUP OF CHLORAL, in original bottles, 3s 6d and 2s each.
Every bottle bears the name of the Sole Manufacturers—CORBYN, STACEY, and CO., and the signature of Dr. O. Liebreich. The Syrup may be obtained of the leading Chemists throughout the colonies.
Sole Wholesale Agents: ROCKE, TOMPSITT, and CO., Melbourne.

ONE BOX of CLARKE'S B 41 PILLS is warranted to cure all ailments of the urinary organs in either sex (acquired or constitutional), gravel, and pains in the back. Sold in boxes, 4s 6d each, by all chemists and patent medicine vendors. Sole Proprietor, F. J. Clarke, Apothecaries'-hall, Lincoln, England.

HUNGARY WATER.—PIESSE and LUBIN.
The name and reputation of Hungary Water was first established, as tradition relates, from benefit derived from a Bath containing it by one of the Queens of Hungary, at the age of 95. The GENUINE is now only sold in England by the lineal descendants of the Inventor. Independent of the above quality, which renders it so remarkable, Hungary Water is an exquisite perfume; it raises and strengthens the spirits by its superlative refreshing qualities. Health has often been restored, when life and death trembled in the balance, by the mere sprinkling of it in the sick chamber. 2s. 6d. per Bottle, or 14s. per Case, of Six Bottles.
To be obtained of all fashionable Perfumers and Druggists throughout the world, and of PIESSE and LUBIN, 2, New Bond-street, London W. Bureau, during the Exhibition, No. 181, Pitt-street, Sydney.

STEER'S RHUBARB and GINGER PILLS, composed of GENUINE TURKEY RHUBARB AND JAMAICA GINGER.
As a Dinner Pill they merit especial attention, being found to assist digestion better than any other medicine. One pill taken immediately before dinner speedily corrects those derangements and obstructions that produce a torpid action of the digestive organs; and the same dose may be repeated at bed-time i required.
They are also much recommended as a mild laxative for females, being safe, gentle, and effectual in their operation, leaving no disposition to costiveness, and being free from any tendency to cause pain or irritation in their action.
F. E. SLOPER, Dispensing Establishment, Oxford-street, Sydney.

RANDERSON'S PODOPHYLLIN LOZENGES FOR ALL BILIOUS COMPLAINTS, INDIGESTION, &c.
They impart Tone and Vitality to the whole system, removing Morbid and Sick Headache, Giddiness, Shooting Pains, and Nervous Affections, and in all cases of Liver Complaints, Indigestion, and Costiveness speedy relief is insured.
Parents will find RANDERSON'S LOZENGES very useful where children are requiring a mild aperient. There is no disagreeable taste, and all the little members of the HUMAN FAMILY prefer LOZENGES to PILLS. TRY THEM.
Sold by all chemists, 1s box.
EDWARD ROW and COMPANY, Proprietors.

HAMILTON'S INDIAN WORM SYRUP.—A reliable, palatable preparation, liked by children; positively destroys worms, leaves no bad effects, is highly recommended by physicians, and is unquestionably the best worm medicine.
Prepared only by J. HAMILTON, Chemist, 138, Regent-street, Chippendale, Sydney.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Blooming Complexion.—This Ointment counteracts all blemishes of the skin caused by inclemency of the weather, impure air, or gastric derangement. Nothing so speedily removes that unhealthy state of the skin arising from indigestion. Sold at 533, Oxford-street, W. C., London, and at all druggists.

STEWARD'S INFANTS' SOOTHING MIXTURE, for children teething, never fails to give instant relief. Sole Agent, J. WATSON, Chemist, Sydney. Sold by all chemists.

FOR WEAKNESS, Lassitude, Loss of Appetite, &c., take DOWNES' IRON and QUININE TONIC. Most serviceable in neuralgia. Pharmacy, 281, Pitt-street, near School of Arts.

J. S. ABRAHAM'S PILLS—DANDELION—have now a name as lasting as time, and are justly termed the "GREAT LIVER REMEDY" of the nineteenth century. One trial will convince the most sceptical of the truth of this assertion; and the extensive sale they command all over the world stamps them the "Desideratum" for our dyspeptic age. Free from all noxious drugs, viz., Podophyllin, Calomel, Blue Pill, or Mercury!!
It is the only aperient that does not weaken; requiring no change of diet, or abstention from the bath, but quickly assists nature to restore all the vital functions to their healthy state, thus proving them to be the best medicine ever introduced for tropical climates.
Sold by all Chemists, Patent Medicine Vendors, &c.
N.B.—Be careful of those who try to palm off dangerous imitations.
Prepared only at the Laboratory by J. S. ABRAHAM, 434, George-street, Sydney.

ASTHMA and DIFFICULT BREATHING, arising from affections of the Respiratory Organs, promptly relieved and paroxysms averted by DATURA TATULA INHALATIONS, for which purpose the plant is prepared in ALL the usual forms for smoking, and also as pastilles and powder for burning on a plate or censer. In ASTHMA and ANALOGOUS DISEASES, the superior efficacy of this plant, prepared as above-mentioned, has been for the last forty years recognised by the Medical Profession and the public in all parts of the world. Prepared only by SAVORY and MOORE, 143, New Bond-street.—Testimonials accompany each box of Cigarettes, Cigars, and Pastilles. Tins, in the economical form of tobacco, and also in powder for burning, from 2s 6d to 21s. Of chemists, &c., everywhere.

ALEXANDER MOORE and CO. respectfully invite ladies and gentlemen about to furnish, recent arrivals in the colony, and the public in general, to call and inspect the magnificent collection of elegant and substantial high-class Furniture, both foreign and colonial made, now on view in their spacious show-rooms.
A. M. and Co., having paid special attention to the selection of their New Stock, and having recently purchased, for cash, some of the most massive and superb Hall, Dining-room, Drawing-room, and Bedroom Suites, are now enabled to offer to ladies and gentlemen and the general public the most magnificent furniture ever yet placed before them.
The furniture is conveniently arranged in separate departments, and visitors are conducted through the show-rooms without any objectionable importunity to purchase.
A. M. and Co. respectfully remind their customers that they do not profess to sell their goods at a large sacrificing discount, neither do they charge large profits—the extent and mode of their purchases being such as to enable them to do well for their customers at a small profit, looking more particularly for remuneration in doing a large and extensive business.
A. M. and Co., in returning sincere thanks for past favours and assuring their friends and the general public that no effort will be spared on their part to make their establishment worthy of continued and increased support, beg to quote a few of the leading lines received by recent arrivals direct from the most eminent manufacturers:—

112 allotments, having frontages from 40 feet, by good depths.
This property is well situate, being within easy distance of Ashfield and Croydon Railway stations.
The land has been cleared and stumped, a consideration with land buyers, and will bear inspection which is invited.
The survey is by licensed surveyor Parrott, the allotment pegs being all numbered each individual lot can be readily identified.
Torrens' title. Deeds only 30s.
Lithographs now ready.

Preliminary Notice.

GREAT LAND SALE.

NEWTOWN, NEWTOWN.

J. W. WATKIN will sell by auction, on an early date, of which due notice will be given,
THAT WELL KNOWN excellently situate block of land, known as Hanson's Paddock, subdivided into allotments.
The plan of subdivision is such as to commend itself, and will retain for the S. P. Freehold Land and Building Society the character it has won in the various suburbs wherein their various subdivisions are situate.
The allotments will have frontages to the Newtown Road to a new street 50 feet wide, leading direct to Macdonaldtown Station, to Wilson and to Bucknell streets.
Each allotment has the great advantage of having a wide lane at its rear.
The Title is under Torrens' Act.
The terms will be the society's popular terms, so easy as to come within the reach of all. The auctioneer is bold to assert that such terms have never been offered to the public for similar land in Newtown before.
Survey will be made next week. Lithos. in a few days.

The first issue of LITHOGRAPHS is ready FOR DISTRIBUTION at our SALE ROOMS, Pitt-street.
HARDIE and GORMAN, AUCTIONEERS.

HOUGH'S MILL PROPERTY,
WAVERLEY ROAD.

☞ To BUILDING SOCIETIES, SPECULATORS, and OTHERS.
FOR AUCTION SALE,
one of the best Original Properties, containing an area of about 10 ACRES, commanding the following large frontages:—
330 FEET to WAVERLEY ROAD (at the Tollbar), and 1870 FEET to a GOVERNMENT ROAD, adjoining WESTGATE, the residence of Major Raymond, and next to the "ERITH" ESTATE.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions from Mr. HOUGH to sell by public auction, at their Property Sale Rooms, Pitt-street, at 11.30 o'clock, on WEDNESDAY, 17th MARCH,
The whole of his very valuable and well-known property, situate as above described, and which will be offered in the first instance in ONE LINE, or, failing a purchaser for the whole, the front and most valuable portion of the property will be offered in building sites.
HOUGH'S MILL PROPERTY certainly occupies an unequalled position in this favourite eastern suburb, both for access and elevation, being situate midway between the densely populated suburbs of WOOLLAHRA on the one side and WAVERLEY on the other, overlooking the beautiful suburb of RANDWICK, and commanding extensive and picturesque views of the HARBOUR and BELLEVUE HILL. There is also a very valuable STONE QUARRY on the ESTATE.
No property can be more easily and advantageously subdivided. The value of land is well established; only small blocks can be obtained in the locality, and the population is rapidly increasing. THE GOVERNMENT LINE OF TRAMWAYS is SURVEYED right past this property, and when this means of communication is carried out the value of land will necessarily be largely increased.
LARGE PLAN of the PROPERTY can be seen at the ROOMS, and further particulars obtained from the Auctioneers.
TERMS may be cash, or two-thirds of the purchase money may remain on the property for 3 YEARS at 7 PER CENT.

GLEBE POINT. GLEBE POINT.

Messrs. MORT and COMPANY
Messrs. RICHARDSON and WRENCH
Messrs. MARSDEN and SONS and MACMAHON'S BOND.

TORRENS' TITLE.

HARDIE and GORMAN have received instructions from the PROPRIETOR to sell by public auction, at their NEW PROPERTY SALE ROOMS, Pitt-street, at 11.30 o'clock, on WEDNESDAY, 10th MARCH.

All that block of land, having
34 feet 8 inches frontage to Circular Quay
34 feet 8 inches frontage to Alfred-street
by a depth of 76 feet, situate nearly opposite
THE WATER POLICE COURT,
a few yards east of MACQUARIE-STREET NORTH.

 THIS LAND is well suited for an IRONMONGER'S STORE, WINE STORE, BOND, or SHIPCHANDLER'S STORE, having the advantage of double frontages, with sufficient BUILDING STONE for the erection of any building which may be erected on the land.

Mr. John Young is now building for Mr. Bridge on the adjoining land; his scaffolding extends right over this block, and satisfactory arrangements might be made with him for building, and at a saving of hundreds of pounds.
 It is confidently expected that the large sum of money voted for IMPROVEMENTS on the QUAY will soon be expended, and which must necessarily enhance the value of all property in this locality.

PLAN ON VIEW AT THE ROOMS.

DAY OF SALE,
WEDNESDAY, 10th MARCH.

 The PURCHASER of this PROPERTY, on MARCH 10th, will receive ALL THE BENEFITS derivable from the CIRCULAR QUAY IMPROVEMENTS, which are to be CARRIED OUT FORTHWITH.

FRONTAGE TO ALBERT-STREET.

CORNER OF MACQUARIE AND ALBERT STREETS.

Without any doubt, the VERY BEST ALLOTMENT in vicinity; and, as a matter of fact, THE ONLY ONE OF ANY MAGNITUDE. Eminently suitable for WOOL OR BONDED STORES, Having an area of over SIX THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED FEET, and THREE LOADING and DISCHARGING LEVELS.

THE BUILDING-STONE on the grounds is first-class, and will go a long way to the erection of requisite buildings, while the sale is absolutely unsurpassed.

The railway or tramway, whichever may be first made available, must come to the very door; and with the CIRCULAR QUAY available as it is, to stores erected on this land for loading or receiving cargo on or from ships, its increasing value is simply a matter of certainty.

The new improvements now decided upon by the Government give this very valuable block of land an intrinsic merit not before possessed, and being THE ONLY AVAILABLE PORTION now unalienated from ORIGINAL holders possessing anything in comparison with its advantages as to position, storage facilities, and real worth, should command the attention of all parties in any way interested in the shipping traffic of the colony.

To WOOL BROKERS, STOREKEEPERS (FREE or BOND), the AUCTIONEERS specially advise a full consideration of the value of this last CIRCULAR QUAY BLOCK.

SALE by MILLS and PILE, at the LAND SALE ROOMS, 112, Pitt-street, by order of the EXECUTORS of the late JOHN WALKER, Esq., on TUESDAY, the 5th April, at 11.30 prompt. The above.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

MANLY. MANLY. MANLY.

EAST BRIGHTON HEIGHTS.

GREAT CLEARING SALE, REMAINDER OF SUBDIVISION.

WATER FRONTAGES.

THE PICK OF THE BASSET-DARLEY ESTATE.

PLAN ON VIEW at MILLS and PILE'S ROOMS, 154, PITT-STREET.

That there is but one MANLY has been as often asserted as it is an undeniable fact. That it has natural beauties greater and more varied than any other of our seaside resorts, is abundantly proved by the numbers who visit them and enjoy them.

That the splendid steamers of the Port Jackson Steamboat Company, and notably the Fairlight and Emu, afford means of access of the most agreeable and complete character, and that they will call at the new WEST BRIGHTON HEIGHTS Pier is another fact.

That MANLY is unequalled for health, and the consequent enjoyment of life by its residents and visitors, is never questioned, and to these the remainder of the last NEW SUBDIVISION offers every facility for the poorest to secure his own piece of land on the WATERSIDE HEIGHTS OF MANLY.

MILLS and PILE are instructed by the proprietors to sell by public auction, on the ground, on an early Saturday of which notice will be given. The remainder, together with section 17, of the last subdivision, by Mr. Surveyor Mayes, of the PICK of MANLY, as per LITHOGRAPHS, OBTAINABLE at the ROOMS of the AUCTIONEERS. This subdivision comprises nearly the whole of the WATER FRONTAGE from the NEW EAST BRIGHTON HEIGHTS PIER, round to the reserves in LITTLE MANLY and SPRING COVE, with the most perfect and uninterrupted views of HARBOUR and OCEAN, while

For RECREATION, For HEALTH, For LIFE,
THERE IS NO PLACE LIKE MANLY.

Steamers will leave QUEEN'S WHARF, CIRCULAR QUAY, at the usual hours on day of sale, say at 10.15, 1.30, 2.30, and a special steamer will leave for MANLY DIRECT at half-past 2 o'clock prompt.

FREE RETURN TICKETS will be issued to intending purchasers, at the rooms of the Auctioneers, and afternoon refreshments will be provided on the ground.

The TITLE is the well-known Basset-Darley Estate Title, under Act of Parliament.

The TERMS will be of the most LIBERAL CHARACTER.
10 per Cent. Deposit
10 per Cent. in 6 Months
Balance in equal instalments. 18, 30, 42, and 54 months from Day of Sale. Interest, 7 per cent.
Section 17 will be included in this sale.

EVERY PURCHASER BUILDING A HOUSE within 12 months from day of sale, and residing at Manly, will receive a FAMILY FREE PASS for the Port Jackson Steamboat Company's vessels for ONE YEAR.

LACHLAN DISTRICT.

STONEY CREEK STATION, with about 5000 WELL-BRED SHEEP.

MORT and CO. have received instructions to sell by PUBLIC AUCTION, at the Sale Room of their Wool Warehouse, Circular Quay, Sydney, on TUESDAY, the 16th DAY OF MARCH NEXT, at 2 o'clock p.m.,

THE STONEY CREEK STATION, situated about 18 miles from YOUNG and BURROWA, and about 30 miles from BINALONG RAILWAY STATION, and comprising about 1400 ACRES SECURED LAND, and about 14,000 acres leasehold; the whole WELL-WATERED by a chain of ponds never known to be dry, and a good dam.

There is a GOOD HOMESTEAD, with gardens and paddocks, besides a large extent of FENCING, good woolshed, and every convenience for working the station to the best advantage.

The PROXIMITY of this Property TO THE RAILWAY, and the fact that it is NOT AT PRESENT MORE THAN HALF-STOCKED, renders it well worthy of attention.

For further particulars apply to
MORT and CO., SYDNEY.

WOOLWAY STATION, MONARO DISTRICT, with about 5000 SHEEP.

MORT and CO. have received instructions to sell by PUBLIC AUCTION, at the Sale Room of their Wool Warehouse, Circular Quay, Sydney, on TUESDAY, the 16th DAY of MARCH NEXT, at 2 o'clock p.m.,

THE WOOLWAY STATION, situated about 18 MILES FROM COOMA, adjoins the well-known runs GEJEDZERICK, COOLAMATONG, MOUNT PLEASANT, and ARABLE. It is a THICKLY GRASSED and WELL-WATERED RUN, CAPABLE OF DEPASTURING a SHEEP TO THE ACRE ALL THE YEAR ROUND.

THE IMPROVEMENTS at the Homestead are very extensive and complete, consisting of comfortable dwelling-house, cellars, small house-store, pantry, office, kitchen, laundry, and servants' rooms. Store, granary, stone dairy, stable, stock and sheep drafting yards, woolshed, with lever press and winch, and separate pens for 12 men, and drafting and branding yards, while the whole run is fenced and subdivided.

With WOOLWAY will be sold about 5000 SHEEP of the following ages and sexes:—
1000 (more or less) EWES, 4½ years old
1000 ditto ditto ditto, 2½ to 3½ ditto ditto
500 ditto ditto ditto, 1½ ditto ditto
1000 ditto ditto WETHERS, 2½ to 4½ ditto ditto
500 ditto ditto, 1½ ditto ditto
1000 ditto ditto WEANERS, mixed sexes
100 ditto ditto RAMS (merino), various ages.
Also about 100 head quiet dairy cattle.

This is a MOST DESIRABLE and FAVOURABLY SITUATED PROPERTY, to which the auctioneers would direct particular attention, and in view of the contemplated extension of the RAILWAY to COOMA, only 18 miles from the run, the value of the land, of which a large portion is secured, must be EVENTUALLY CONSIDERABLY ENHANCED. Meanwhile inspection is invited, and further information can be obtained from MORT and CO., Sydney.

WELLINGTON DISTRICT.

YULLUNDRY STATION, near MOLONG, with about 12,000 FIRST-CLASS MERINO SHEEP.

MORT and CO. have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Sale Room of their Wool Warehouses, Circular Quay, Sydney, on TUESDAY, the 16th day of MARCH next, at 2 o'clock p.m.,

THE YULLUNDRY STATION, consisting of about 57,000 acres FIRST-RATE GRAZING COUNTRY, PERMANENTLY WATERED.

There are 720 acres freehold land, 1120 acres conditionally purchased, 1380 acres improved under 2nd clause, and 3840 acres pre-emptive leased.

THE IMPROVEMENTS are most complete and consist of large brick dwelling-house, with detached kitchen and servant's room, &c.; also good store, blacksmith's and carpenter's shops, stables, dairy, meat house, well and underground tank with pump; cultivation paddocks, flower and fruit garden, woolshed, drafting yards, &c. There are also 4 sheep paddocks (chiefly wire fenced) and 2 horse paddocks.

With the Station will be sold about 12,000 FIRST-CLASS MERINO SHEEP.

YULLUNDRY is a FIRST-CLASS, COMPACT, and well-paying run; its ACCESSIBILITY BY RAILWAY putting it within easy reach of the metropolis, and the wool being of a first-class character, capitalists seeking for a SAFE AND REMUNERATIVE INVESTMENT in a FAVOURITE DISTRICT are invited to make early inspection.

For further particulars, apply to the owner, on the station; or to
MORT and CO., Sydney.

SUTTON FOREST. SUTTON FOREST.

MAGNIFICENT GRAZING ESTATE of 1226 Acres (about), KNOWN AS GREEN HILLS. The CREAM of this FERTILE DISTRICT, CLOSE to the RAILWAY.

Securely Fenced and Subdivided.

PITT, SON, and BADGERY have received instructions from E. H. Badgery, Esq., to sell by auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on TUESDAY, 16th March, 1880, at 12 o'clock, Green Hills Estate, a few miles from Moss Vale, and about half-a-mile from the new siding, now being put in, by Government Road.

The whole of this choice estate is suitable for grazing or agriculture, as the soil is of the richest description and highly improved. The ring and subdivision fences are two rails and three wires, and there is a cottage, with other necessary accommodation for a manager. There is an abundance of water in all seasons.

The surrounding properties are those well and favourably known as belonging to Messrs. Throsby, Gilchrist, Belt, H. Badgery, sen., and others.

The Auctioneers, in directing attention to the sale of the above property, desire to say that the area of land of this rich quality available within a reasonable distance of Sydney is very limited, and must increase in value on account of its productiveness as well as from the delightful climate in which it is situated, and from the increasing value of property in Sutton Forest, it must be patent to any reasonable mind that in a few years this estate, now for sale as a whole, may be subdivided and resold at an immense profit.

The terms will be exceedingly liberal, and may be had, with all other information, from PITT, SON, and BADGERY, King and George streets, Sydney.

MONARO DISTRICT.

GEJEZERICK STATION, the pick of Monaro Plains, with about 14,000 Sheep, 800 Cattle, Stone House, splendid New Woolshed, Yards, Huts, Paddocks, Gardens, and all necessary Improvements.
9,820 acres Freehold and declared C. P.
23,000 Crown Leases.

Also, ROCKY PLAINS STATION, 4000 Sheep, 1486 acres Freehold and C. P. 15,000 Crown Leases with good Improvements.

PITT, SON, and BADGERY have received instructions from Messrs. Brooks to sell by auction, at the Exchange, Sydney, on TUESDAY, March 16, at 12 o'clock, The above very valuable properties.

The Gejezerick Station, 30 miles from Cooma, is one of the richest in the best part of the famous Manaro Plains; the improvements are of a very extensive and superior description. There are about 36 miles of good fencing upon it, and the stock are of a high class. The wool made the highest price for any Manaro wool last season. The cattle are a well-bred, well-grown and marketable lot.

Improvements are—Head station consist of good stone House of 8 rooms, with very extensive out-buildings
Large, new, and convenient wool shed
Public-house, built of stone, let at £70 per annum
Splendid orchard and vegetable garden
Valued by Government Inspector at £600, &c., &c.

Gejezerick is a sure fortune to any one. It is a really good station, with very large freehold, very highly improved, lightly stocked with valuable sheep and cattle, and the owners regret that circumstances necessitate a sale, one of the partners leaving for Sydney and negotiations for division of property having failed.

Rocky Plains Station, situated a very short distance from Gejezerick, is a compact, well-grassed property, with 1486 acres of secured land (nearly all freehold), 17,416 acres in all; has only 4000 sheep, equal to Gejezerick flock, principally wethers. On this property there is a good dwelling-house, and, taking its secured land, improvements, and sheep into consideration, is the best thing in the market for a person of moderate means or beginner.

WILKINSON, GRAVES, MINCHIN, and LAVENDER (in conjunction with Mr. J. RALEIGH, Melbourne) have been instructed by the proprietor, W. Love, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the EXCHANGE, SYDNEY, on TUESDAY, 16th March, at 2.30 p.m., His compact and highly improved station, EGAN CREEK, in the Murrumbidgee district of New South Wales, and situated 30 miles from Wagga Wagga, and 12 mile from the Hanging Rock railway station, thus commanding the New South Wales and Victorian markets.

The run is bounded by the Mangoplah, Hanging Rock, Grubbin Plains, and Buckaginga stations, and is all sound heavily-grassed box country, abundantly watered by a never-failing creek running through the run, besides permanent springs, and 13 dams and tanks. It is substantially fenced, and subdivided into 10 (ten) sheep as well as cattle, horse, and cultivation paddocks.

THE HOMESTEAD comprises a good house, with large underground tank, garden, orchard, stable, coachhouse, and all the conveniences of a comfortable residence.

THE OTHER IMPROVEMENTS consist of sheepwash, woolshed, with new patent press, shearers' and men's huts, sheep-yards, &c., &c. A large portion of the run has been ringbarked, and it is rendered perfectly secure, in addition to its numerous improvements, by
1,381 acres purchased land
1,384 ditto selected ditto
With the run will be sold,
12,820 sheep, of a good specification of ages and sexes and fine quality
30 head of cattle
10 working horses
Stores, working plant, &c.

TERMS: One-third cash, balance by bills at 1, 2, and 3 years, bearing per cent., and secured on the property.

The AUCTIONEERS have every confidence in recommending this property, as from the elaborate and substantial nature of the improvements it can be worked at the very minimum of expense, and the quality of the sheep is sufficiently testified to by the fact that the Egan Creek clip this year was sold in Melbourne on the 7th January at 19½d per lb.

For further particulars, or letters to inspect, apply to the agents,
WILKINSON, GRAVES, MINCHIN, and LAVENDER, 12, Spring-street, Sydney;
or to W. J. RALEIGH, Collins-street, Melbourne.

Preliminary Announcement.

POSITIVE and ABSOLUTE SALE of GRAND SQUATTING PROPERTY.

WEDNESDAY, April 21, 1880.

GLENARIFF STATION, Warrego District, New South Wales.

WILKINSON, GRAVES, MINCHIN, and LAVENDER (in conjunction with Griffiths and Weaver, of Sydney, and R. Goldsbrough and Co., of Melbourne) have received instructions from Mr. A. G. Jones to sell by public auction, on the above date, at a place and hour to be named in a future advertisement,

His very extensive and elaborately improved station, GLENARIFF, comprising the runs Glenariff D, E, F, G, and H, which contain 350,000 acres of country, admittedly equal in quality to any in the far-famed Riverina district.

The capabilities are estimated at fully 100,000 SHEEP, and the fencing and water improvements already completed afford ample paddock accommodation for the number of stock to be sold with the stations, viz.:—
About 80,000 merino sheep, superior in quality, and of good ages.
300 well-bred cattle
Horses, stores, plant, &c.

There is a fine homestead with large woolshed and all other necessary improvements.

The Auctioneers specially draw the attention of capitalists to this really grand squatting property, which is for positive sale. Letters to inspect can be obtained from the agents.

The fullest particulars will appear in a future advertisement.

MONDAY, March 8th.

To the Public of New South Wales, Victoria, and Queensland desirous of embarking in Pastoral or Grazing Pursuits.

In the Insolvent Estate of John Hewitt Gilbert.

That Magnificent PASTORAL and AGRICULTURAL PROPERTY known as ORETI, PORT CURTIS DISTRICT, containing 7780 ACRES Freehold Land.

JAMES R. DICKSON has been favoured with instructions from the Trustees in the Estate of John Hewitt Gilbert, Esq., in liquidation, to submit to public competition, at his Mart, Queen-street, Brisbane, on MONDAY, March 8, at 11 o'clock, That magnificent pastoral and agricultural property known as ORETI STATION, being Selection 207, Bulburan Run, Port Curtis district, comprising 7780 ACRES FREEHOLD LAND, open forest country, with low silver-leaved and ordinary ironbark ridges and gum flats, well and thickly grassed principally with blue grasses. This snug property is abundantly and permanently watered by the Seven-mile and Ten-mile Creeks and numerous waterholes well scattered over the selection. The land is fenced with a substantial two rail and post fence, and subdivided into two large paddocks, containing about 3000 acres each, and two smaller paddocks, also fenced with two-rail and post fence.

The improvements, which are all quite new and erected in a most substantial manner, consist of a four-roomed house, built of white cedar and hardwood, on piles 6 ft. in height, with iron roof, verandah on all sides, and cedar doors and sashes, altogether a most substantial and well-finished building, with kitchen at rear, and store-room about 30 ft. from the house, built with sawn cedar, and connected by a covered way.

There are also well-built stables with large loose box (floored), two stalls, saddle and buggy room, connected with the drafting yards and blacksmith's shop. The yards are enclosed with two-rail and cap fencing, and comprise milking yards with calf pens and three other yards of convenient size for drafting. There is also a men's hut, built of sawn cedar.

This choice station is situated on the Maryborough and Port Curtis Road, about sixty miles from Bundaberg, Gladstone, and Mount Perry, and fourteen miles from Miriam Vale telegraph station. The mail passes twice a week either way.

200 head of prime cattle will be sold along with the station, together with the right of brand. A mob of about 600 head are now depasturing on the run, in addition to the first-mentioned lot, under a twelve months' agistment agreement, and at a satisfactory rate. Only two months of such agreement has elapsed.

This snug station of Oreti is considered by competent judges to be one of the best in the neighbourhood. The land is good throughout and well watered, and the situation promises every certainty of command of large markets, with large augmentation of value of freehold in the near future.

All further particulars can be obtained from the Auctioneer, who would add that this choice property is only now placed in the market to enable the trustees in liquidation to close accounts, consequently the sale must be conducted WITHOUT ANY RESERVE. And terms will be declared at time of sale.

Title under the Real Property Act.

The above VALUABLE PROPERTIES.
Terms exceedingly liberal.
Refreshments provided.

☞ The Auctioneers beg to call the attention of speculators to the fact that the Western district is one of the best wheat producing in the colony. Intending purchasers would do well to pay a visit and go through the district and satisfy themselves as to the capabilities of it. Owners of large mills in the metropolis would find large profits accruing by purchasing this mill, and working it in conjuction with the Sydney mill. The other properties are beautifully situated, and facing the Agricultural Society's Show ground and cricket ground. An opportunity like the present is not likely to occur for many years.

Cards to view, or any other information, can be got on application to the Auctioneers.

FOR POSITIVE SALE,
by Order of the Executors of the late Mr. N. P. BAYLY,
The famous
HAVILAH ESTATE,
situated near Mudgee, New South Wales, together with
The whole of the celebrated Pure-bred Merino SHEEP belonging thereto.

about 25,000 acres freehold land about 40,000 acres held under lease about 16,596 sheep, mostly pure-bred merinos.
Also,
Horses, stores, plant, &c.

A large portion of the estate consists of very rich agricultural land, the balance being all first-class sound grazing country, and this property includes the greater portion of the noted PIPECLAY GOLD-FIELD yet unworked.

About 8000 acres of the estate are cleared, and about 10,000 acres have been ring-barked.

Lawson's, Pipeclay, and Bara Creeks, and 20 large reservoirs afford an ample and permanent supply of water in every part of the estate.

The property, as it now stands, will depasture about 40,000 sheep in all seasons.

The improvements are complete and extensive, including—
Splendid brick-built mansion, with slated roof, fitted with all modern improvements, having necessary outbuildings and water laid on, and surrounded by fine gardens and orchards
Large brick-built wool-shed, roofed with galvanized iron
Large brick-built stables, outhouses, &c.
Two (2) complete washpool establishments, with hot water appliances and spouting arrangements; also, engine and plant
Numerous cultivation, horse, and lucerne paddocks, enclosed by about 40 miles of substantial fences
Overseer's cottage; also, many sheep station huts and yards.

The HAVILAH flocks, which occupy the premier position amongst the Merino sheep in Australia, have been carefully bred and culled for over forty years by Mr. Bayly, and will be sold with the property.

They comprise about
Males—
339 stud rams, 2 to 8 tooth
2041 stud ram weaners
1000 wedders, 1½, 2½ years
1920 wedders, 3½, 4½, 5½ years
158 ration sheep.
Females—
2233 stud ewe weaners
2265 stud ewes, 1½ years
Lambing ewes { 1905 stud ewes, 2½ years; 3990 stud ewes, 3½, 4½, and 5½ years; 841 stud ewes, aged.

The projected LINE OF RAILWAY from Wallerawang to Mudgee passes through the HAVILAH ESTATE, within a quarter of a mile of the homestead.

The auctioneers desire to draw special attention to the unrivalled climate and position enjoyed by HAVILAH, and will afford intending purchasers full information as to the prices realized for the famous N.P.B. clips of wool, and for sheep sold out of the celebrated flocks.

MILLSTREAM BREWERY,
WEST MAITLAND.

The above substantially-built Brewery and Premises as they now are, together with all the Machinery, Working Plant, including Horses, Drays, Casks, and Cellar Utensils.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on FRIDAY, [illegible] MARCH, at 11 o'clock,
The above brewing establishment.

The Millstream property is now in full work and doing a trade equal to 60 hogsheads per week, and which, with very little additional trouble, might be largely increased by supplying the important townships along the Great Northern railway, between Maitland and Quirindi.

The brewery is situated in HIGH-STREET, a few yards from the corner of HUNTER-STREET, and the land has a frontage of 70 feet to the corner, by a depth of about 180 feet, with back entrance from Hunter-street, by a width of 30 feet. On the High-street frontage there is a brick building, now used as offices in connection with the brewery, but which might be let separate, and would realise a good rent; within the yard is the brewery, engine-house, and stables, the latter being built on the Hunter-street frontage.

The machinery, which includes all necessary appliances for brewing on a large scale, is driven by a 16-h.p. engine, all in perfect working order.

The Stock and Plant (an inventory of which is on view at the Rooms), must be taken by the purchaser at a valuation.

☞ The mild ALE from this Brewery obtained the first prize at the International Exhibition.

Plan on view at the Rooms, Pitt-street.

Mr. CHARLES BRIGHT.
BIBLE STORIES RE-TOLD AND RE-EXAMINED.
LECTURE IV.
"AARON'S ROD," or
"PHARAOH IN WONDERLAND."

"And Moses and Aaron went in unto Pharaoh, and they did so as the Lord had commanded; and Aaron cast down his rod before Pharaoh, and before his servants, and it became a serpent. Then Pharaoh also called the wise men and the sorcerers. Now the Magicians of Egypt, they also did in like manner with their enchantments. For they cast down every man his rod, and they became serpents; but Aaron's rod swallowed up their rods."—Exodus.
"Let us leave behind us some monument that we have made the cause and honour of our Creator an object of our care. If we have been imposed upon by the terrors of Government and the artifices of priests in matters of religion, let us do justice to our Creator by examining into the case. His name is too sacred to be affixed to anything which is fabulous, and it is our duty to inquire whether we believe, or encourage the people to believe, in fables or facts. . . . . . One good schoolmaster is of more use than a hundred priests." From "Letter to Camille Jordan," by THOMAS PAINE.

Doors open at 7, commence at 7.30. Sittings as usual.

TEMPERANCE HALL, Pitt-street. — W. D. CAVANOUGH'S LECTURE on the Phrenological Characteristics of the MAYOR of SYDNEY and the MAYORS of the Suburban Municipalities.
